Robin Wilson Cabana Bench, $2,900

So, you've incorporated eco-friendly goods inside your home everywhere from the kitchen to the bedroom; now it's time to tackle the outside.

Furniture designer Robin Wilson has created a 5-foot concrete bench made from recycled building and bridge materials. The piece is ideal for the backyard, as it can endure all seasons without rusting, warping or blowing away.

What's more, its sleek, modern design makes last year's wooden picnic table look amateur, especially next to that $25,000 grill.
