To Whom it May Concern:

Several months ago, one of my patients brought to my attention two excellent CBD products made by VA HARVEST, CBD Hemp Extract with natural peppermint flavour and CBD Creme for topical application, both 1000 mg Broad Spectrum strengths. My patient was adamant about the very high quality and great efficacy of these products directly based on his personal experience. He reported effective pain relief from his chronic symptoms with each use and that they were very well tolerated without any adverse effects.

Naturally, I was very interested in what he had to say as the market is literally flooded with CBD preparations of greatly varying quality.

I was fortunate enough to have been invited by the company's principals for a tour of their facility and was overwhelmingly impressed at every turn. Their educational backgrounds come from the University of Richmond's highly regarded and formidable Chemistry program of which I am personally very familiar.

They begin with Virginia grown hemp derived from natural farming methods which is then refined according to their unique laboratory process into CBD. I can personally attest to their pristine laboratory environment and sound procedures. I was allowed to review their detailed product documentation as well. Their facility is FDA registered, and there is third party laboratory analysis of the CBD products.

Based on direct reports from known consumers of VA HARVEST CBD products, I am completely satisfied that they are of the highest quality, are effective, and are very well tolerated.

Therefore, for my patients who wish to utilize CBD products as part of their therapeutic regimens and wellness plans, VA HARVEST CBD products will undoubtedly and without hesitation receive my very highest recommendation.

Sincerely,

Robert L. Quarles, D.O.
