

Biography

Candice Woods is a community advocate, youth mentor, and ministry leader dedicated to supporting individuals and families impacted by trauma, violence, and hardship. Born and raised in Detroit, Michigan, she is passionate about creating safe spaces that empower youth and strengthen communities.

As the founder of A Father's Heart, Candice works with at-risk boys and girls ages 11–17, providing mentorship, life skills development, conflict resolution, and self-esteem building through community partnerships and outreach initiatives. She has also helped develop food pantries in Michigan and North Carolina to support underserved families and individuals in need.

Grounded in faith and service, Candice is committed to helping others heal, grow, and discover purpose through compassion, mentorship, and community outreach.