EARLY SOUFFLENHEIM KIEFFER

The earliest Kieffer families in Soufflenheim are those of Hans, the principle original Kieffer, and Paul, whose family is mentioned in various records from 1659-1757. Their relationship, in any, is not known.

Hans, a small landowner, may have been a potter, the occupation of his oldest son, was Burgermeister in 1665 and a member of the justice counsel in 1666. His descendants include three Schultheiss and ten Burgermeisters. Paul was a prosperous farmer. Both were Catholic and had four children. Hans appears to have been the eldest, as his children were born circa 1640-1655, and Pauls' circa 1655-1675.

Hans Kieffer's great, great grandson Anthony Kieffer emigrated with his wife Catherine Burger and their seven children from Soufflenheim to East Eden in Erie County, New York in 1830. Children Josephine, Peter, and Phoebe went west as pioneers in 1855, helping found Elba, Minnesota. The Kieffer Valley is named after them, and the Kreidermacher Valley after Phoebe's husband.

BEINHEIM

ANNA MARIA, WIDOW OF JOANNIS KIEFFER

25 November 1723 Beinheim (On-Line Page 13/184) Marriage (MD)

Remarriage of Anna Maria, widow of Joannis Kieffer of ___elsheim. The first character of the village name is mostly hidden in the book's spine, and the following two characters are questionable. An overhanging bit of what I think is the first character is most like the scribe's 'N', but could perhaps be a 'K', or something else like an 'H'. This is followed by 'ay', 'ey', 'ag', or 'eg', most likely. The only spelling I could rationalize is 'Hegelsheim' -- because there is actually a Hugelsheim ('u' with an umlaut) in Baden, directly across the river from Fort-Louis (and so pretty close to Beinheim). In that marriage record, the word preceding the village name seems to be a descriptive term, but I can only imagine what it might be. If the scribe made one 's' that looks like his 'h', the word is 'insula' (island, literally). Maybe this Kieffer lived in 'island Hugelsheim'? I found another record -- Beinheim marriages, 17 Feb 1727 (on-line p.20/184), that very clearly refers to "Insula Hugelsheimensi" (umlaut on 'u') as a parish connected with the parish "Beinheimensis. I wonder what it means to be an 'island' parish and whether this one is unique in that regard...I've never noticed this term before.

NOEL - NOT AEHRINGER

By Mark Drexler. September, 2006

The death records of Joseph Kieffer [Died: 12 January 1841] and Elisabeth Kieffer [Died: 02 February 1848] establish that Elisabeth Kieffer and Joseph Kieffer were siblings. The witnesses and their relationships are the key here. Ludan Friedmann was Elisabeth's nephew by marriage, of course...Ludan's wife was Elisabeth's niece. Joseph Vetter as Joseph's brother-in-law really nails it.

But what about their mother's name? In the above records it was not consistently spelled, but the first letter of the name appears to be an "A". It is certainly not a "B" or an "R" as seen by Rosa. It is a simple, tall, peaked stroke with a curlique at each end and without a crossbar. I scoured many records written by Joseph Messner around this time period for any character that looked like this...and the only candidate is one of his 3 or 4 styles of capital A. The character in question seems nearly identical to the first letter in Antoine, Andre, and Ambos. In each of the above records, the odd name was written fairly clearly, such that the spelling does not look ambiguous in any way.

That odd name is simply incorrect, in my estimation...and in yours too, I'd bet...and I think we should blame Ludan Friedmann for perpetuating it. He was the common factor in both records. But I can excuse him for this...I hope nobody expects me to know and remember my father-in-law's mother's maiden name!

I read the 18 November 1809 record of Joseph's marriage (to Barbe Burger)...and found his mother's name to be NOEL (and she was present at the wedding). You have the corresponding marriage contract (4 Nov 1809) and it agrees with the marriage record. The marriage record gave Joseph's father Joseph's death date of 15 April 1806, and I also verified that record...which included the name NOEL. I checked two baptism records of this elder Joseph's children, and they were clear on the NOEL. The 10 April 1821 death record for Catharina Noel, "epouse" of Joseph Kieffer, established that she was from Seltz...which might have made it easy for Soufflenheimers to forget her name.

I have found no indication of a marriage record for Elisabeth, but I think the point is made sufficiently by what we do have. By the way, I do agree with the reading of her husband's name as "Vetter"...from both his signature and Messner's writings.
