No. 30 Paul Siggins

Or - A rum/brandy/vodka/scotch a day keeps the doctor coming back for more

Our own recently retired Doc. is likely to have every opportunity to keep his hand in as he plays Vets golf. Rumoured to be setting up a part-time practice solely for WGC members specialising in knee and hip replacements alongside thumb nail blood letting.

When not playing Vets golf he can be found playing with the swindle or in rabbits matches. In fact only last year he was 'wearing the ears' following his warren's defeat. Paul is rarely seen without a smile and a pair of shorts, either on the course or in the club, he has been known to battle December temperatures in little more than shorts, shirt and his famous Crocodile Dundee hat.

On the surface it's a mystery why Paul still plays off of a 21 handicap until we investigate what he now carries in his little black bag.....Paracetamol and aspirin have been replaced by various liquid medication which he deems necessary to prescribe on a half hourly basis before, during and after a round.

When not playing golf the good doctor travels fairly extensively, spreading his goodwill and bonhomie to all corners. Great company on the course and in the bar. Very handy partner, not just for the golf but for the contents of his 'little black bag'!
