May needs to come Clean

Theresa May needs to come to Parliament and explain how and why she colluded with Merkel and side-lined a Free-Trade agreement devised by Davis Davis; and accepted an agreement that was approved by Merkel before it was given to the Cabinet at Chequers for discussion and approval.

Why she pretended that the Chequers meeting was convened in order to reach a consensus with her Cabinet colleagues by way of demonstrating collective responsibility - and being a politician playing politics is not a good enough answer either - since we clearly have a Commons and Lords stuffed-full-to-the-gunnels of those kinds of lying, scheming politicians.

For the past 45 years the British public have been lied to and deceived about the EU at every opportunity and now we are presented with a fait accompli set-up; once again behind our backs.

It is now time for the truth to be told about the EU - time for a full disclosure of vested interests and time for the vote on the Lisbon Treaty (2007) that we were previously denied; other Member State populations should campaign for the same - it is no good just having votes on staying in on some made-up agreement between Merkel and May; that will keep the British people trapped in the EU in perpetuity.

We the people need a systematic analysis of those parts of the EU Treaties that we have been signed-up to by our politicians; so that we can properly assess whether or not we want to be associated with the EU any longer.

In particular, those Articles and Declarations in the Lisbon Treaty (2007) that tie us, and our offspring into servitude in the EU. It is not necessary to look at all of them - certain ones are sufficient to show the true nature and intentions of the EU - the ones that our politicians don't want to talk about.

No-one believes that the Chequers agreement was anything but a sell-out of the British people devised between Merkel, May and the other "usual suspects" - the EU, just like our own Parliamentary system, has lost its veneer of competence, respectability and veracity - now the EU is seen as disjointed, divisive and a threat to European cultural traditions - and something to be feared by many Member State populations.
