

Citric Acid Toilet Bowl Cleaner:

Step 1: In a container, dissolve 3 tablespoons of citric acid in some hot water. If it's the first go and you have real bad limescale as we did, you might need to up the ante and use double that amount.

Step 2: Pour it into the toilet bowl.

Step 3: Leave it there to soak for a few hours. The first time I did it, I left it for about 6 hours.

Step 4: Give it a scrub, and then flush. You won't need to scrub particularly hard – the acid will literally dissolve most of the limescale and grime. I found most of it came off just from the pressure from the flush.

That's it and after the first time you can use less citric acid and soak for shorter periods of time.

One pound of Citric Acid costs about $11. 7/8/2023
