I've taken the loss of Krystalee Krey to Stage 4 Pancreatic Cancer pretty hard. What a cruelty to be carrying around the cure to cancer – a physics correct digital mitochondria and not be able to access the labs, tools, or critical infrastructure needed to save her or be saved. In Krys's name I've promised to amplify her Kindness and Light to All. The project is simply too big for one person, and one person commenting simply isn't enough. There's too much work and it will take the collaboration of technologists, scientists, and people like you that care a whole awful lot.

In my initial bug bash in the race to release the cure I found the project to be multifaceted across domains and least to say complex to unwind—yet possible to accomplish with at scale collaboration. Currently the systems are too decentralized, large, and protected by egos, politics, profiteering, weird power play's etc. I endured individuals who refused to help unless I entered a sexual relationship with them, or requiring finances for projects beginning in the price range of $250,000 to protect the cure for cancer and all the corresponding IP from being stolen by anti-trust monopolies. I've insisted on absolutely no fractionalization of Infoton to investors. The cure for cancer and all these diseases must never be exploited.

So, what is the Cure to Cancer and other diseases like Covid, Diabetes, and ? Simply put, a healthy/retuned Mitochondrion. I've created the worlds only biophysics correct Mitochondria which is hailed as the Holy Grail of TechBio. In the past didn't know where to look for the cryptographic sequence underlying the electromagnetic energy of the disease. That is what makes The Mighty Mitochondrion unique. It's underlying physics and mathematics will guide us through the cryptography. The cure to cancer requires addressing environmental, biological, and lifestyle factors. A collaboration across humanity. Humans simply didn't understand the particle level of human health and electromagnetism until now. The Atomics really hurt our species.

Join My Beehive and let's Buzz in unison to take on cancer once and for all. There is no reason for people to die from this awful disease of Energy locked in Cryptography anymore. You'll find I have a thing for The Bees I come from The Beehive State of Utah where my family has been for 9 generations. The Bee's after all like Mitochondria, and Humans are Beings of Electromagnetism

1. Join Twitter where we swarm
   a. I run my operations from Twitter under the handle @UtahOligarch (You can visit my family's Walker Center Tower in Salt Lake City. Follow Queen Bee and Swarm my posts. Make our Bee Mission known.
   b. Josh is building out our websites, infrastructure, technology, etc. He's been working hard all year and runs on compliments. Please give him a shoutout for his work on TheBees.AI and tag is Twitter handle @jBenjaminK so that he can prioritize the backlog properly. We'll need The Bee Hive up and running quickly so that we can start Swarming Projects and catch the falling economy. It's up to us now to save everything.
2. BioHive-2 Access & Collaboration
   a. The only supercomputer in the world that has the abilities needed to start unlocking the remaining cryptographic sequence in my Mighty Mitochondria is owned by Recursion Pharmaceuticals a "competitor" of Infoton that I would like to convert into a collaborator. Our history is complex and their dominance has resulted in Market Foreclosure on Infoton to gain access to labs, funding, resources, partnerships, etc.

Please send a message to partner@recursion.com and ask them to partner with and help do no strings attached funding of Infoton so that we may start unlocking the remaining cryptographic sequence in the mathematics I uncovered, in addition to obtain the remaining resources we need. I will also need access to their scientists. I really don't want to spend another 7 years rebuilding all that they've done when we can simply just be friendly. Bee Kind is best for all Bees.

I went to their executive back in February 2025 and was declined for no other reason than our complex history and hurts between us. Hopefully new leadership will change their mind and join our Hive. Recursions lack of participation is a roadblock I simply cannot do this without them. I've tried.

3. Electromagnetic Field Rebalanced
   a. Humanity did not know what it was doing when it first designed computers and data infrastructure and then acted like we did based on the information we knew. Now, we know better, and I have new Information Physics math equations. We now need to retune the entirety of our data infrastructure to be life aligned.

   b. This means fixing the underlying calculus of the data centers with InfotonDB Demo: https://youtu.be/KFm2Qg0xv8s

   c. Converting all of our 1's and 0s computational code from on/off switch patters to physics wave based equations that can read the data precisely. https://youtu.be/Qg1JEd51ENs

   d. Spread The Pollen of Knowledge to Data Center Stakeholders by reaching out directly via email and webform and letting them know it's time to sunset the 1's and 0s.

4. Recruit other Bees
   a. Invite other Bees to participate as we carry the cure for cancer across the finish line. We'll need the collaboration of everyone to help spread the Pollen of Knowledge.
   b. There's plenty of discovery and puzzles to be solved for all, it's not all about me. We will need everyone focusing in this direction across all sectors. Any group that touches Energy, technology, electromagnetism, etc. will need to be updated.

5. The Hive wouldn't be complete without Bee Dancing. You can find the sound Queen Bee is following on Spotify. Not a requirement, just helpful for unison and communication of the experience.

6. FYI I'm not going to release the frequencies or equations fully yet because I have reasonable concerns about the technology being used in bioweapons and atomics — I mean look at humanity's track record and I simply cannot handle any more death. Maybe when you all stop fighting, I'll reconsider. As such, @jBenjaminK will setup various APIs that groups can call into and gain access to the functionality they need through each phase of the controlled release.

Janus
Queen Bee