Polished Egyptian Granite

Polished Finish: Granite polished to a glossy finish brings out the full color and character of the granite. Ideal for countertops and accent walls, but not recommended for commercial floors or exterior projects.

The most traditional finish for granite is a polished, shiny finish. It lends a classy, high-end look to any room and is impressive when used in highly visible areas. To keep that high sheen on a granite floor, maintenance polishing will be necessary to take out normal wear marks like fine etches and scratches.

Flamed Egyptian Granite

A Flamed finish is produced when an intense flame is fired at the stone, causing the surface to burst and become rough. This finish is used primarily for exterior applications where slip-resistance is extremely important. The rougher, flamed texture of limestone is more suitable for areas of the home that are prone to dampness. When limestone is used in exterior living spaces, such as a patio or deck, a flamed finish serves as a beautiful, unique option. These slabs also work well in an outdoor kitchen.
