HOW TO MEASURE YOUR ROOM

- Be sure your tape measure (is at least 25 ft. a 50 feet is better). And it's always a good idea to have a friend help you measure. The measurement will be more accurate when two can hold the tape straight.
- Measure the height and width of each wall in the room.
- Measure from one corner to the opposite corner to confirm the room is square or has crooked angles.
- Measure your windows, doors and how high the windows are from the floor.
- You should measure your doors and windows including the frames, but make sure to also give us the interior window measurement (length x height) as well as the door (length x height)
- Note the location of each electrical outlet. (from the center, don't forget the height)
- Indicate on your sketch drawings each wall type (ie: Wall A , B , C ...) make sure to annotate your pictures with the same description
- If there are walls that you are planning on removing, indicate this wall with a hidden line
- If there are any important architectural or obstacles (fireplace , existing millwork / cabinets) that are to remain in the space, please note the heights, sometimes it help to draw the front view as an elevation and input the dimensions.
- Once you have finalized your drawing please email to tocdesign@bell.net
