Many from Soufflenheim emigrated to East Eden in Erie County, New York and the surrounding area, including Buffalo, from the late 1820's onwards. By 1840 it had become an almost entirely German area.

EMIGRATION

By the early 1830s, East Eden had become home to at least 27 members of the Kieffer family of Soufflenheim.

Eden Township, 1866. www.mapsofthepast.com
 Anthony's youngest son Philip inherited the family farm, shown as P. Kieffer, far right center.

In addition to the large number of Kieffer who settled there, other Soufflenheim type surnames are mentioned in an 1866 Eden Township map:

- Far right center near Philipp Kieffer, whose father Anthony emigrated from Soufflenheim in 1830: A. Doll (Daul), J. Merkel, M. Haas, J. Roth, and George Beck.
- Top center right are the names John Meyer, G. Eckhardt, P. Schefer, and Jacob Meyer.

East Eden Kieffer

The earliest known emigrant from Soufflenheim to settle in East Eden was Anthony Kieffer in 1830 with his wife Catherine Burger and their seven children, purchasing 75 acres¹ of farmland on East Eden Road.

Two years later his younger brother Joseph, a cooper, came with his wife Richardis Burger and their six children, buying 25 acres² of land on East Eden Road, about a mile from his brother.

Their cousin Joseph Kieffer, a farmer, also came to East Eden in the early 1830s, accompanied by his wife Madeleine Schoeffter and their eight children, buying 49 acres³ adjacent to his cousin Joseph.

Joseph Kieffer and Madeleine Schoeffter's nephew George Adam Kieffer, also a farmer, left Soufflenheim before 1837⁴ and may have emigrated to East Eden in the early 1830's, owning 45 acres in 1835.⁵

Anthony Kieffer left France with 6,000 francs, an above average amount of money compared to other emigrants from his area.⁶

Between 1828 and 1837 1,256 men, women, and children emigrated to America from his district of Bischwiller, comprised of 21 towns and villages. They left with 695,285 francs, an average of 553 francs per person. Anthony's family of nine left with an average of 667 francs per person, 20% more than the district average.

Of the 1,256 emigrants from Bischwiller, 173 (14%) were from Soufflenheim, emigrating with 85,570 francs, an average of 494 francs per person. Anthony's average of 667 francs was 35% more than his village average.

Of the 70 families and single people leaving Soufflenheim during this time, only two emigrated with more money than Anthony - his cousin Joseph Kieffer, a farmer, with 6,500 francs, and Anthony Messner, another farmer, with 8,000 francs. The fourth wealthiest was Anthony's brother Joseph with 5,000 francs.

George Adam Kieffer

Joseph Kieffer and Madeleine Schoeffter had a nephew who farmed, George Adam Kieffer, born December 14, 1810 to Michael Kieffer and Catherine Schoeffter (Madeleine's sister), who emigrated to America between 1828-1837, single, with 300/360 francs (two records). He may have emigrated to East Eden in the early 1830's. Eden tax rolls in 1834 and 1835 list an Adam Kieffer, no acres in 1834, real estate value $80.00, and 45 acres in 1835, real estate value $143.00. No subsequent tax records, nor is he mentioned in the 1840 census.

Alsatian communities were required to list all emigrants to America from 1828-1837 and provide their name (not spouse or children), occupation, marital status, number and type of family members emigrating (spouse and children), and money taken out of the country .

East Eden Maps with Landowners

The first is a link to a map from 1866. The 1854 map has three Kieffer's on the same road. The 1880 map shows the farm boundary's. Sometimes they change over time, but often they are the same as noted in the deed. All three maps have mistakes in the spelling of names and first initials, but location of farms and size (on the 1880 map) are typically correct.

HISTORY OF EAST EDEN

Chapter 2 of History of Eden, by Doris Anderson, 1974, Published by Doris Anderson, Eden, 72 Pages

Chapter II : East Eden

The first steam railroad in New York State was built in 1831. The DeWitt Clinton made 17 miles an hour from Albany to Schenectady. We can imagine Edenites discussing this new progress.

"What is the world coming to! Think of going from Buffalo to Albany in barely a day!" At that time the swiftest packet boats on the canal required three or four days for the journey.

By the 1830's the tide of commerce was rolling steadily through Erie County. Products from fertile Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois came to the Erie Canal. Its boats went loaded to the sea coast and brought back crowds of German and Irish immigrants, many of the former settling in and around Eden. The profusion of German names in Eden Valley and East Eden testifies to this immigration.

Old settlers of East Eden told of German immigrants in the 1830's who were traveling to Wisconsin by way of the Great Lakes, being marooned in western New York by winter closing lake navigation. A group of these people settled in East Eden. These were members of the Lutheran and Reformed Churches. There were also many Germans who were Roman Catholics, for St. Mary's Church of East Eden was the first church of that faith in the Buffalo diocese. The history of these churches will be told in a later chapter.

The H. Perry Smith history of 1884 makes an interesting comment on the settlement of the Germans. "About the year 1834 there came to this part of the town a few Germans who purchased lands as already stated, which had been settled by eastern men, and although the latter had found it difficult to succeed on large farms, the Germans, with their untiring industry and great frugality, made comfortable homes, received new accessions and increased in numbers until now their houses stand so close for miles along the bleak hill road as to make it seem almost like a continuous village, yet it is essentially a farming community; the only persons engaged in mercantile business being George M. Keller and William Mumbach.

This is evident when one looks at the 1866 map of East Eden. The rugged hillside land was not as productive as the Eden Valley, but, as Mr. Smith said, the Germans prospered.

Around the turn of the century many Polish people moved into the area. The groups have mingled into a solid community.

In recent years, Catholic Charities has placed many Polish children in foster homes in East Eden. These children grew up there and liked it so well they stayed, married, and made new homes in East Eden to bring up their children.

William Hampton, who came to East Eden in 1837, bought 170 acres from the Holland Land Company. He gave several acres of land for St. Jacob's Lutheran Church on Eckhardt Road. The church burned down later. The parsonage, No. 3849 Eckhardt, which must have been built in the 1830's, is now occupied by Roy G. Stokely. The home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Segebarth at No. 3873 dates back to 1837 or earlier. This was also part of the Hampton farm. The Segebarths bought it in 1948, and remodeled it, leaving the front as it was originally.

The home of Clement C. Riefler at No. 3834 across the street was also part of the Hampton farm, and was the home of Mr. Riefler's great grandfather, who was a casket maker. About 130 or more years ago, the "new part" of the house was added by splitting the house in two and building a room in the middle.

George Egel (now Agle), his wife Margaret Beck Egel and their son Frederick aged seven, came to America about 1816, and to Eden in 1830.

They settled on a farm on the south side of Hardt Road near the Schweickhardt homestead. Mr. Egel, born in Alsace-Lorraine in 1780, was a soldier in the French army and fought in the battle of Waterloo. He told his grandchildren that he literally walked in blood during this battle.

About 1832, Frederick married Magdalena Heinrich in the old Eden Valley Lutheran Church. They purchased the farm at the top of the southwest side of Eden Valley hill. The remodeled homestead is still occupied and farmed by descendants.

George Brindley came from England to the county in 1830, and later moved to Eden. He had four children. His son Ozias served in the Civil War under Col. Chapin and was wounded in the battle in which Col. Chapin was killed. The Eden chapter of the G.A.R. was named "O. G. Brindley Circle" in his honor. He was appointed a recruiting officer by President Lincoln and paymaster of the Volunteers. He moved to Eden in 1867, was justice five years and justice of sessions two years.

George Brindley had a farm on West Church Street just about at the railroad tracks. His son Ozias lived in the Kester house at No. 2718 West Church. He also owned a farm near the fork at Eden-Evans and Derby Roads. It later belonged to J. W. Peacock from the 1880's to the 1920's, and later to Louis La Sota. The Vacco Brothers bought it about 1950.

Christian Gallman and his wife Mary came to Eden in this period. Christian Jr. had a 107 acre farm in Eden Valley on Bauer Road.

David and Eliza Mills Ide were the parents of Charles H. Ide and came to Eden in the 1830's. Charles Ide's farm was on North Main at No. 8262. He was justice of the peace eight years and school commissioner three terms. He also served as supervisor in 1916-17 and remained in politics till he was past 80. His two children were Clement D. and Harriet E.

Jacques Machemer (Mackmer), a cabinet maker, came to Eden with his wife Anna Hickman and three children, Jacob, Madeline, and Frederick Carl, from Alsace-Lorraine in 1830. He bought a farm on the corner of Schintzius Road and Sisson Highway. Four generations of Mackmers were born there. George Mackmer, a great grandson, lived there until 1938, then sold it to Henry Roycraft. The house has had much remodeling but is the original home.

In the 1830's the Haas family, consisting of Michael, his young wife, Magdalene and their infant son, Michael's parents, two brothers, and five sisters, left Alsace and sailed for America. Magdalene had inherited her father's brewery fortune. When they reached New York they settled first in Wheatfield, then Buffalo near the Terrace. It was swampy and unhealthy, so they looked for higher land and settled next at the junction of Sisson Highway and the state road. The women in the neighborhood smoked pipes and young Mrs. Haas didn't like this, so they moved to East Eden where many of their Alsatian acquaintances lived, and Michael set up a blacksmith shop, and built bridges. He was a trustee at St. John's Church on Nohl Hill. He hauled lumber from Gowanda and helped build the church. Later he was postmaster and had charge of carrying mail from Hamburg to Collins.

Michael's brothers and sisters all married and four of the seven families remained on Eden farms, so there are many descendants in the area.

Diebold Heinrich (later changed to Henry) came to Eden from Alsace in 1832 with his wife, Catherine Waggoner, and three children, Magdalena, George and Diebold Jr. He settled on a "tract of wild timberland and made a home in the woods" says an old record. In 1839 he met a tragic death by being crushed between two logs. His daughter Magdalena married Frederick Agle, George married Salome Wohlheuter, and Diebold Jr. married Eva Heiser. There are so many descendants of Diebold Heinrich in Eden now that it would take a page to list them all.

John Metz came to Eden in 1835. His mother was an Indian who had been taken to Germany by an American couple and kept as a servant. John had eleven children and there are many of his descendants living in the Eden area. He bought 66 acres of land from the Holland Land Company on what is now March Road, and built a log cabin. When it burned in 1840 he built the house that is now No. 2618 Shadagee Road, in which his son and grandson lived, and which is now the home of his great granddaughter, Evelyn Metz Meisenheimer.

One of John's sons, Godfrey Metz, started a cooper shop across the road from the house in 1840, when he was 16 years old. In 1846 he moved the shop to a place near the four corners in Eden. He manufactured flour and apple barrels, using horsepower until 1858 when he installed the first steam engine in Eden. He hired many coopers, also German immigrants. Evenings when their work was done they gathered together to sing under the leadership of Adam Haecker. The rest of the village greatly enjoyed this entertainment.

In 1848 Godfrey built the hotel which has become a famous landmark of Eden. It was built in front of the cooperage on North Main. He sold the cooperage to his brother John and Albert Martin, who in turn sold to William Paxon. In 1864 he sold the hotel to William Pemberton from whom George P. Roeller purchased it in 1876. When Mr. Roeller died in 1911, it passed to his son William. William died in 1958, and William's son Howard was proprietor until after the death of Mrs. (Wm.) Roeller in 1962. Howard sold it to Richard Szal in 1967 and it was named "The Pub." John Miller purchased it in 1972, and renamed it "The Coach Stop Inn." He has been restoring it to its 19th century charm.

The bell that called the coopers to work and to dinner, still hung at the rear of the hotel until Mr. Szal sold it. The bell was also used as a fire bell for many years.

Godfrey Metz also built a place of entertainment called "The Birch Woods" on the hill on East Church Street, south side, later the property of Judge Charles B. Sears, and now owned by Judge Charles S. Desmond. There were swings for the children, and a dancing platform for young people. He also built a race track a third of a mile long between North Main and East Church Street. About 150 persons spent the fourth of July and other holidays there, picnicking and merrymaking.

In 1836, Martin Arlen came to the county from Alsace. His wife was Barbara Schreiner. They had two sons, Martin Jr. and John. Martin married Magdalena Heinrich (not the one mentioned on page 20). They had five children, Emma L., George H., Caroline, Edward, and Amelia. John had a son Herman who lived on Langford Road.

Frederick Miller, who is the ancestor of many Edenites, came to Eden in the early years. He had two sons and fourteen daughters. His wife, after raising this large family, lived to be 97. The oldest son, Henry, was the father of Alfred Sr., who was born in 1872 in the house at Crisp's Greenhouses, 1967 New Jerusalem Road. The other son, Frederick Jr., was the grandfather of Alta Miller Hanks, and lived on Jennings Road at No. 8344.

The story has been handed down that Grandfather Frederick walked to Buffalo one time, carrying a half bushel of corn that he raised, to be ground into meal. It has never been explained, however, why he had to go to Buffalo when there was one or more grist mills in Eden.

About 1836 Edward Kester came to Eden. He settled on what is now Rogers Road where Charles Larkin II lives. Mr. Kester had ten children, all born there, George C., Albert, who lived in the house next door to his father, Frank, Emmaline Constantine, Catherine Paxson, Eleanor Calkins, Mary Robb, Anna Read, William, and Alida Winner.

Charles Larkin Sr. bought the Kester place in 1916, and his son took it over in 1929. It has been extensively remodeled. Four generations of Larkins have lived there.

Mr. Larkin Sr. bought up small farms when he came to Eden and planted barren acreage with evergreens. Now this area of over 500 acres is now a nature park.

Jacob Bley and his wife Magdalena came from Alsace in 1837. Their son George married Salome Schweickhardt. They had five children, Louise, who married Charles Yeager, Mary, Charles, who moved to Hamburg, Henry A., who was supervisor from 1918 to 1927, and Lina who married George Flint. The 150 acre farm on Bley Road has been in the family for nearly 140 years. It still carries its early name, "Homestead Farm" by its present descendants, Gerald and Daniel Agle.

Philip Schreiner and his wife Barbara Dole came to Eden in the 1830's. His farm was on Schreiner Road. Of his five children, Aloysious was the only one who remained in Eden and on the farm. The children of Aloysious are Clara Fuest, Richard, Clarence, Lester, and Norman.

John George Bley, probably a brother of Jacob, came from Alsace. His son Philip built a house on Shadagee Road which was later moved across the street and used as a garage. Mrs. Jeanette Bley Oldenburg is a descendant.

Nicholas Winter came to Eden during the 1835-45 period. He worked for John Horton for $7 a month, and Catherine Fettik, the girl he later married, received the splendid wage of $3 a month, which was higher than most girls received because she also milked the cows and worked outside. When they were married, after working for the Hortons about seven years, they had saved $1000 between them! They bought a farm on East Church Road from Toby Welch. This is the farm now owned by Wilber J. Winter near Kromer's Mill.

Nicholas had three sons, George, Peter, and Frank. George was the father of John, George, Edwin, Alfred, Carrie Bullied, Clara Rayneur, Clayton and Mildred Meulbauer, all Eden residents except Clara. Peter was the father of the late Frank N. Winter and the Rev. Norbert O. S. B. Frank, Nicholas' third son, went to California when he was a young man.

One old Buffalo and Erie County History says, "The fever of speculation rose fiercely in Erie County through 1834 to 1836. The "Panic of 1837" was hastened in this vicinity by the exposure of the forgeries of the leading business man of Buffalo, Benjamin Rathbun. Consternation seized the public, prices went rapidly down, and many a man who supposed himself a millionaire soon found himself reduced to poverty. Banks and business houses failed everywhere throughout the county. Bread riots were common in New York, and a period of hard times descended on the country for several years." Did we say this was 1837? It sounds like 1929.

Between 1839 and 1844, the art of photography was begun by Daguerre, the use of anesthetics for operations was introduced, and Charles Goodyear discovered the process of vulcanizing rubber, so that boots, raincoats and rubbers could be made. Machines were invented so that the wholesale manufacture of clothing began to take the place of homemade at prices within the reach of the poor. We can use our imagination concerning the effects these steps of progress had on early Edenites.

A study of Solon Brock Ryther's account book covering the years 1835 to 1843, is most interesting. Mr. Ryther was Asa Warren's son-in-law. He built a blacksmith shop on the little stream beside his house and three generations of Rythers shod horses, repaired wagons and farm tools. When the days of horses passed and were replaced by autos and tractors it became a garage. Herman Bolton opened a garage in the building which stood until about 1937 when it burned down. The little stream mentioned is Ryther Creek which crosses South Main Street between the four corners and Green Street.

Let's see what prices were charged, and what Mr. Ryther sold. Sometimes he took his pay in exchange for meat, vegetables, or other commodities he could use. Horses were shod for 12 ½ cents per shoe. Pork sold for 6 cents a pound; potatoes, 50 cents a bushel; 50 cents for fixing a sleigh; 30 cents for fixing 3 drag teeth; 19 cents to fix a cowbell, 25 cents for a pint of whiskey and half a bushel of apples; 2 dozen eggs for 19 cents; a pair of hinges for the schoolhouse, $1.50; 12 ½ pounds of cheese, 63 cents; fixing cradle, 19 cents; a cord of wood 75 cents.

In 1840 the Asa Taber family migrated here from New Bedford, Mass. In 1841 they purchased a farm on Gowanda State Road near North Collins. They lived in a log house until 1843, when they built a frame home. The pine trees in the front which gave it the name "The Pines" were set out in 1853. Asa was a shoemaker and for many years used a wing of the house for his shop, making boots and shoes during the winter months.

Michael and Barbara Winkelman, and their son John were among the German immigrants of this period. The homestead was off Zenner Road. John later moved to East Eden Road next to Haag's Store. His great granddaughter Rosella Schasel, has his diary and day books. He probably was self-taught, and had little schooling as he was about nine when he came here, and hired out to work as early as possible. His writing and spelling reflect his German background.

George Preischel (Preushel), his wife Barbara, and her parents, came to East Eden in about 1850. They settled on Hardt Road on the farm now owned by Albert and Emily Bauer. Emily is a granddaughter of George and Barbara. One of George's activities on this farm was making applejack. He obtained apple pulp from the local cider mills.

There was one on East Eden Road, and another on Schweickhardt Road as it was called then. The latter was owned by Jacob Gresc who also made cider brandy, according to the 1866 East Eden Business Directory.

One of the Preischels' sons was Louis, who married Louisa Barten, whose father had a home and wagon shop on East Eden Road across from the present fire hall. This became the Preischel homestead after the Bartens died. Louis and Louisa raised fifteen children there, and their oldest son Willard also raised his family there. This house was torn down about fifteen years ago and a new one built by the present owner, Vic Schrader.

Some of the other children of Louis Preischel were the late Louis Jr. who had a vegetable farm on Hardt Road, now Norbert Mammoser's, Anthony, still living on Hardt Road, the late Anna who married Ray Wittmeyer, Aloysious, living on East Eden Road, who married Marie Schwanz, and Lawrence who married Florence Wagner, and lives on Keller Road.

A relative of the Preischels was Barney "Pat" Preischel, called the hermit of Eden. He died at 81, in the home where he was born, which had been the home of his father, Joseph, on Knoll Road. He was not really a hermit, he had simply lived alone for 18 years, with his hound and chickens. He loved hunting and visiting. He had no utilities in his house, burned candles and had a coal stove. It was only in later years that he learned to read and write. He had been a hired hand in his working years.

Among the Eden settlers in the 1850's were William Vellam and his wife who came from England when they were very young and very poor financially. They crossed the ocean in a sailboat which sprung a leak off the coast of Newfoundland. As the winds were favorable, they decided to return to England for repairs. The whole crew and passengers, including the women, had to bail water to keep the boat from sinking. It took eleven weeks to get back to England.

Upon arriving in Eden, Mr. Vellam worked for the Welch Family. When he had saved enough money he bought a farm about one and a half miles from Eden on Eden-Evans Road. There he spent the rest of his life raising a family of three boys and three girls. There were Henry and Frank who had a meat market on South Main near the four corners, No. 8609, the present home of Misses Blanche and Pearl Vellam; and George, who was the father of Blanche, Pearl, Glenn and Clayton. The three daughters were May, the late Ray Hardy's mother, Elizabeth and Flora. Mr. Vellam made his living farming, and with his brother John supplied meat for the county poor house in Buffalo.

William Laing, great grandfather of Mrs. Helen Baldauf and the late Floyd, came from England about 1850. He purchased a cabinet-making establishment from D. E. Ensign of White's Corners (Hamburg) which he set up in Eden. It was thought that the location was where the Nowak building stands at No. 8608, but his name does not appear on the title search for that property, which belonged originally to Asa Warren.

Perhaps Mr. Laing rented the site. He made coffins and did other fine cabinet work. One article he made was a combination rocking chair and cradle which would rock the cradle as one rocked the chair. The sign that hung on his door is explicit. It is still in the Laing family.

COFFIN AND CABINET ESTABLISHMENT

begs respectfully to announce to the citizens of Eden and the adjoining towns that he has commenced the above business, having purchased the entire interest, stock and tools of Mr. D. E. Ensign of White's Corners and transferred the same to the Town of Eden where the public can in the future be furnished with mahogany, rose wood, walnut, and cheaper coffins of all sizes, cabinet ware, chairs, bedsteads, and every article connected with the trade, designing to keep constantly on hand a large assortment for the selection of the public, and invites an inspection of his stock before purchasing elsewhere and solicits the patronage of the public in the above.

A HEARSE IN CONSTANT READINESS

An old book with a handmade leather cover holds the record of the "Eden Temperance Society" which was formed in 1842. Its first president was James Green. The following year Asa Warren was elected. The purpose of the society was "to assist in the Extermination of the use of alcohol as a beverage from our land and world." Its records show the society continued for ten years. The list of members contains about 156 names, most of them prominent in Eden's early history.

In 1842, an epidemic of scarlet fever which took the lives of many children, struck Eden. Mute evidence of its toll is found in Evergreen Cemetery where a row of small headstones mark the graves of four of Linus Dole's children, all who died within a period of nine days.

The Congregationalist Church record says in its minutes for one of the meetings of the "Maternal Association" that year, "Our hearts overflow with gratitude as we look around and see so goodly a number of mothers and children present, and remember that among the many children called away by death, not one of our number has fallen."

Eden had some flourishing industries which are unknown here today. John and Jacob Hyer came to the county in 1848. John married Margaret Eckhardt in 1849. In 1867 he bought a farm on Sisson Highway near the intersection of East Church Street, from H. B. Bauer, and started a tannery. The place is now owned by his grandson, George Haier, Jr. Part of the house is the original building. The other part was torn down and replaced about 1872. Jacob settled at Clarksburg and also had a tannery for a short time, after which he entered the grocery business in a building which has been remodeled into a two family home on New Oregon Road next to the Danahy home.

A furniture factory owned by two of the Hill brothers and Valentine Rockwood (their brother-in-law) was located near the "Birch Woods" on the Charles S. Desmond property on East Church Street. The furniture was made by hand.

A washing machine made in Eden by Clark Stickney in 1888, bears the name "Sunbeam." It was given to the Eden Historical Society by Mr. and Mrs. Horace H. Hunt, but no information about it has turned up.

Eden Valley was a thriving mill community and alive with industry in mid-century, according to a newspaper article. The Eden Valley mill ground more than 50 carloads of feed and flour in a season, and sawed half a million board feet of lumber, thousands of lath and shingles, made 10,000 berry crates and innumerable bushel boxes and baskets each year. Many men were employed for these jobs.

In 1819 the Erie County Agricultural Society was formed and the first fair was held in 1820 where the Donovan Building is now.

A Buffalo paper said it was a "very creditable exhibition," and "some remarkably fine animals were present and a very choice lot of vegetables. The specimens of domestic manufacture, though few were very superior" it also said a few pure bred short horns and Devons were about the only cattle of improved breeds to be seen at this first fair.

The second fair was held the next year with $500 in premium offered. First premium on cheese was awarded the H. Arnold & Son of Hamburg. The reputation of Hamburg cheese was already established, "no better is made in the United States," an old county history declared. Eden had several cheese factories later, but perhaps none yet at this early date.

A few fairs were held during the next twenty years. In 1841 a group of county citizens formed another Erie County Agricultural Society and began to hold a fair each year without an omission except in the war year 1943. They were held at various places in the county. The 1855 was held at Aurora, with an admission charged for the first time, 12 ½ cents. Horace Greeley delivered the address at this fair, drawing large numbers of visitors and exhibitors. His talk was on the use of canned fruit, just then coming into use, and on the use of drainage tile.

In 1868, Luther Titus of Hamburg offered on behalf of the Hamburg Driving Park Association the use of the new half-mile track and grounds with office buildings and seats, free of charge for the Fair. The Society purchased land and erected buildings as it could afford it.

The late Mrs. Elizabeth Webster remembered attending the Fair when there was only one building.

In 1883 and 84, Horace Landon's bay geldings won prizes at the Fair.

A paragraph in a letter written by John Bartoo to some friends, Americk and Charlotte Gray, describes his visit to the Fair in 1867.

"We attended our state fair which was at Buffalo a few weeks since and we saw a great many nice things. There were about forty nice Chesire hogs and pigs there that beat anything I ever saw. They were all pure white and one large one weighed over 1,100 pounds. But the greatest novelty and the thing that seemed to attract the most attention was a cow milking machine, but as I cannot explain it, I will not say any more about it. Another sight worth seeing was the Bee Farmer as I call him. A man that would do anything he chose to with a swarm of bees. The bees would light on his head by the quart and crowd all over his face and eyes and finally he took them into his mouth, and all this without once getting stung."

Here is a news item in the Erie County Independent at fair time in 1883.

"F. L. Maltby of Eden took first premiums at the Fair on his old pride, the Farmer's Favorite Drier, Deering Cord Binder, goods, Zimmerman Fruit Drier, Deering Cord Binder, Randall Harrow, Feed Mill and horse power and other premiums."

Horace Landon was the first Edenite to serve as president of the Board of Directors of the Erie County Agricultural Society, in 1893-94-95. Others were J. W. Carter, 1896-97, Walter A. Clark, 1914, Nelson W. Cheney, 1942, and Walter D. Henry, 1962-63. Mr. Henry served on the Board from 1950 until his death in 1973. His son Earl was elected to the Board in 1973 to replace him.

Women who have served as president of the Women's Department are Mrs. Myra Bunting, in 1888, and Mrs. Nelson W. Cheney in 1922-23.

The 1845 census showed a total Eden township population of 2,213. The census told many other interesting facts. There were 239 aliens not naturalized, 2 paupers, no persons of color, no Indians. There were 268 married females, 151 unmarried females between 16 and 45, 83 births, 40 deaths, 1,327 persons born in New York State, 97 persons born in other states, 304 persons born in France, 247 born in Germany, 75 children attending private school, one attending college.

During that year, 8,587 $\frac{1}{4}$ yards of cloth, including linen, cotton, and woolen, were made, 741 $\frac{1}{2}$ bushels of peas raised, 747 $\frac{1}{2}$ bushels of buckwheat, 25,330 $\frac{1}{2}$ bushels of potatoes, 1,963 pounds of flax, 10,764 pounds of wool, 54,596 pounds of butter made.

There were two grist mills and 17 saw mills in Eden in 1845, one ashery, one tannery, one brewery, 6 retail stores, 3 groceries, 358 farms, 45 mechanics, 2 attorneys, 3 physicians, 5 taverns or inns, 7 clergymen (total clergymen's salaries, $1,320).

There were no blind persons, no idiots, and one lunatic.

There was one Baptist Church, cost $300, one Congregationalist Church, cost $600, one Methodist Church, cost $700, one Roman Catholic Church, cost $600.

There were 11 common schools, 419 pupils, 4 private or select schools with 113 attending.

This is only a partial list of the items on the census report.

The population in 1850 was 2,494, but in 1860 dropped to 2,439, and in 1875 it was 2,320, about the same as in 1845.

At this time we find the people of the area in a condition of decided prosperity. Money was reasonably plentiful without being so abundant as to cause fears of another crash. On all the back roads handsome farm homes were being built in place of the log structures of early times. The hardworking pioneers were reaping the reward of past efforts, and took life a little easier. Their land was all paid for, or nearly so. When their children married, they generally gave them a little farm or at least a plot, and sometimes a house, too. Those who could afford it, bought more land as it was obviously a good investment, with its value rising every year.

The years 1850 to 1870 were called the Golden Age of Agriculture in New York State. It exceeded all other states in number of farms, livestock, dairy cows, maple sugar, and orchard products.

If you remember your American history, you know that as a result of a new fugitive slave law passed in Henry Clay's Omnibus bill of 1850 the system arose of helping slaves escape. At certain houses they were safely guarded from pursuers, fed, and hidden in a hayloft, attic, or cellar. At night they were taken to the next station toward Canada and freedom. Asa Warren's house was said to be one of these depots of the "Underground Railroad," which, of course, was neither underground nor a railroad. The old house tells no tales, but its cellars may well have hidden blacks desperately seeking freedom. Roswell Hill's house was also said to be a station. There may have been others. There was an active Abolitionist Society in Erie County.

The year 1859 was another of those years of freak weather. There was frost every month of the year. On July fourth, the ground was frozen an inch deep. Asahel Richardson, who had inherited his father's farm on Shadagee Road, was so disgusted to see all his crops frozen that he then and there decided to go into the milling business and bought Elisha Welch's mill at Eden Valley. When the plank road out of Buffalo was built, he obtained the contract to furnish the planks for its maintenance at $1,000 a year.

He ran the mill for 56 years, then sold it to his sons Eleazer and Wesley. Under their ownership it became famous for the quality of buckwheat flour it ground. E. W. sold his share of the mill and moved to Hamburg where he founded and built the Richardson Mills there. The Eden Valley mill was sold later to Leo Schumer who sold to Clement Croop in 1918.

In 1862, some people from Buffalo thought that there was petroleum beneath the bed of the Eighteen Mile Creek. They set up the necessary machinery and bored to 800 feet, near the grist mill owned by Simeon Clark's son Allan, but the project was entirely unsuccessful and was abandoned.

The Whig party was in control of Erie County up to 1862. Slavery was the big question and caused a change in the political parties. The American or Know Nothing party soon began its existence in secret lodges and soon spread rapidly over a large portion of the country. It was also joined by some conservative Whigs who wanted to abandon their organization but did not want to join the Democratic or Anti-slavery party. In 1855 the Republican party was organized, but the Democrats carried the county for the first time in 25 years.

Hiriam Newell was elected to the State Assembly in 1860.

In that year came the greatest presidential contest since the formation of the government. Murmurs of anger and discontent rose from the South. They said that if Lincoln were elected they would secede. The North felt that they were bluffing, and could not believe that the nation would actually break into a civil war.

On the 15th of April, 1861, the Buffalo papers carried the news that Fort Sumter had fallen. When Eden heard the news, feelings of indignation and patriotism were aroused. The young men of Eden hurried to Buffalo to enroll. Everyone thought the war would be over by fall. Enlistments slowed down as the war progressed into 1862 and '63. Losses were heavy and many patriotic people became discouraged.

Parades were held in Eden, with men carrying torches, fife, and drums, and wearing blue caps and capes. Mrs. Elizabeth Webster recalled these parades, and told how, when the boys came home, relatives went to Buffalo to meet them. Willis Hill, then a small boy, ran up to the marching men and fell into step with his brother Horace.

ST. MARY'S

A cemetery plaque reads: "St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church: Oldest parish in Western New York outside of Buffalo". It was founded in 1834 by German settlers and was the mother church for all of the surrounding communities. St. Mary's first pastor was the Rev. John Nicholas Mertz. The present brick church was built in 1851."

St. Mary's records from 1861 to 1917 were filmed in 1982. Found online at FamilySearch: baptisms 1861-1917, marriages 1861-1917, deaths 1861-1917. Film Number 1292945. Image Group Number (DGS) Format 8273109.

HISTORY OF ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Pages 1-6 of The History of St. Mary's Church, East Eden, N.Y., by St. Mary's 75th Anniversary Committee, 1936, Booklet

The Catholics of Eden and surrounding areas travelled eighteen miles to hear Mass at the first little frame Catholic Church called "The Lamb of God", now St. Louis Church in Buffalo. The first resident parish priest of this church was Rev. John Nicholas Mertz.

During the years 1833-1835, his successor, the Rev. Alexander Pax, visited the Village of Eden and urged the Catholic settlers to build a wooden church and pastor's house. In the year of salvation, 1836, Rev. Mertz travelled to Europe to gather funds to aid the poor Catholics in this section of the New World. Father Pax alone carried on the care of the souls of Buffalo and the surrounding places.

Preparation in 1835 had begun by the Catholics in the Village of Eden, Collins, and Hamburg for the foundation of a mission in East Eden. They purchased one-half acre of land for a sum of $5 from Michael Enser for a cemetery and Church. This land was donated to the Roman Catholic Church and Society of the Town of Eden. An entire acre for $60 was bought from Peter Stein to build a home for the priest.

After the Most Rev. Bishop Hughes of New York, of which diocese this territory was then a part, had blessed the cemetery, the members of the new parish began constructing their church at their own expense. They furnished the lumber from their farms for both the church and the priest's house. These principal Catholics were:

- Anthony Kiefer [Soufflenheim]
- Simon Roos
- Jacob Frohnheiser
- Joseph Friedmann
- Benedict Friedmann
- Jacob Schmitt
- John Emmerling
- Adam Zahm
- Michael Enser
- Adam Scheffer
- Anthony Denig
- Philip Schreiner
- Valentine Schwanz
- Martin Weiss
- Leonard Bettinger
- C. Stephan
- Philip Kiefer
- Joseph Rebermann
- Anthony Casper
- and others

At the instigation of Father Alexander Pax, the Eden Catholics also built a rectory. Father Pax donated $20 to Anthony Denig and Jacob Frohnheiser, principal carpenters to construct the building.

The following year, Father Mertz returned from Europe and assumed the care of the souls in Eden. As the first resident pastor of the newly founded parish, he blessed the Church under the title of "Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary" and gave a secondary title and patron that of "St. Michael". Out of his own funds, he donated to the church a chalice, ciborium, ostensorium, chasubles, missal, etc. under the condition that the parishioners help erect a home for the poor or a school by supplying lumber and labor or the necessary funds.

Rev. Nicholas Meretz
First Pastor of St. Mary's Church, 1836-1844

From the money Father Mertz collected in Germany, he purchased from Michael Hassermann about 15 acres of land for $300. He himself often said that for $1,000 a house could be built. A few old folks were housed in the building and later it was used as a school. He ordered a barn at his own expense to be built adjoining the rectory to store wood.

During his pastorate, a holy water font was purchased, an old tabernacle and altar acquired, and a confessional was constructed. John Heim dug a well for the rectory for $6.25.

Before his death, Father Mertz wrote to a bell maker in Cincinnati, Ohio, at the request of the congregation, to send two bells. One bell weighing 100 pounds was to be dedicated in honor of St. Michael; and the other bell weighing 200 pounds was to be consecrated in the honor of St. Mary. The two bells cost $100 and arrived in East Eden on July 18, 1844. A fifty cent donation was collected which the father of the family donated. This same amount was to be given by the fathers to purchase for each family a cemetery plot which he could not surrender to his son. The inscription on the center bell reads as follows:

FUSA PONT. MAX.
GREGORTO XVI

PONTFIFICATUST

CXFV. ANNO.

This very pious priest, Rev, John Nicholas Mertz, was born on April 26, 1764 in Bondorf, Germany, in the Diocese of Trier, He was ordained to the priesthood on March 13, 1791 by the Most Rev. Archbishop Carol Aloysius Koenapich in Cologne. Father Mertz labored in the Lord's vineyard for 53 years of which 33 years were spent in America. He was pastor of the German Catholics in Konawaga, Pa., 15 years in Baltimore, 8 years in Buffalo where he built the first Catholic Church, and seven years in East Eden. In 1844, he died in full merit and good works; and his remains were buried in the old church cemetery. In 1865, his body was removed and buried under the sanctuary of the present church.

A few edifying words about the death of this saintly priest will not be out of place as it will throw a light upon the character of this man. Shortly before his death, Father Alig of Buffalo, his confessor, paid a visit and gave him Holy Communion. Father Mertz rose from his sick bed and casted himself upon his knees saying in Latin: "My Lord and my God, my Savior and My Redeemer, I adore you, I receive you, my Savior, for whose love I have always labored". A few days before his death he said to the same priest: "Ah, I have a soul, that is a pure spirit endowed with reason and made to the image and likeness of God, this must be freed from the narrow confines of a miserable and suffering body, in order to see God, for God Himself has said: 'No man can see Me and live!'" He then gladly gave up his soul to its Maker.

Rev. Rudolf Follenius, (1844-1849), the second resident pastor, came to East Eden shortly after the death of Father Mertz to undertake the care of the souls. His administration showed no undertaking of new works. It was characterized by a spirit of strict economy and thrift. This was to be the starting point for a building fund for a new brick church. He gave to the congregation to the prefects of the Church the $25 left by the will of Father Mertz. By practicing economy, the money which about the time of the death of Father Mertz had grown to about $100, continued to be set aside to build a new church. Near the end of Father Follenius' ministry, pastorate Masses were being said on certain Sundays in Collins (at present Langford), Hamburg, and Boston; each mission developing later into an independent parish. It is evident that when the beginning of the separation of the Missions of Collins and Hamburg took place, the salary of the pastor was about $400 annually. The pastor's salary was not paid from what we now understand as church revenue but was subscribed yearly by the individual members of the congregation. This was a separate contribution which had to be met, aside from all other church levies as pew rent, plate collections, etc. This church contribution practice remained in vogue until the year 1862.

Some poor persons lived in the house built by Father Mertz until 1862. Succeeding pastors made use of the fifteen acre field until the same year. By the Will of Father Mertz, the house of the poor or school and the fifteen acres were deeded over to the Bishop as ecclesiastical property.

In 1849, Father Follenius was recalled by Bishop John Timon, the first Bishop of the newly-founded Buffalo Diocese to St. Peter's Church, Rochester, at that time still a part of the Buffalo Diocese. Later, Father Follenius served the souls of St. John's now St. Boniface, Buffalo and died there.

In 1849, the third pastor of East Eden was Rev. John Nepomucene Arendt, who came from Bavaria. Father Arendt was confronted with the task of building a new brick church. Besides being a priest, Father Arendt was a medical doctor of no little skill. His theology studies were made in Munich, Germany. After coming to America, he received his degree of Medical Doctor from the Medical College at St. Louis, Mo. Since he was the only reliable doctor in the area, he was called by Catholics and Protestants alike. As he never charged a fee, he could solicit funds for the new church from all. When he arrived in Eden, the church Treasury contained about $1,000. By the year 1851, he collected by subscription $1,406.48 adding to a total of $2,406.48. The partial list of donors were:

- Anthony Kiefer [Soufflenheim]
- Anthony Schwanz
- Andrew Mammoser
- Adam Schmitt
- Anthony Heim
- Bernard Weber
- Godfrey Lam
- Ignatius Blattner
- Ignatius Stephen
- James Casper
- Joseph Dole
- James Eder
- Jacob Schmitt
- Joseph Rebmann
- Joseph Weber
- James Dauer
- Joseph Witzlymann
- Michael Schidden
- Michael Enser, Sr.
- Michael Schwanz
- Michael Blattner
- Michael Enser, Jr.

A new plot of land adjacent to the cemetery where the church was built was purchased for $14 from Michael Enser. The actual construction of the present brick church began the same year. It is reported that the brick was made at a nearby farm, namely the present Felix Kaminski farm at 9755 East Eden Road. Bricks were hauled by horse and buggy to the site of the new church by parishioners and others who did much of the construction themselves. (It is reported that John Wittmeyer may have been among such early parishioners who helped haul the brick.) The cornerstone was laid and blessed by Father J. Guth, Vicar-General of the Diocese and pastor of St. Louis Church, Buffalo, and assisted by Father Arendt. (The Anniversary Committee was unsuccessful in their endeavor to locate the cornerstone). The Church was completed before the end of the year and was one of the most solid and beautiful country churches of its times. It was very remarkable that upon completion the church was paid for to the last cent. The generosity of the people was extraordinary, as only few, if any could have been blessed with the goods of this world, as they were mostly pioneers in this country. Generosity, however, was contagious, and much was undoubtedly done in emulation of their good pastor, who was ever so attentive and generous to their sick without accepting any monetary remuneration.

When the church was finished, it was equipped with two doors, windows, tower and floor. The pews from the old wooden church along with the confessional, the tabernacle, (perhaps the tabernacle is the same one that fits in the old altar used recently in "Hall Chapel"), bells and other utensils needed to begin divine worship were transferred.

A collection was taken a few months later and new pews at a cost of $4 each were made by Bernard Weber. According to later history, these pews are the same ones in church today. A communion rail at a cost of $25 was built at the entrance of the sanctuary. The temporary main altar (perhaps the same altar used in the "Hall Chapel" when the church was being presently renovated) remained until 1859 when the Catholics desired to have a new main altar in the Church. They, therefore collected among themselves $350. Mr. Stanfield of Buffalo did the woodwork for $175 and the painting and decorating for $175. The brick work, not yet painted when the cornerstone was consecrated, was placed, and was included in its price. Side altars were constructed, one on the left for $32.50, a gift of the St. Anne Society; one on the right at a cost of $32.50, a gift of William Haab and George Vetter. A $8 unpainted statue of St. Joseph was erected, a gift of Messors Haab and Vetter. The two side altars were painted without further cost.

It has been reported that Masses were said at the residence of the late Clement Mammoser at 8336 East Eden Road between 1835-1851. The old altar was stored in the barn at 8268 East Eden Road, Harold Mammoser's residence.

A small painted statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary with the Infant Jesus was purchased for $6 and paid for out of the treasury of St. Anne Society and placed at first above her altar. Out of a special church collection, a pall was bought. The stone of the baptismal font was purchased from the church treasury but Father Arendt as yet did not use it. Two chasuble were bought; one black and one red with a white cross. The St. Anne Society gave as a gift, surplices and cassocks. They also purchased a banner of the St. Anne Society costing $56.55. The first hanging sanctuary lamp cost $26, and was the gift of John Schummer, Sr.

At the beginning of Father Arendt's ministry, a wooden church was built and dedicated to St. Michael in the Village of Collins, now Langford. A Protestant house of prayer was bought in Hamburg. The Rev, Father Guth, pastor of St. Louis's Church, assisted by Father Kraemer, the first pastor of Hamburg, and Father Follenius blessed the church in Hamburg under the patron saints of Sts. Peter and Paul. Father Kunz was succeeded in Collins by Father Krauthbauer, who was Eden's first assistant to Father Arendt in his ministration of the extensive territory, which took him not only to the places immediately adjoining Eden, but as far as Springville, New Oregon and Ashford.

Amidst all his missionary labor, Father Arendt also taught the parish school until the parish was able to hire a teacher. After ten years of fruitful labor in Eden, he was transferred to Dunkirk.

During the next two years (1859-1860), the Rev. Stephan Eicher, pastor, who came from Switzerland, and with his curate, the Rev. Schenabeck together in East Eden were in charge of Langford and of the new church dedicated to the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary at New Oregon, which at the time of Pastor Neumann, was purchased from the Protestants of that area. Hamburg, too, was still under their care.

A Way of the Cross was erected in the church and bought for $85. Father Eicher contributed $15, William Haab $32, Francis Schummer $10, Christine Schwartz $10, the Society of St. Anne $10 and the balance was collected by small donations from the members of the congregation. Six candlesticks were used on the main altar, four smaller ones on the altar of St. Anne cost $14. St. Anne Society paid $3 for an altar card. The candlesticks, placed on the St. Joseph Altar, were gifts of Messors. Haab and Vetter. St. Anne Society also purchased the corporals, purificators and other items of this nature.

On March 19, 1860, Father Eicher was recalled from this mission. Father Eicher passed away in the Lord while pastor of the Village of Sheldon in 1862.

Father Heimbucker from Bavaria (1860-1861) succeeded Father Eicher and was pastor of the Eden and Hamburg Churches. Father Heimbucker had the Hamburg Church incorporated according to the State Law, and authorized the trustees to solicit subscriptions for a new brick church to replace the frame church which was moved away but remained in use until 1862.

The St. Anne Society purchased a new incensarium for $8 and a white chasuble for use on feast days for $25. The pulpit of wood was also built. Father Heimbucker was recalled from this mission at the end of October, 1861.

The Rev. (Francis) Franz Guber (Oct. 1861-Mar. 1862) from Wuertenburg was the sixth resident pastor but he only remained for about six months. He carried on the sacred ministry in Eden, Hamburg, Langford, and New Oregon. During his short time, nothing of a temporal nature was bought or made for use in the Church.

The Rev. George Pax (Mar. 23, 1862-Aug. 17, 1862) came from France and assumed the care of the souls in Eden, Hamburg, and Collins. The sacristy at the East Eden Church was built with a cabinet for vestments and a sink to wash hands for a cost of $125. Perhaps the south entrance to the sanctuary was bricked shut at this time. Father Pax conceded $50 from his salary and the remainder was collected from the members of the congregation. The episcopal pulpit was painted, gilded, and decorated with a crucifix given by Maria Weber. Members of the congregation who donated towards the $142 of the pulpit were: Rev. Heimbucker, Francis Schummer, William Haab, W. Schwanz, Peter Schwarz, Nicholas Bettinger, Jabor Schmitt, Andrew Mammoser, Michael Schwanz, Michael Enser, Rev. George Pax, Godfrey Lam, Emmerling and others.

A "Melodean" was purchased for $32 to help with the singing and paid by the contributions of the congregation. The exterior and interior of the rectory were repaired, costing $55. The members of St. Anne Society purchased the carpet covering for the sanctuary for $14. These ladies also donated a white cape costing $35, and a white tabernacle veil costing $8.

On August 17, 1862. Father Pax was recalled by the Bishop from this mission.

Rev. George Pax

The Redemptorist Fathers, Erbold and Winsierski, C.S.S.R., from St. Mary's Church, Buffalo, visited only on Sundays the churches in Eden and Hamburg from August 17 to Sept. 20, 1862. These Fathers and Father Gleason desired with the approval of the Most Rev. Bishop to make use of the house built by Father Mertz along with the 15 acre plot of land for the education of youth.

The congregation of the Church petitioned the Bishop to order Father George Pax to return as it was difficult to administer to the sick and for arrangement of burials since priests only visited on Sunday. Father Pax assumed his pastoral duties in the Eden-Hamburg missions from September 20, 1862 until June 7, 1864 by the orders of the Bishop.

On November 3, 1862, three sisters of St. Francis, namely Mother Frances, Sister Johanna and Sister M. Magdalen along with 5 candidates, Johanna Bachmann among them arrived. Cunigunda Bachmann, 11 years old, also arrived for a visit. The house was almost completed and the Sisters renovated at their own expense of $300 and $65 for the barn. The Catholics of the Village of Eden renovated the school hall for their use. The Sisters' salary was at first $200 annually until 1866 when it was raised to $325. They acquired ownership to the property from the Bishop.

The congregation made donations to purchase and repair the following:

- Repairs to school with fireplace & chairs: $40
- Kitchen stove for convent: $14
- Kitchen stove for rectory: $24
- Two stoves for rooms: $12
- Kitchen cabinet: $14
- Three new chairs: $11
- Three secondary (side) entrance doors: $45
- Two stoves for Church in 1863: $45

Tombstone Translation of

REV. NICHOLAS MERTZ

"Here is buried the body of REV. FATHER NICHOLAUS MERTZ, the First Catholic Missionary Priest for Buffalo and vicinity. He died as Spiritual Father of Eden on August 10th, 1844, living 81 years. He was loved and mourned by all who knew him. He was a most noble and very dedicated Pastor. He became all to all people.

May he now receive the fruits of his apostolic work in heaven. At the last sound of the trumpet may his body and soul be united in happiness. May he rest in peace.

Amen."

Fr. Mertz Tombstone, St. Mary's Church

The two carved angels, one at each side of the Main Altar, were a gift of Father Glaessens, C.S.S.R. Through a collection having been made by Father Pax, the tombstone for Father Mertz's grave was purchased for $40 and engraved by William Haab. In the same year, the church was painted by Henry Lampert at a cost of $154. The Way of the Cross was blessed and officially erected. The Society of St. Anne and the Society of St. Joseph each contributed $10 to specially adorn both small altars. The windows of the Church at a cost of $2.50 each were painted with names of donors.

On July 28, 1863, the new brick Church in East Eden was blessed under the title of St. Mary, Immaculate Virgin by Father Glaessens, C.S.S.A. A solemn Mass was sung by Father George Pax, assisted by Fathers Hynes and O'Connor. Father Francis Gurber, pastor of St. Louis Church, gave the sermon.

The statue of Our Sorrowful Mother above the altar of St. Anne was purchased Sept, 27, 1863 for $20 by the congregation and the Society of St. Anne. An altar at the Church entrance in front of the Mission Cross was bought for $12, along with the statues of the Blessed Virgin Mary, St. Joseph, and the dead Christ for $15 and paid for by Andrew Densmerk, some ladies of the parish and Father Pax. An ostensorium was purchased for $35, a gift of William Haab, The baptismal font was now ready for use. A triangular candelabra for the tenebrae was acquired. A pall with painted skulls and all the necessary items for sung funeral Masses were bought. The consecrated stone for the main altar cost $12. Mr. Haab donated a canopy for use in Corpus Christi processions.

The entire Church with all its appurtenances was paid in full and the deed was already surrendered to the Most Rev. Bishop. In 1863, Rev, Edward Baenziger from Switzerland, who was a Protestant minister but having come to a recognition of the truth, was ordained by the Most Rev. Bishop Timon, sang his first solemn Mass in our church. He resided here for almost a half year while ministering to the Churches in Langford and New Oregon.

Before Father Pax left for Europe on January 7, 1864, he purchased the first organ for the Church, Father Winsierski, a former Redemptorist and from Poland, served the church from June 7 to September 17, 1864. He collected the balance due to pay for the organ. He also undertook the care of the souls in Eden, and Hamburg as his predecessor had done.

The principal benefactors of the organ were:

- William Haab
- Francis Schummer, Sr
- Francis Schummer
- Francis Weber
- Michael Enser
- Peter Kern
- Andrew Mammoser
- Andrew Demmerle
- Peter Zahn
- Christian Lam
- A. Deniz
- Peter Deniz
- T. Lam
- Wm. Winkelman
- Philip Dauer
- Anthony Weber
- Michael Schwanz
- L. Weber
- James Wurtz
- Michael Stephan
- Anthony Lam
- Philip Riefer [Kiefer? Soufflenheim]
- J. Schummer
- T. Fruk
- Catherine Emmerling
- Joseph Game
- George Game
- William Schwanz

Father George Pax (Sept. 17, 1864-Feb. 1, 1868) returned from Europe and resumed his duties as pastor at Eden and Hamburg. The Most Rev. Bishop sent Father John Laemer to serve as a "Co-Pastor" of the Eden and Hamburg Church. He resided with Father Pax until December, 1864 when the Catholics of Hamburg bought a rectory for him. From Nov. 20, 1864 until May 21, 1865, Eden and Hamburg were separated. Again, Father Pax resumed the care of the souls in Hamburg and Eden until the end of June. The Most Rev. Bishop, and the pastor, the Catholics of the Village of Hamburg entrusted everything to the Bishop and they incorporated the Church according to new civil law.

In 1865, the Catholic congregation of Eden purchased a tombstone for Sister Johanna for $30. A statue of the Sorrowful Mother with dead Christ beneath the cross was bought from the Sisters of St. Francis for $30.

The third new largest bell, weighing 272 pounds, was purchased in September, 1865 for $146. Since the Bishop did not attend as promised, the bell on October 10, 1865 was blessed with the other two bells by a benediction officiated by Father George Pax, assisted by Father Payer. The name of St. George was invoked in the consecration of the bell at the desire of John Wittmeyer, the largest donor. To complete payment, the following Catholics contributed: William Haab, Father George Pax, John Schummer, Sr., Christian Lane, Francis Schummer, Sr. and Jr., Philip Kiefer [Soufflenheim] , Michael Bauer, Anthony Heim, Anna Schummer. Other donations were of $3, $2, $1, and less. Total amount contributed was $375. Therefore the church had an over subscription of $229. Over subscription for the organ was $15.47. John Schummer, Sr. gave a gift of $25 for a chalice. A new ciborium, new missal, crucifix for the sacristy, altar cards for the Main Altar were gifts of William Haab. The old utensils used by Father Mertz were replaced.

Our senior parishioners namely Magdalen Gates and Tony Lippert, recall the church bells ringing out the Angelus and time in the early 1900's. When a parishioner passed away, one bell would be used to ring out the age of the deceased. John Hess, then Adam Dole, caretakers of the Convent and for the Sisters, would ring the bells. After them, the Sisters took turns until the practice was discontinued. Church bells are now rung before the Masses.

The salary of the pastor of Eden with Hamburg from Father Arendt's time to 1863 was $500 annually. With the separation of the Hamburg Mission, the salary of each pastor was $600. Since the Catholic congregation of Eden was not incorporated according to civil law, the pastor could select trustees according to his approval.

At the end of 1865, two chasubles used by Father Mertz, a red and a white, were set aside for very restricted use. A gold for feast days, and a white and a red for common days were bought. Donors were: Society of St. Anne, Marie Heim, Christine Weber, Ann Marie Ast, Mary Demmierle, Christine Lam, Mayalene Schintzius, Amelia Schwanz, Christina Schwanz! Elizbeth North, Brigitte Weber, Barbara Murkel and others.

A preachers stole of red, white and violet was made at a cost of $2.50. The tabernacle was lined with red silk and the ciborium covered with a beautiful veil at a cost of $9, which was collected at the High Mass. During Lent, 1866, a purple chasuble was purchased for $22.

The Agnus Dei brought by Father Mertz was left in 1865 to the church. Agnus Dei, one of the church's sacramentals, is a small wafer of wax taken from paschal candles or from those of Candlemas. It is solemnly blessed by the Pope during the year of his coronation and every seven years afterwards. Agnus Dei or Lamb of God has an image of a lamb stamped on one side. The origin of Agnus Dei comes from a popular custom of using bits of the pascal candle as articles of devotion. The wafers of wax are usually enclosed in leather or silk and embellished with embroidery and lace.

In the summer of 1866, the walls of the Church became so affected by dampness and cold that the Catholics were forced to make repairs. The walls on the inside were reinforced with beams and covered with gypsum. The roof needed to be renewed and fortified from the dripping moisture. There were many donors. A sample follows but a complete list is available from the Anniversary Committee.

1. Georgius Pax Pastor : $25.00
2. Wilhelmus Haab : $25.00
3. Francisus Schummer : $25.00
4. Michael Haab : $10.00
5. Anton Weber : $10.00
6. Andreas Demmerle : $10.00
7. Fr. Xaverius Weber : $10.00
8. Anton Heim : $10.00
9. Michael Schwanz : $10.00

- 10. Ignatz Blattner : $10.00
- 11. Andreas Doll : $10.00
- 12. Michael Bauer : $10.00
- 13. Michael Enser : $10.00

The interior walls, the pews, the brick work of the main altar, the extra altar in front of the mission crucifix, the exterior wooden portico, and the sacristy and sanctuary floor were painted. Total donations were $1,120.75.

The Sanctuary lamp donated by John Schummer became completely corroded. William Haab donated $18 to purchase a new sanctuary lamp with all its appurtenances. Statues of St. Vincent and St. Francis, painted by Ignatz Stephen and the Christ carved with the cross above the statue of the Seven Sorrows of the Blessed Virgin Mary at the side altar were donated. At the end of 1866, new church windows were purchased at $24 each.

In 1867, an addition was made to the rectory to which nearly all parishioners contributed $1 each.
