AndReal Aims

AndReal aims to bring an innovative and sustainable method to design and create.

Also aim to raise awareness and educate on how to integrate reusable and Eco - Friendly into materials handbag, accessories, jewellery and fashion in order to further the scope of sustainable fashion.

About Designer

Andrea Benahmed Dijali is a qualified fashion designer, highly experienced and specialised in leather creations.

Andrea's passion for designing handbags and accessories started whilst working first hand with leather materials in 2015.

She has been specialising in restoring leather handbags and during this time she started designing her own handbags that were uniquely crafted.

She soon realised that she can make creative use of reusable materials to integrate into her designs.

Andrea loves to create sets of matching accessories to suit each individual's style.

Andrea is honoured to have been selected among the 5 finalists of the Independent Handbag Designer Awards Finalist The Best Overall Style and Design Category in New York 2020.

She is also the Award Winner of the International Art & Designer Competition 2018 in Italy as well as Midland Fashion Award Finalist 2017.

Eco- Friendly Cork Leather

Cork leather is a sustainable material made from the bark of the cork oak tree. As a textile, it stands out thanks to its high-durability and a unique look. Due to its features such as being scratch-resistant, stain resistant, and easy to maintain, it is a perfect alternative to animal leather. Cork leather is biodegradable and Eco- friendly.

Recycle Leather Zero Waste Technology

Incorporating the leather wastage from recycling into new products. The process of reusing waste into products of better value or quality than they were originally intended to be.
