A non-profit organization, the Coalition for Literacy is focused on promoting, supporting and encouraging literacy among young people. For young children, literacy is indispensable in aiding their ability to learn and develop. This impacts not only how constructive they are at school and at home, but how much they enjoy all aspects of life.

The Coalition for Literacy recognizes the importance of STEM (Science Technology Engineering Mathematics) education in today's society. Literacy allows children to develop the skills and knowledge they need to be successful in STEM education coursework. As children get older, literacy and STEM education become the foundation for strong educational and employment opportunities throughout their lives.

The Coalition for Literacy provides support and funding for one-on-one tutoring in elementary schools. Tutoring not only helps children learn to read, it helps them develop a life-long love of reading along with the knowledge that reading brings.

The Coalition for Literacy is proud of the role it plays in advancing the cause of literacy. If you would like to join the cause in supporting literacy in your community, please consider becoming a volunteer at your local school library or public library. You can also donate old books.
