The Coalition for Literacy is a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting literacy among young people. Literacy is important at all ages, but it is essential at an early age because it impacts all aspects of a child's learning and development. Literacy allows young people to be happy and productive at home, at school, and in all aspects of their young lives.

Literacy is not just about reading books; it is about being able to succeed throughout a lifetime. The Coalition for Literacy recognizes the importance of helping children master the essential building block of literacy which provides the foundation for strong educational and employment opportunities throughout life.

The Coalition for Literacy provides support and funding for one-on-one tutoring in elementary schools. Tutoring not only helps children learn to read, it helps them develop a love for reading and the knowledge that reading brings. With the loss of educational opportunities due to the pandemic, it is even more important that programs, such as tutoring, are available to ensure children do not fall behind in their academic life.

The Coalition for Literacy is proud to play a role in advancing the cause of literacy. If you want to help, please consider donating your old books to your local library or ask your library about volunteer opportunities.
