Former US Army Recruiters: Bridging the Gap to Enlistment Success

In the realm of military service, recruitment stands as the first step toward a journey of honor, commitment, and service to one's nation. It's a pivotal role that requires skill, dedication, and a deep understanding of the individuals who choose to take up the call of duty. The Association of United States Army Recruiting (AUSAR) was formed by former US Army Recruiters and other dedicated servicemembers stepping up to assist current recruiters in achieving their enlistment goals, creating a powerful synergy that benefits both the military and current Soldiers on recruiting duty alike. AUSAR's strength lies in the wealth of experience and insight garnered from their time in the service. Having once stood in the shoes of those they now seek to recruit, they possess a unique perspective that current recruiters find invaluable. Their understanding of the challenges, motivations, and aspirations of potential recruits allows them to connect on a level that goes beyond mere salesmanship. As a former USAREC Soldier – and current Soldier on recruiting duty – come join the team; together we can gain victory!

AUSAR Mission

We support the mission of US Army Recruiting Command through an informal network of former and current members and family members of the Command.

We accomplish the mission by:

- Advising leaders and members of our local and state governments, educational institutions, and businesses on ways they can support USAREC, while also benefiting their communities.
- Making our members available to individual Recruiters and their leaders as Centers of Influence, mentors, and coaches.
- Ensuring that USAREC's public information is disseminated widely in ways those without military service or dated knowledge can appreciate.

AUSAR Vision

Every Citizen and legal resident of the United States deserves the opportunity to serve our country in the All-Volunteer Army. Through education and advocacy, The Association of US Army Recruiting (AUSAR) enhances the general knowledge of serving in the US Army within our communities.

AUSAR Advocacy

Association members are committed to directly supporting individual US Army Recruiters as community advocates and extending the recruiter's network of supporters.

Our members are committed to the Army's culture of Acceptance, Respect, and Growth.
