

Theory Policy

Poole Piano Studio 2020 -2021

*Theory Classes are held the fourth week of each month in lieu of the private lesson.

*Your theory books will be ready for purchase at your first September private lesson. You must have your theory materials with you at each class to participate in class.

*Theory classes cannot be "made up" if they are missed, or refunded. You may not attend other level class, **however, you may opt to come in and work in the listening lab/computer testing lab at any time.

*Theory classes will be held with masks following safe Covid* Safe Social Distancing rules and it is expected that if you are ill or have been exposed in any way that you will self quarantine for the benefit for those around you here at the studio.

*Your theory books will be ready for purchase at Piano Gallery or on Amazon by your first September private lesson. You must have your theory book at class to participate in class.

*Any resource deemed helpful and appropriate including media, music, audio visual, visual aids, games, tests, discussions and presentations will be used as teaching materials in class. My best efforts are made in determining the appropriate age and level for your student to enjoy and learn at class.

*Please make every effort to attend class and please text or call ahead if an absence is expected. Please ALWAYS check your email by 12:00 noon the day of class for any announcements pertaining to class as well as our website. Thanks!

See you soon!

Participation is expected and required in class. Preparation is crucial for progress. I expect the best in all areas from my students, and they will be expected to participate in class or dismiss for the day.
