BUSINESS ESSENTIALS

These courses focus on important topics that help us understand how to operate professionally in the working environment. From Compliance to Project Management and Microsoft Office. Join these courses to increase your awareness, gain knowledge and improve your overall understanding of these three important subject matters.

Course: Compliance

The importance of compliance in the workplace cannot be underestimated. We break compliance down into four distinct areas, GDPR, Anti-money laundering, Anti-bribery, and Corruption and Bullying and Harassment. We highlight the legislation that impacts your business, your roles, and responsibilities to comply, what to look for when reviewing processes and procedures and makes you aware of the measures to put in place to ensure compliance.

GDPR

Gain an understanding of the aims of GDPR and potential penalties for infringements. We give an overview of the seven key principles involved followed by processing, consent, and subject rights. Lastly you will learn about the relationship between data controller and processor and their obligations and potential repercussions of Brexit.

Cyber Essentials

Discover current global trends in cyber-attacks and how to recognise them, learn of their potential impact and simple measures to put in place to combat them, such as generating strong passwords, keeping firewalls and anti-viral software up-to-date and the related policies and procedures to implement to minimise vulnerabilities.

Covid Compliance

The course explains the risks associated with Covid 19, methods of infection prevention and control and how to use, store and dispose of Personal Protective Equipment for staff to better protect themselves, colleagues, and visitors in the workplace.

Bullying & Harassment

Learn the difference between bullying & harassment, how to recognise them and the specific laws that apply to each. We look at the detrimental impact of these issues, how to create policies which empower workers to report bullying and harassment problems and enable employers and managers to proactively tackle both.

Anti-Money Laundering

It is estimated that money laundering by criminals and terrorists costs the UK more than £100 billion a year – take this course to learn the concepts of money-laundering, its impact, how to spot suspicious activity and steps to take to comply with the related UK and EU legislation. The course is suitable for those both in and out of the financial sector.

Preventing Bribery and Corruption

Corruption globally amounts to over $1 trillion a year. Learn the impact of bribery and corruption, the four key offences under the Bribery Act, how to recognise bribery, the penalties involved, and the six principles recommended by the Act to prevent it.

Course: Project Management

Project management requires a myriad of essential skills: the modules in this course provide a deep dive for attendees to hone their skills in a particular area relating to project management.

Building a Solid Business Case

This module will give you a clear understanding of what information you need to gather, the tools and structure to write a concise, persuasive, and successful business case to get your project off the ground.

Risk Management

Projects fail for a whole host of reasons: but you can set yours up for success by knowing how to identify, analyse and manage risks timely and effectively. This module will explore all potential sources of risk, and ideas for documenting your risk analysis and management strategy.

Engaging Stakeholders

Stakeholder engagement is just one step in the process of stakeholder management. This session explores what it means to be “engaged” and how we can determine the level and type of communication and considerations each of our stakeholders require.

Scheduling and Forecasting

The ability to remain flexible always is a key characteristic of successful project managers. But how can we balance flexibility with developing credible time estimates for future tasks? And how can we present and communicate these to our project team?

Cost Management – Estimating, Budgeting and Controlling Costs Within a Project

Projects are only deemed a complete success if they are delivered on budget, so project managers must ensure that costs do not spiral. Explore key considerations when planning and managing your budget.

Course: Project Management Fundamentals

An introduction to project management for those without any formal project management training, or those wishing to refresh their knowledge. Delivered by a former Army Officer, using military planning tools to highlight key planning considerations. Each module builds on the first, exploring each phase of the project life cycle.

Project Management for Non-Project Managers

We've all heard the term "planned with military precision" and this session will give those with no formal project management training a basic project management aide-memoire based on the British Army's planning process. Delivered by a former serving Officer, it is also suitable for those who wish to refresh or expand their current knowledge and skills-base.

Effective Communication for Project Managers

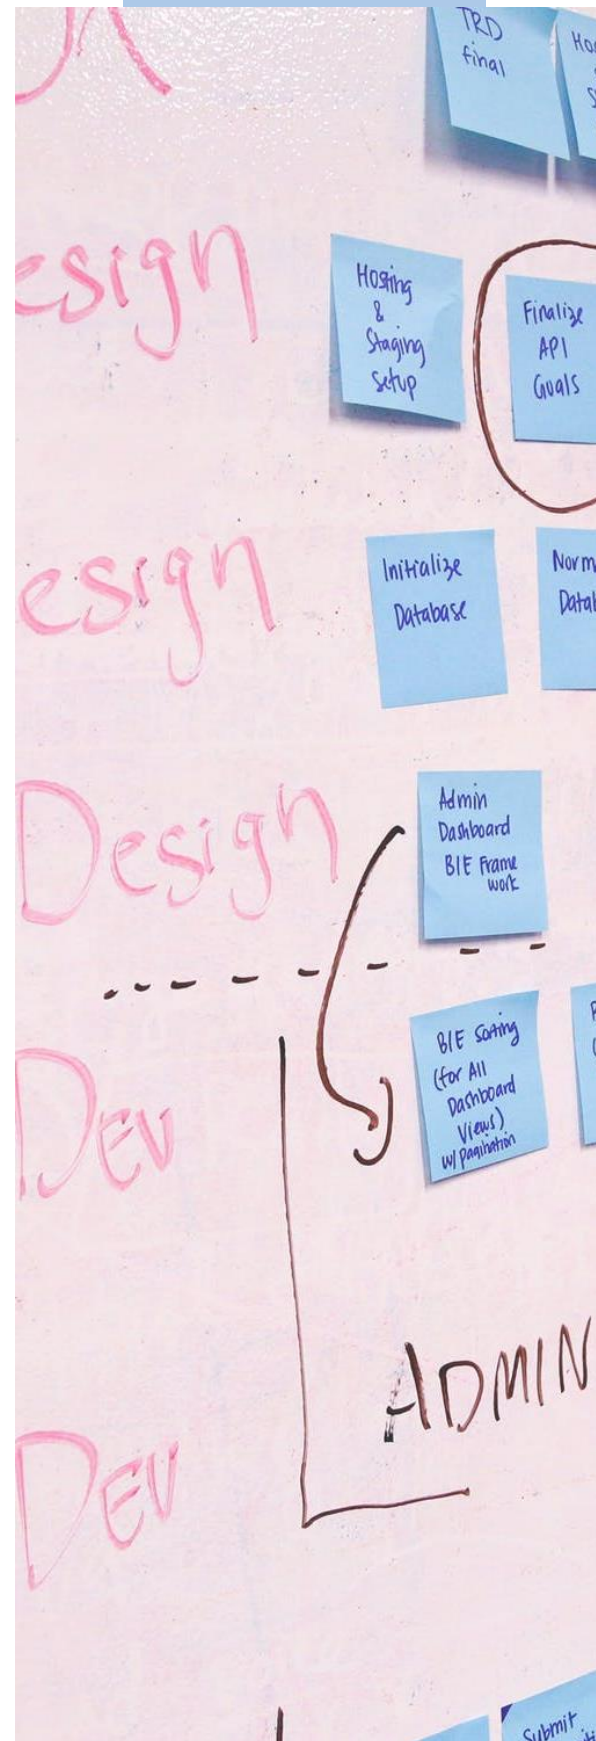

This session will build on the first: now we have the tools to create a solid project plan, how do we maintain "command and control" during the project execute phase, in an increasingly dispersed work environment?

Reasons Why Good Projects Fail

An in-depth analysis of common mistakes and oversights made by project managers. This module will get you to think about your own strengths and weakness so you can de-risk your own project management processes.

Recovering a Failing Project

Scope creep, over-allocated resources, a break-down in communication: these are just three of the top reasons why projects fail. This module will give you steps to identify the cause of your project's decline, and what you can do to change the situation.

In today's world, we rely heavily on the use of technology to communicate, share information, create, and analyse data and create documents. Office 365 is a powerful, convenient cross platform suite with Word, Excel, PowerPoint training sessions. Designed to ensure you learn how to use these platforms efficiently and effectively and with confidence.

Suitable for any level of user, no previous experience required.

Filters, Sorting, Including Advanced Filters

This one-hour session explores fundamental Excel skills that every user should benefit from including sorting on multiple fields, changing sorted order, filtering by text, number and wildcard, using Advanced Filter to set a criteria range, add Boolean logic and identify unmatched records. Intermediate level.

Charts Part 1

One of the most used features of Excel is the ability to visualise data with charts, and this session focusses on the types of charts, how to Insert a chart, values over time/comparison, market share/distribution, correlation and data labels. Introduction level.

Charts Part 2

This one-hour session continues the discussion of charts made in part 1 and covers plotting on a second axis, adding trendlines, forecasting with charts and dynamic charts – the old way and today’s method! Introduction level.

Formulas Refresher

This one-hour session is an essential for any Excel user that has never had formal training or is a bit rusty! In it we cover some basics like simple calculations, the order of calculation, absolute references, named ranges, outlining and if time allows VLOOKUP. Introduction level.

Pivot Tables from Scratch

Pivot Tables are one of the most revered – and feared – elements Of Excel. In this one-hour session we explore some of the myths of creating a Pivot Table and cover preparing the data, inserting a Pivot Table, data analysis, grouping and customising the Pivot Table (including adding Slicers). Intermediate level.

Extending and Customising a Pivot Table

In this one-hour session we continue our exploration of Pivot Tables, and cover Expanding Pivot Table functionality, adding a Calculated Field, Show Values As, creating multiple Pivot Tables from one dataset and an introduction to Pivot Charts. Introduction level.

Expanding a Pivot Table & Normalising Data

In the final Pivot Tables session, we conclude our training on this subject by discovering how the same field can display different outcomes, adding a running total, adding a “Difference from” field, Adding Grouping and using “normalisation” to eliminate duplicates. Introduction level.

Data Consolidation

If your role involves combining sets of data that span several periods of time, it can be tricky if they are laid out and formatted differently. This is where Excel's Data Consolidation tools are useful, and in this session, we look at several options for consolidating data by position, by category, by formula and for Microsoft 365 users, by using Power Query.

Data Tables Sensitivity Analysis

Sensitivity analysis is a process by which different results can be predicted according to several variables. This is an important stage in making informed business decisions, and in this one-hour session we look at using a Data Table with one and two variables and adding dynamic visualisation with a heat map. Introduction level, no experience required.

Date and Time Functions

Excel has many functions dedicated to dates and times, for example to "date stamp" an invoice or identify the number of days holiday entitlement a colleague is due. In this one-hour session we will explore some of these including DAY, MONTH, YEAR, EOMONTH, DATEVALUE, WEEKDAY and NETWORKDAY. Practice files are included, suitable for any level.

Excel Tables

Because of Excel's tabular format a lot of people believe that they are already familiar with tables, but they were only introduced in Excel 2010 – prior to this a crude version existed as a List. Excel Tables use a new type of cell referencing, called Structured Referencing, and have a lot of amazing new features, one of the main benefits being that their dynamic behaviour allows the data to grow over time. In this one-hour session we look at tables and structured referencing in detail. Introduction level, no experience necessary.

Logical Functions

Logical functions in Excel allow you to have the program make decisions based on criteria you specify. A simple example could be to calculate a discount based on the amount a customer spends, but it can become a lot more sophisticated than that. In this one-hour session we examine IF, SUMIF, SUMIFS, COUNTIF, AVERAGEIF, AND and OR and combinations of these in an easy-to-understand way. Introduction level, no experience required.

Lookup Functions

Every Excel user knows that VLOOKUP is a tricky function to manage, but there are alternatives few people are aware of. This session will explore the other lookup functions on offer including HLOOKUP, INDEX, MATCH and for Microsoft 365 users XLOOKUP. We look at the pros and cons of each so that you can confidently use the right one for your circumstances. Intermediate level.

Visualising Data

In this session we discover how a simple Pivot Table and Chart can be graphically filtered to show your best performers over time, how a set of data that includes geographical information can be mapped and filtered and how data can be plotted on a globe! Intermediate level.

Text Functions

Excel has a number of functions specific to text rather than numbers. In this one-hour session we look at some of these, including LEFT, MID, RIGHT and combinations thereof in order to generate unique values that could be used for many purposes. Typical examples could include budget codes, usernames, passwords, or unique identifiers for records in a table. Introduction level, no experience required.

Auditing Error Handling & Protection

Auditing tools allow users to problem solve formulas and ensure accuracy and error handling is an essential skill for anyone performing calculations in Excel. This one-hour session examines both and explores the many levels of protection that can be applied, something that is more important now than ever. Introduction level, no experience required.

What If Analysis

Excel has a number of tools that allow predictions to be made depending on several variables. This can be very useful as a means of making informed business decisions, for example how much prices need to rise by to return a certain level of profit, or which combination of products will give the optimum return. This one-hour session examines Goal Seek, Scenarios and Solver – all part of the What If analysis toolset. Intermediate level.

Course: PowerPoint

In today's world, we rely heavily on the use of technology to communicate, share information, create, and analyse data and create documents. Office 365 is a powerful, convenient cross-platform productivity suite with Word, Excel, PowerPoint training sessions. Designed to ensure you learn how to use these platforms efficiently and effectively and with confidence.

Create a PowerPoint Presentation from Next to Nothing

Microsoft 365 now includes some amazing features, and in this one-hour session we discover how a plain text file can become a fabulous presentation in just a few minutes. We cover design ideas, stock images, transitions and animations too! Introduction level.

PowerPoint Hints and Tips

PowerPoint is in use everywhere in business, but few people have been trained in its use. In this session we look at some of the rarer features of the software including the re-use slides feature, converting a bullet list into a SmartArt graphic, and formatting a chart. In addition, we look at the amazing range of images and illustrations now available and add an individual touch with icons. Introduction level, no experience required.

Mentoring

In this programme we introduce four types of mentoring and cover the essential value they bring to the direct report, the organisation and in many cases the mentor themselves. You will learn about overcoming barriers to developmental mentoring, how to become a good mentor and mentee and explore the mentoring relationship process.

Mindset in Leadership

It's not just about the skills and abilities that make us successful at work it's about whether we are turning up with a fixed or dynamic mindset that really counts. We look at both mindsets and explore the impact they have on leaders and teams that want to learn perform and develop. We offer several ideas and approaches that will transform business thinking and decisions.

Building Trust

In this webinar we look at the four C checklist necessary to build a high trust team. How to fix broken trust, build winning relationships and strong collaboration between team members. You will learn how to make trust a core component of your team, building improved processes whilst driving individual and team performance.

Managing Time & Learning How to Delegate Effectively

As a leader, learning how to delegate can be really beneficial, but it's not always easy. This session explores how and why to delegate as well as share techniques on how to manage your time effectively.

How to Conduct a Great Mid-Year Conversation

This 60-minute session looks at the benefits of a Mid-Year review, the goals of the conversation but importantly how to conduct an effective, positive meeting in a way that motivates your employees. Learn what tools are available to help you, the questions to ask and how to set SMART actions. Aimed at leaders of all levels.

Coaching Your People – Part 1

Managing and leading your best, most capable talent; requires skills. Not only to maintain engagement of those performers, but to help them feel their thinking is valued, and they can ‘think’ for themselves. This 2-part module takes a deep dive in to the art (and science!) of Coaching and the transformation it can have on your best people. In this part, we show you a model to use and give you some takeaways to try on your high performers as a starting point.

Coaching Your People – Part 2

Managing and leading your best, most capable talent; requires skills. Not only to maintain engagement of those performers, but to help them feel their thinking is valued, and they can ‘think’ for themselves. This 2-part module takes a deep dive in to the art (and science!) of Coaching and the transformation it can have on your best people. In this part you witness a LIVE coaching demonstration, where you then get to give feedback about what you notice happens to the coachee / coach. We also give you some ‘rules and tools’ to takeaway and practice.

Succession Planning

Succession planning focuses on identifying and growing talent to fill leadership and business-critical positions in the future. This session will focus on how to approach succession planning and how to identify potential leaders of the future.

Running an Effective Team Meeting

When and how to run an effective and productive team meeting. This session is full of ideas to help you deliver a positive and motivational team meeting.

Course Performance Management

This course has been designed to help you understand how to guide and develop your employees, increase appraisal participation, and discover and develop talent within your organisation. Performance management and review is a vital management tool that has significant influence over careers and work lives. It links organisational strategy to individual work efforts. Join these sessions to learn more.

Coaching to Improve Performance

This session explores how to use the GROW coaching method to manage and improve your team's performance.

Continuous Performance Management

The annual performance review is fast becoming a thing of the past: who wants to discuss work they did months ago?! Identify how you can effectively use continuous performance management to give accurate and timely feedback to boost employee engagement and increase productivity.

Objectives & Reviews

It's the meetings that managers statistically seem to hate the most, yet it should be something to be embraced by manager and direct report. This module helps you prepare for a meeting, support your direct report's readiness, and handle an objective review. This is also your opportunity to have a career conversation with your team members, to understand their aspirations and engagement better.

One to One Performance Reviews

Managing sales performance on a regular basis helps you stay on track of the pipeline, the sales, the challenges and how your employee feels. This is a great session to join if you want to learn how to conduct a successful and structured one to one performance meeting.

Personal Development Plan

A PDP is a tool to enable individuals to improve their performance and reach their full potential at each stage of their career. Identify how to create a meaningful PDP and how you can use it to help to build the road that will get you to where you want to go.

Managing Under Performance

When employees underperform, a business can't operate at its full capabilities. A business can't sustain itself if the employees it pays aren't doing their part to help the business function as planned. The level of service drops. Customers and clients look elsewhere for better service and then, your revenue falls. It's up to you, the leader, to act on poor performance when you're aware of it before it goes too far. This session will help you understand how to approach conversations and the process involved.

MENTAL WELLNESS

In a world where life seems constantly busy, often stressful, it can be, at times, hard to navigate your way through the days and weeks without feeling as though you have the weight of the world on your shoulders. Work life balance, can be hard to achieve, finding time to relax even harder. These courses are designed to give you tips and techniques to help you cope effectively with stressful and challenging situations.

Course Protecting Your Mental Wellbeing

It is the current buzzword: but what is mental health? What are the signs and symptoms of common mental health problems? And how can we protect our good mental health to keep performing at work?

Myth-busting: Understanding Common Mental Health Problems

Would you be able to recognise the signs and symptoms if you or one of your co-workers was suffering with a mental health condition? This module covers the most prevalent mental health conditions experienced by employees.

How to Look After Your Mental Health

Building on the previous module, now that you understand common mental health problems, learn how to safeguard your mental health. Change your perspective and be comfortable knowing where and when to seek help, should you ever need to.

Sleep and Relaxation

You need to relax more: if it were as easy as that none of us would be stressed! Understand why a lack of sleep and relaxation is so detrimental to our health and explore ways to sleep better and build relaxation into your day.

Understanding Imposter Syndrome

Have you ever doubted your abilities or felt like a fraud, like you don't belong where you are? If you answer yes, join this session to understand how imposter syndrome could be affecting you and how you can easily overcome these feelings. This session will help you improve your knowledge on Imposter Syndrome, how you can recognise imposter feelings when they emerge and the role the workplace plays in this.

Managing Menopause Within the Workplace

The menopause can affect women at different ages in different ways. Every woman will experience menopause – but your experience of menopause will be unique to you. Menopausal women are demographically, one of the fastest growing groups of workers in the UK. Despite it being a natural life process for women, the menopause – and how menopause at work can affect your employees – is rarely discussed. Join Part 1, a 60 minute session to learn more about the symptoms. Part 2 will show you how to manage them within the workplace and how to talk to others about how you are feeling.

Establishing a Healthy Work life Balance

The pressure of an increasingly demanding work culture is a big challenge to society's mental health. Trying to achieve a healthy balance can seem like a constant battle. Join this 1-hour session to understand how to better manage your workload, your time and feel in control and content in both important areas.

Mental Health First Aid

With mental wellness becoming a focused issue in a post pandemic world, this course will equip you with the knowledge to identify those who require mental health support and the confidence to offer assistance when required. We take extra focus on the impact COVID-19 has had on people's mental wellbeing. This course also provides a perspective on the role in business in supporting wellbeing in the workplace. Finally, we provide practical skills to spot triggers and signs of mental health issues.

An Introduction to Mindfulness

Mindfulness is the human ability to be fully present and in the moment. A way to slow down your racing mind and help you let go of negative thoughts. This session will be delivered live, so join to learn how to calm your body and mind and appreciate being in the moment.

Understanding How to Manage & Prevent Burnout

Job burnout is a type of workplace stress that can affect anybody who feels constantly overwhelmed with their workload. This session will give you a good understanding of what burnout is, how to recognise the signs and learn necessary skills to be able to prevent and deal with burnout. A 60-minute session aimed at all levels.

Course Stress Management

With at least 1 in 3 of us feeling "extremely stressed" at work, learning how to identify and manage stress and avoid burnout has never been more important. This course will equip attendees with simple and adaptable ways to manage stress, that they can incorporate into their daily routines.

Understanding Stress

Stress is only a "bad" thing when it becomes disproportionate and misplaced. Understand the types of stress we experience, identify common symptoms, and learn techniques to manage stress before it becomes a health problem.

Overcoming Fear and Anxiety

Feeling fearful and anxious is a normal part of life: but when we experience them frequently, with no apparent cause, the effects on our work and home life can be catastrophic. Understand what triggers fear and anxiety, identify what might trigger these feelings for you, and how you can manage them.

Course Mental Health Awareness for Managers

A course designed specifically for those managing employees: understanding prevalent mental health problems in the workplace; spotting the signs and symptoms; knowing how to effectively manage employees suffering from mental health problems and how to approach difficult topics.

Understanding Mental Health

In a 2020 study, 67% of managers felt that their organisation did not provide any or enough mental health support: how can we create an accepting work environment, where mental wellness is taken seriously? This session explores the most common mental health problems faced in the workplace, how to identify them and how, as a manager, you can help and signpost employees effectively.

Counselling Techniques

Have you ever struggled to know what to say and how to act when a colleague has asked for help or advice? In an increasingly high-pressured work environment, it has never been more important to be able to practice good counselling techniques as a manager be it face-to-face or via phone or email.

Communication & Performance Management

Equality is not treating everyone the same: it is treating everyone fairly. This module is designed specifically for managers: how to performance manage and communicate with employees to enable them to reach their full potential.

COMMUNICATION

Course

Communication Skills

Communication in the workplace is not just about how well you work with others. It's about building relationships, minimising errors, and most importantly, working as productively as possible. Whether you are an enterprise or a small business, having good communication from top to bottom is essential. Part of having good communication is understanding a "shared meaning." These courses are designed to help employees understand the importance of communication within the workplace and how to communicate effectively.

Emotional Intelligence and Self-Management

Self-management is a crucial component of Emotional Intelligence. Once we are aware of our own emotions and how they affect our behaviour we can start developing the ability to control them so that they don't control us. Join this webinar to learn what self-management is really made of and how we can leverage it to impact our work.

Creative Presentations Using PowerPoint

This session is designed to help you present in a creative and engaging way. How do you inspire your audience through your delivery style and presentation content? Useful for anyone who presents to clients both internal and external.

Communication: Engaging and Understanding Others

Communication is an essential leadership skill. Learn how to build rapport, trust, and tactfully manage delicate and sensitive situations with professionalism and empathy.

Giving and Receiving Feedback

Giving honest, regular, and accurate feedback to co-workers and reports is vital to ensure collaboration and maintaining standards. This session explores how we can create a culture of coaching and mentoring, where all employees feel empowered to give feedback to develop others, and then how we can use that feedback to shape our goals and personal development plans.

Employee Engagement

Employee engagement is a fundamental concept in the effort to understand and describe, both qualitatively and quantitatively, the nature of the relationship between an organization and its employees. Engaging employees is critical for retaining valuable talent and is an important piece of the employee satisfaction puzzle as disengaged employees are more likely to leave their jobs. Join this session to learn more about this important topic and how to ensure employees are engaged with the business, their work and performing at their best.

How to be an Effective and Active Listener

Listening is one of the most important skills you can have. How well you listen has a major impact on your job effectiveness, and on the quality of your relationships with others. This session helps you understand how to actively listen to gain information, acquire facts to understand needs, challenges, and build rapport. Listening actively can help you understand how to demonstrate attentiveness and empathy through body language and tone.
