Letter from the President

Groundhog Day has passed. Valentine’s Day and President’s Day are approaching. Seems that time passes faster every year. Perhaps it’s because I’m growing older, but I prefer to think it’s Punxsutawney Phil’s fault. As you can see from the Upcoming Events section, there are lots of fun activities available to enjoy in MetroParks, even in the dead of winter.

See you in the parks,
Bill Walker, President FOMPBC

Winter Tree ID

Nature lovers joined Shawnee Banks, Jodi Farrell, Chuck Holliday, and Bill Walker at the Timberman Ridge Welcome center on January 20th to learn how to identify trees in the winter. Attendees learned how to use MADBuck (maple, ash, dogwood, and buckeye) to remember which trees have opposite branching. Other helpful characteristics include thorn types, bark appearance, presence of fruits or nuts, and tree shape. The weather cooperated with a brisk, sunny winter day. This just goes to show that all seasons of the year are good times to visit the MetroParks.

Characteristics To Look For In Winter ID

- Bud arrangement
 - opposite (M.A.D. Horse Bucks)
 - Maples
 - Ashes
 - Dogwoods
 - Horse Chestnuts
 - Buckeyes
 - alternate (Others)
 - whorled (Catalpa sp.)
- Shape and color of buds
- Shape and color of leaf scars
- Color and structure of tree bark

Animals in Winter

Last month, Lara Askill contributed an informative article about animals in winter, including the groundhog. Since then, Punxsutawney Phil has seen his shadow on February 2nd, predicting six more weeks of winter. This has triggered massive protests across the country complaining about this outcome. Readers are advised to re-read Lara’s article to reassure themselves that Phil really can’t predict the weather. Besides, with all those TV lights, how could the poor critter avoid seeing his shadow? All you Snowflakes out there should relax in the knowledge that you will have lots of company for the next six weeks.

Egg-citing March Programs

Old man winter is moving out, and spring is just around the corner!

It's hard to believe we have already jumped into February. Our staff already has their eyes set on March and April when the programs pick up! We have two very popular events back by demand for 2018 coming up in late March. The Dog Gone Bone Hunt and the Flashlight Egg Hunt.

Make sure you "bark" your calendars for our Dog Gone Bone Hunt on March 25th, 2018 from 12:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. This event goes to the dogs, where they get the chance to sniff out plastic eggs filled with yummy treats! Along with the egg hunt, there will be an obstacle course, socializing, and dog friendly vendors to visit. Last year's attendance brought in roughly 250 people and dogs!

Another program to get "egg-cited" about is our Flashlight Egg Hunt! It's not often we get to hunt for Easter eggs, especially at night time. With a flashlight as their guide, children and families will search designated trails and areas for eggs. Due to the event filling up last year, we have opened a second day for the Flashlight Egg Hunt. On March 23rd, 2018 from 8:30 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. participants hunt for eggs at Forest Run MetroPark - Wildlife Preserve Area. On March 30th, 2018 from 8:30 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. participants hunt for eggs at Elk Creek MetroPark – Sebald Park Area.

We hope to see many new and familiar faces at our upcoming programs in March!
