Pikes Peak Rangerettes Update

Preparing for the Finale!

As winter rolls around, The Rangerettes are continuing preparations for the final performance of our season: the National Western Stock Show on January 17th. With a brand new drill designed by Assistant Drillmaster Heather Harding, Stock Show promises to be one of the Rangerette's best performances yet. The girls have been practicing frequently to perfect the brand new maneuvers and techniques in the drill. Though it is proving to be challenging, our team and horses are working extra hard and the end result should be fantastic.

We are also excited to welcome some new faces to the Pikes Peak Rangerettes! In the fall, we had seven wonderful young ladies show interest in joining our team and all completed their initial riding assessment. At the last practice, Annie Dalsaso passed her riding and written tests and is officially a new team member of The Rangerettes. Annie's older sister, Katie, is also a Rangerette; it is awesome to see the love of our team travel through families and generations.

In the meantime, the Rangerettes will also be attending the Festival of Lights Parade on December 7th. Plans for the float are already in place, as officers of The Rangerettes worked to create a western idea that fits with the parade's theme of "Homes for the Holidays". We invite you to come to the parade and see our beautiful, lit-up float alongside all the other festive entries!
