✓ One-on-one tutoring in reading for elementary school students...

A non-profit organization, the Coalition for Literacy is dedicated to promoting literacy among young people. Literacy is essential at an early age since it impacts all aspects of a child's learning and development. In order for children to be happy and productive in school and at home, literacy is essential. It allows young people to develop the skills and knowledge they need to excel at science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM). Without strong reading and writing skills, children can become frustrated, which impacts not only their education, but also their interactions with family and friends.

The Coalition for Literacy provides support and funding for one-on-one tutoring in elementary schools. Children who need individualized attention get the tools they need without the stress of doing so surrounded by their peers. By improving students' skills, as well as their confidence, they are better prepared for a successful future.

Focusing on individual children through tutoring allows the Coalition for Literacy to help them develop a love for reading. This also benefits their families, their schools, and their communities. Literacy is an essential element of a prosperous society. As these children grow, they will be ready to take advantage of the educational and employment opportunities that come their way.

The Coalition for Literacy is proud to play a role in advancing the cause of literacy. If you would like to play a role, please consider contacting your local library. Most libraries welcome donations of old books and have significant volunteer opportunities.
