June 2025

It is that time of the year again! On June 21, 2025, the Summer Festival will be returning to Elizabeth Manley Park from 10:30 am to 1:00 pm. The Hunt Club Park Community Association looks forward to welcoming you once again to this annual event!!

Enjoy the usual favourites including a horse drawn wagon ride (11:00-1:00), a bouncy castle, face painting, Little Ray's Reptiles (11:00-12:00), and a fire truck tour. And we have mermaids joining us this year. Yes, Mermaids! This is a photo opportunity that you cannot miss!

Once again, the City will open the pool early for everyone to enjoy and cool down. Pathway Patrol will be there to share with you tips on bicycle etiquette and safety on our community pathways. Drop by the Ottawa Public Library's table to see this summer's 'hot' reads and 'cool' events. Feeling hungry? There will be the usual hot dogs and freezies.

The 137th Ottawa Scouts Group will be there to serve-up s'mores. And new to the Festival this year is cotton candy and popcorn! Yum!

South-East Ottawa Youth Education Centre have planned another fun event. Amazing, right? They will also perform the song that they wrote for the renaming of the Diane Deans Greenboro Community Centre.

Save the date for this fun event. We hope to see you there!

CAMSafe

The Ottawa Police Service (OPS) is proud to promote CAMSafe, a new initiative designed to enhance crime prevention and assist in investigations by leveraging community security cameras. OPS is calling on residents with surveillance systems on their property to register and submit their interest in partnering with police to help keep our neighbourhoods safe.

CAMSafe is a voluntary registry where residents and businesses can provide their contact details and indicate their willingness to share recorded security footage with police when needed. Officers do not have access to live footage and will only contact the public in the event an incident occurs in their area and footage from their device might be of use in an investigation. This modernized approach to community safety is a new version of Neighbourhood Watch and aims to create a valuable resource for law enforcement agencies across Ontario.

The program strictly maintains privacy and security. The contact list contains your basic details and camera locations only. Police do not share this data with anyone, and registrants retain full control over their participation in the program. Participation is always voluntary, and participants can update or remove their contact information at any time.

When a crime occurs, officers can consult CAMSafe to identify registered cameras in the vicinity. The system provides a screenshot of the camera's perspective that registrants upload when signing up, enabling officers to identify registered cameras in the vicinity. The system provides a screenshot of the camera's perspective that registrants upload when signing up, enabling officers to determine whether relevant footage may be available. If so, police will reach out to the registrant to request video evidence that could aid in the investigation.

Several police services and communities, including Belleville, the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP), Sudbury, Peterborough, Hanover, Saugeen Shores, and Kawartha Lakes, are actively supporting CAMSafe and encouraging participation in their jurisdiction.

The success of CAMSafe relies on widespread community involvement. To promote registration, the OPS CAMSafe team will be conducting an outreach campaign and a marketing campaign in the coming weeks. An official launch event is open to residents and businesses of the downtown area on April 28, 2025, from 3:00 PM to 6:00 PM, at the Neighbourhood Operations Centre (50 Rideau St). For more information on CAMSafe or to register, please visit ottawapolice.ca/camsafe or email:

Hello Hunt Club Park Residents!

Spring has officially sprung! Here is a look at a few things taking place in our community.

Inuit Women Shelter Update

With the land transfer and rezoning complete, the Ottawa Aboriginal Coalition and their consultants are now preparing their Site Plan Control Application.

The site plan control process is used to ensure that the development standards approved by the City and other agencies are implemented and maintained. Building location, landscape treatment, pedestrian access, drainage control and parking layout are a few of the items addressed during review.

Once submitted, details will be available on the City's Development Applications Search page and open for public comments. Thank you to everyone who has provided comments to date, I will continue to provide updates on my website at www.gloucestersouthgate.ca and through my e-Newsletter.
