Seahawk Capital LLC | Trading as Peptidium Biotech LLC

Website: www.peptidium.world | Last updated: 26 October 2026

1. Controller and contact

Peptidium Biotech LLC, 8051 North Tamiami Trail, Suite E6, Sarasota, FL 34243, United States. Email: admin@peptidium.world. The company operates the Peptidium World online shop. EU representative under Article 27 GDPR, if required:

Andrew Wong awong@peptidium.world

2. Scope and personal data

This policy describes personal data processing for visitors and customers, including business customers and consumers in the European Economic Area. Depending on your interactions, we process name, business name, contact details, billing and shipping addresses, VAT information where relevant, orders, transaction status, customer correspondence, account information, IP address, device/browser details and security logs.

3. Purposes and legal bases

We process data to handle orders, payment, delivery, returns and customer service (Article 6(1)(b) GDPR); meet applicable legal obligations, including tax and accounting duties (Article 6(1)(c)); maintain website security, prevent fraud and respond to general enquiries (Article 6(1)(f)); and, where required, conduct optional analytics or marketing only with valid consent (Article 6(1)(a)). Legitimate interests are assessed against the rights of affected individuals.

4. Website platform and hosting

The website uses GoDaddy Website Builder with integrated online shop functionality. GoDaddy may process technical access logs and shop data to provide hosting, security, availability and checkout functions. Relevant data may include IP address, browser/device information, access time and order details. GoDaddy privacy information:

5. Orders, suppliers and shipping

For fulfilment we share necessary order information with suppliers, fulfilment partners and delivery companies, including partners in Germany and other EU countries. Shared information is limited to what is required for the transaction and delivery. Legal basis: Article 6(1)(b) GDPR; where applicable, Article 6(1)(c).

6. Payment processing

We offer Stripe for card payments, Apple Pay and Google Pay, and PayPal as a separate payment option. Payment providers receive information necessary to authorise and process transactions and may act as independent controllers for parts of their services. See

<https://stripe.com/privacy>,

<https://www.paypal.com/privacy>,

<https://www.apple.com/legal/privacy/>

and

<https://policies.google.com/privacy>

We do not intentionally store full card numbers or card security codes in our own systems.

7. Cookies and similar technologies

Necessary cookies and local storage may support shopping carts, checkout, authentication and security. Optional analytics, advertising pixels or marketing tracking are not described as currently active. If added later, this policy and the cookie notice must be updated and legally required consent obtained before activation.

8. Accounts, contact and marketing

If customer accounts are enabled, we process login and account details to provide that service. Enquiries submitted by email or contact form are processed to answer the request. Marketing messages are sent only where permitted under applicable law; where consent is required, it can be withdrawn at any time.

9. International transfers

The controller is based in the United States. Personal data from the EEA may therefore be accessed or processed in the US. Transfers subject to Chapter V GDPR require an applicable legal mechanism, such as an adequacy decision for an appropriately certified recipient, or European Commission Standard Contractual Clauses with supplementary safeguards where necessary.

10. Retention

We retain personal data only for as long as needed for the stated purposes, including contract performance, legal record-keeping and dispute resolution. The specific retention period depends on the data category and applicable laws. Technical logs should be deleted when no longer necessary for security and operations.

11. Data subject rights

Where GDPR applies, individuals may request access, rectification, erasure, restriction, portability and may object to processing in the circumstances provided by Articles 15–21 GDPR. Consent may be withdrawn at any time with future effect. Individuals may complain to a competent EU/EEA supervisory authority. Requests can be sent to admin@peptidium.world. We respond within the legally applicable timeframe.

12. Security and recipients

We apply appropriate technical and organisational measures designed to protect personal data. Access is restricted according to operational need. Service providers may receive data for hosting, payment, communications, order fulfilment and security under applicable contractual and legal safeguards.

13. Automated decisions and children

The shop is not specifically directed at children; the products are marketed primarily for laboratory and research purposes.

14. Changes and contact

We may update this policy when our services or legal obligations change. The latest version will be published on www.peptidium.world.
