Company History

DC Planning Consultants & Associates, Inc. provides urban planning services in the land development, training, and research areas. For each client this translates to services across several stages and phases of development and growth. DC Planning brings together developers, engineers, planners, architects, industry representatives, citizen groups, public officials, and others dedicated to fostering appropriate development decisions at the local, regional, state and national government levels.

The DC Planning Consultants Team combines over 35 years of knowledge and industry experience essential and required to develop the best solutions for each client. DC Planning acts as or collaborates with primes to manage contract responsibilities effectively and efficiently. Through our extensive network of professional associates and capabilities, we use our skills in planning to help communities realize success and thrive.
