ABOUT ME

I am a physician with 15 years of experience in the clinical use of static magnetic fields as an adjunctive therapy. My work focuses on education, professional development, and innovation in Biomagnetism, including the creation of protocols, educational materials, and practical tools designed to support a clearer, more structured approach to clinical practice and research.

Biomagnetism is moving toward a more structured, responsible, and well-defined stage. Our vision is to combine clinical experience, continuous learning, improved educational resources, structured protocols, and new technologies to make Biomagnetism easier to learn, understand, and apply.

Our goal is to develop a therapeutic system with clear boundaries, responsible communication, and openness to innovation, one that can complement other healthcare approaches while continuing to evolve with greater organization, sound clinical judgment, and professionalism.

OBJECTIVES

The goal of studying Biomagnetism is to learn how to apply this methodology in a structured, practical, and responsible way. The training helps you understand how to use protocols, select application points, and adapt each session to the individual's needs. It also provides a solid foundation for performing basic and advanced scans with greater organization, precision, and safety.

- ➔ Protocol Application
- ➔ Basic & Advanced Scanning
- ➔ Biomagnetic Clinical Judgment

As you progress, you will learn Basic and Advanced Scanning techniques that will expand your assessment skills. The goal is not simply to memorize pairs or protocols, but to develop Biomagnetic Clinical Judgment, the ability to interpret findings, integrate different tools, and make better decisions during each session. This will allow you to apply what you learn in a more organized, thoughtful, and case-specific way.

WHY CHOOSE US?

Our training combines structured learning, recorded practice, and ongoing support. We offer live Protocol classes every Sunday, giving you the opportunity to ask questions, strengthen your skills, and deepen your understanding. You will also have access to a library of more than 200 Biomagnetism classes covering anatomy, physiology, clinical applications, diseases, protocols, and scanning techniques.

You will also become part of a private support group throughout your training, where you can share questions, experiences, and clinical cases. I personally review and provide guidance on these cases to help strengthen your learning. Our goal is not simply to help you memorize pairs, but to teach you how to integrate protocols, scanning techniques, and Biomagnetic Clinical Judgment. You can revisit the course materials whenever you need, allowing you to continuously reinforce your knowledge and develop a more structured, safe, and professional practice.
