The Coalition for Literacy is a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting literacy among young people. Literacy is essential at an early age since it impacts so many important aspects of a child's life, especially learning and development. Literacy is essential for children to be happy and productive in school and at home. It also allows students to develop the skills and knowledge they need in order to learn all different types of subjects including STEM (science, technology, engineering, and math).

The Coalition for Literacy provides support and funding for one-on-one tutoring in elementary schools. Tutoring not only helps children learn to read, but it also helps them develop a love for reading and the knowledge that reading brings. Tutoring also gives children who need special attention the tools they need to learn without being surrounded by their peers. Learning in a lower stress environment improves students' skills and confidence.

Literacy also plays a significant role in how prosperous a society is. As children get older, strong literacy skills provide them with better educational and employment opportunities. This impacts all our communities.

The Coalition for Literacy is proud to play a role in advancing the cause of literacy. If you want to help, please consider contacting your local library about donations and volunteer opportunities.
