No. 6 Keith Beck

or Ex Sec Beck

Our outgoing secretary left his post in order to apply for the then vacant Aston Villa managerial position, which he was sadly over qualified for. The Villains loss is our gain as Keith will become Vets captain in 2016.

Whilst many vets will support his wish to change vets colours to claret and blue (except the classy duo from SE16) they have yet to realise that Hercules the Lion will rightly usurp both Bubbles and Herbie the Hammer as the mascot of choice.

His organisational prowess is stuff of legend with cross referenced spreadsheets underpinning the well oiled vets machine for the last 6 years. Not content with perfectly organising our weekly golfing antics, Keith turned his attention to organising our dietary requirements too and came up with with the world renowned toastmaster roster. The Beck household was temporarily plunged into disarray however, when he realised that he had omitted jam and marmalade from the list - this was soon rectified 'preserving' his exemplary record.

Keith makes an inspiring choice for next years Vets Captains away day, choosing both Clacton (good for the continent) and Frinton (for the incontinent). All vets wish him luck for 2016 and thank him for all of his work as secretary over the previous years.
