EMIGRATION

Most of the large number of Soufflenheim emigrants to Canada from the 1820's through the 1850's went to Waterloo County in Ontario, particularly to New Germany.

Following completion of the Erie Canal in 1825, the quickest and least expensive way to reach the province of Ontario in Canada was via the port of New York, Hudson River, and Erie Canal to Buffalo. From there, approximately 100 miles overland to New Germany (Maryhill) and other German/Alsatian settlements, particularly in the Waterloo area.

Historian and priest Theobald Spetz recounts the journey of an early Alsatian family to St. Agatha Parish near New Germany:

“The first immigrant from the Continent of Europe was undoubtedly Theobald Spetz. Born at Rodern, Upper Alsace, he had made the calamitous campaign under Napoleon to Moscow. Later he married Mary

Ann Haehner, of the nearby Ober Sulzbach, and settled in Lower Sulzbach, where he bought a farm and acted as teamster. But the devastations of the Napoleonic wars had brought misery to many. So this man decided to seek a home in the new world.

Having sold his land, he drove in his own conveyance, with his little family of five or six, across the Vosges mountains by way of Paris to Havre, where he took passage on a small sailing ship to New York. The trip took 96 days. Another 16 days up the Hudson River and by canal boat to Lockport, and the rest of the way on foot to Buffalo. Here he attached himself to a caravan of Mennonites going to Canada.

With them he went to the upper end of Waterloo Township, about three miles east of the Wilmot boundary line. Here he soon bought a farm and began life in the wilderness. Favorable reports from this settler soon brought other immigrants from his old home.”<sup>1</sup>

THE ERIE CANAL

The Erie Canal reduced the travel time from the Hudson River to the Great Lakes by half and was a popular alternative to the rutted, muddy roads used by the stage coach. Passengers traveled on packet boats pulled by horses or mules at a leisurely pace equivalent to that of a fast walk.

In 1836 Thomas S. Woodcock made the trip from Schenectady, New York to Buffalo and recorded his experience aboard a packet boat:

"These boats are about 70 feet long, and with the exception of the Kitchen and bar, is occupied as a Cabin. The forward part being the ladies' Cabin, is separated by a curtain, but at meal times this obstruction is removed, and the table is set the whole length of the boat. The table is supplied with everything that is necessary and of the best quality with many of the luxuries of life.

On finding we had so many passengers, I was at a loss to know how we should be accommodated with berths, as I saw no convenience for anything of the kind, but the Yankees, ever awake to contrivances, have managed to stow more in so small a space than I thought them capable of doing.

The way they proceed is as follows - the Settees that go the whole length of the Boat on each side unfold and form a cot bed. The space between this bed and the ceiling is so divided as to make room for two more. The upper berths are merely frames with sacking bottoms, one side of which has two projecting pins, which fit into sockets in the side of the boat. The other side has two cords attached one to each corner. These are suspended from hooks in the ceiling. The bedding is then placed upon them, the space between the berths being barely sufficient for a man to crawl in, and presenting the appearance of so many shelves. Much apprehension is always entertained by passengers when first seeing them, lest the cords should break. Such fears are however groundless.

The berths are allotted according to the way bill, the first on the list having his first choice, and in changing boats the old passengers have the preference. The first Night I tried an upper berth, but the air was so foul that I found myself sick when I awoke. Afterwards I chose an under berth and found no ill effects from the air.

These Boats have three Horses, go at a quicker rate, and have the preference in going through the locks, carry no freight, are built extremely light, and have quite Genteel Men for their Captains, and use silver plate. The distance between Schenectady and Utica is 80 Miles, the passage is $3.50, which includes board.

There are other Boats called Line Boats that carry at a cheaper rate, being found for 2/3 of the price mentioned. They are larger Boats, carry freight, have only two horses, and consequently do not go as quickly and moreover have not so select a company. Some boats go as low as 1 cent per mile.

The Bridges on the Canal are very low, particularly the old ones. Indeed, they are so low as to scarcely allow the baggage to clear, and in some cases actually rubbing against it. Every Bridge makes us bend double if seated on anything, and in many cases you have to lie on your back. The Man at the helm gives the word to the passengers: 'Bridge,' 'very low Bridge,' 'the lowest in the Canal,' as the case may be. Some serious accidents have happened for want of caution. A young English Woman met with her death a short time since, she having fallen asleep with her head upon a box, had her head crushed to pieces. Such things however do not often occur, and in general it affords amusement to the passengers who soon imitate the cry, and vary it with a command, such as 'All Jackson men bow down.' After such commands we find few aristocrats."<sup>2</sup>

NEW GERMANY

Many from Soufflenheim emigrated to New Germany (Maryhill), in Woolwich Township, part of Waterloo County, in Ontario Province, 65 miles west of Toronto. They are mentioned in the records of St. Boniface Catholic Church in New Germany, church and township census, naturalization records, newspapers, and other sources.

New Germany (Maryhill), Canada

As European immigrants moved to the area in the early 1800s, the settlement was first called Rotenburg. Between 1827 and 1840, of the 48 settlers who arrived in Rotenburg, 36 were from Alsace and 12 were from Baden. A particularly large number arrived from SOUFFLENHEIM, Alsace, between 1828 and 1860. By 1832, there were 69 families in Rotenburg, and a population of 307. The settlement was renamed New Germany.”<sup>3</sup>

Theobald Spetz, in The Catholic Church in Waterloo County, published in 1916, tells us:

“The first Catholic immigrants [to New Germany] from Europe came in about 1826 or 1827. Being poor, they first remained for some years among the older and wealthier Mennonites and worked for them until they became acquainted with the conditions of this new country and earned a little money to begin farming for themselves.

Then they bought land located east of the river, on what were called the back lots of the German Tract. As the German Catholic population increased and occupied all the land in Waterloo Township they overflowed north into "Woolwich and Pilkington Townships. The greater part of Woolwich also belonged to the German Land Company, while Pilkington had been granted to General Pilkington for services in India. In Guelph Township the settlers obtained the land direct from the Crown.

The first arrivals from Europe came from Baden. Somewhat later others came from Wuertenberg, Alsace, France, Hestia, The Rhineland and Bavaria.

Many of these settlers had a trade, and practiced it for many years, at least in part, after they had secured farms. For years oxen were used almost exclusively as cheaper and better suited for the work at logging and farming on land covered with stumps and stones. In 1850 a team of oxen and driver earned $1.25 per day, a horse team $1.50. At harvest time 75 cents and board was the usual rate of wages per day, less at other times.

The newcomers from Europe, having scanty means and being quite inexperienced in bush life, obtained valuable advice, employment and credit from their better situated Mennonite neighbors. These were uniformly kind, neighborly and hospitable to a degree. In fact, without this helpful disposition of the Mennonites the European settlers could scarcely have remained in the wilderness. Even with these kind neighbors most of the immigrants from Europe had a hard enough task to get on in the new world. Almost every one of them could tell of many instances of getting help in distress and great need.

One of the disagreeable features among the New Germany settlers was, that, although composed of Germans almost exclusively, rivalry and uncharitable raillery between the people from different principalities was very prevalent.

Then there was no German citizen because there was no Germany, each one was an Alsatian, a Bavarian, Prussian, etc. Every one considered his Principality the best and had a supreme contempt and ugly nicknames for all the others. This, however, has all passed away. All are now Canadians.”<sup>4</sup>

Three of New Germany’s earliest settlers and founders, arriving about 1828, were Lawrence Goetz from Soufflenheim, Joseph Lauber of Schirrhein and Gottlieb Brohman of Rountzenheim, small villages bordering Soufflenheim. According to the Guelph Daily Herald, Gottlieb Brohman helped chop the first tree in Little Germany, as New Germany was also known. Lawrence married Lauber’s daughter Marianne and operated one of the earliest taverns in New Germany. Lawrence, his brother Casimir, and Gottlieb

Brohman helped to establish the first school in the New Germany area, where German was the language of instruction.<sup>5</sup>

A window on pioneer life for the earliest settlers from Soufflenheim is provided in Maryhill Historical Society 1977-1982: “Joseph Brohman [Gottlieb’s oldest son], born at that early period, grew up amidst the dangers and hardships of early life in the wilderness. He tells of the time when bears and wolves were uncomfortably plentiful, and many a night boiling maple sugar with his father Gottlieb he could see from the campfire into the outer darkness, countless gleaming eyes of wolves. Bears were numerous and bold and the family porkers had to be closely guarded since Bruin was very fond of young pigs. He tells of one occasion when Bruin had entered the pigpen and was caught in the act by his father carrying a double-barreled rifle. Bringing the four-footed thief to bay he fired both barrels into the bears chest whereupon the bear lunged forward and with one swipe of his terrible paw tore the old pioneer’s clothing and lacerated his breast and would undoubtedly have killed him had it not been for his faithful dog, who pounced upon the brute’s back. Gottlieb struck the bear over the head with the rifle barrels and bent them to such an extent that he was unable to reload the gun. The wounded animal tried to get away, but with the help of a neighbour and the dog he was over taken and killed. That night there was a feast of choice bear steak and a joyous time in the Brohman cabin over the lucky escape of the father from certain death by this savage brute”.<sup>6</sup>

Emigration Patterns

Philip Hauser, descended from some of the earliest settlers in New Germany and a longtime resident of the area, says:

“There may be as many as 40 families from Soufflenheim that settled in Maryhill. An immigrant from Soufflenheim, Mr. Edward Halter, was responsible for a great deal of encouragement to bring people from his home village in Alsace to here. The local heritage society is housed in his former home. He was a big enough deal that he had an audience with the pope on one of his voyages back to Europe. Arrivals in New Germany came mostly via Cheektowaga/Buffalo circa 1838-1845. The opening of the Erie Canal made this journey from New York City possible. The bulk of those who came to New Germany were either Alsatian or Badenosch. Many who came to New Germany then migrated north to Bruce County to a village called Formosa. This area, known as the Queen’s Bush, opened for settlement in the 1850’s. You can’t find a family surname in 1950s Formosa that didn’t have cousins or even siblings in 1950s Maryhill. New Germany was the starting point for most of these people, and Formosa and parts of Bruce/Grey/Huron counties was destination two. Northeast of New Germany a hundred miles or more is Trout Creek, another secondary destination. Later, people from all three of these Ontario locales settled in Michigan near West Branch as land opened there. Others were drawn to Henry Ford’s assembly line experiment in Detroit. Finally, as the west settled, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and North Dakota welcomed others. Maryhill would have been an impossible place to settle all of the Soufflenheim immigrants but it was a “settling point” for some, a “resting point” (with family) for others and an “abandoned starting point” for others who simply could not accommodate their young families in this small area.”<sup>7</sup>

The Reverend J. A. Lenhard, in a 1937 article for the Canadian Catholic Historical Association, relates the history of German Catholics in Ontario:

“The tide of German Catholic immigration to Ontario began in 1827 and continued to flow in till about 1860. The immigrants came from Alsace, the Palatinate, Baden, Bavaria, the Rhine district, and Austria and Switzerland. Difficulties of travel were great. They travelled from their home towns by stage coach or down the Rhine to one of the channel ports, e.g. Havre. From thence sailing boats brought them, after a long voyage, to New York. At times it took almost three months to cross the Atlantic. From New York the route was the Hudson River and the Erie Canal to Buffalo. By covered wagon or on foot they traversed the distance from Buffalo to Waterloo County. The first German Catholic settlers came from Alsace and took up land in Waterloo County and the surrounding districts. German Mennonites had settled in Waterloo County at an earlier date along the Grand River, and these German Catholic settlers took up land adjacent to this Mennonite Colony. There seems to have been no systematic colonization. The early settlers writing to their friends at home induced others to come. As they came they settled in nearby districts and so gradually five or six German Catholic Settlements sprang up in Waterloo County

Waterloo County and the southern part of Bruce County are the two principal German Catholic settlements in Ontario. There were smaller settlements in other places, as, for instance, one a few miles south of Niagara Falls, Rainham, Hamilton, Zurich and Hesson. Naturally, too, these colonies extended beyond the boundaries of these counties, and a few Catholic families are found here and there in the neighboring counties. Whereas the early German Catholic settlers in Waterloo County came from Europe, most of the German Catholic settlers in Bruce County came from older German Catholic settlements in Waterloo County, principally from NEW GERMANY and from near Schmidsville, now Wellesley village. The exodus from Waterloo County was caused by the prospect of cheap land in Bruce County and this attraction was called the Saugeen fever. All this northern district was commonly called Saugeen. These German Catholics from Waterloo County were accustomed to pioneer life and made good settlers. Bruce County settlements date back to 1851 and 1852. Pioneer life was hard; the trees had to be felled and burned to, make a clearing for crops; roads were but a trail through the forest and even the government-opened roads were rough. The early settlers in Bruce County moved up from Waterloo County by way of Garafraxa road running from Guelph to Durham. From Durham they travelled west on the newly opened road running from Durham to Kincardine. In Bruce County the German Catholics took up land in Carrick, Culross and Brant Townships. Soon villages like Formosa, Mildmay, Karlsruhe and Neustadt sprang up, which became centres for Catholic parishes.

There are at present [1937] about 25,000 Catholics of German descent in the province of Ontario, with about ten parishes in Waterloo County and seven in Bruce County. The people of the country parishes are nearly all distinctly German, while in the city and towns there is a large percentage of other nationalities, notably in Kitchener, Waterloo and Preston. Most of the German immigrants arrived before the year 1860. Since then many of their descendants emigrated to Michigan around the year 1880, and in the nineties many went to North Dakota. The cities, like Detroit, Michigan, Buffalo, Chicago, attracted many by remunerative employment. About thirty years ago the Canadian West with its cheap land and abundant crops enticed many from Bruce and Waterloo to the vast expanse of the Prairie. Always enough remained at home to till the soil and continue farming on the lands cleared by their ancestors.”<sup>8</sup>

The Catholic Church in Waterloo County (Appendix B), published in 1916, lists the following Alsatian emigrants to Maryhill.<sup>9</sup> Names in RED from Soufflenheim, in brackets unknown.

The names, origin, and approximate date of coming to Canada were provided by Edward Halter, “the farmer Philosopher”, a prominent resident whose family arrived in New Germany from Soufflenheim in 1843. His residence houses the Maryhill Historical Society.

Laurent Ernewein

Modeste/Matthias Ernewein and Joseph Ernewein have listed as their father Laurent Ernewein in Soufflenheim (records Rose transcribed). Familysearch.org shows "Lorenz Ernewein" age 73 from France on the ship Rhone, arrival date 10/18/1842. This age matches Laurent Ernewein from Soufflenheim. AND, by this time pretty much all of his family is in North America except for his wife, who died a year or two earlier, so, I could see him emigrating. I don't see a death record for him in Soufflenheim nor anywhere else, but the 1840s records are very spotty in Canada, at least in Maryhill/New Germany. Source: Phil Hauser.

[Mark Drexler comments: The Lorenz Ernewein on that Rhone manifest neatly matches the father of the brothers Joseph and Modeste Ernewein, who seem to have emigrated about 3 years earlier. Those brothers have not yet been found on manifests (they apparently came over separately). I did look for 'Fanny' Meyer (probably officially 'Francoise') [name on manifest near Lorenz Ernewein] in Soufflenheim without success. And the name above that I took as possibly 'Orth' rather than 'Arth', and investigated for that one -- again without success. So it looks like that one lonesome Ernewein is the only candidate Soufflenheimer on that boat, and that doesn't instill confidence.]

St. Boniface Cemetery (The Old Walled Cemetery).

Brass plaques attached to the wall of the Old Walled Cemetery recount pioneer families in Maryhill.
The 2007 Drexler, Sauer, Schmuck, Messmer plaque, all from Soufflenheim

Drexler Sauer Schmuck Messmer

In July of 1857, Sebastian Drechsler and Francisca Sauer arrived here to begin their new family. Like many other New Germany area residents, they had come from Soufflenheim, Alsace. They were accompanied by Francisca's younger brother Wendelin Sauer and widowed mother Francoise Kehlhoffner.

The remains of these, our first ancestors on this continent, are buried in this cemetery. The graves of Sebastian and Francisca are no longer marked, so today we cannot be certain of their locations. The grave of Francoise

Kehlhoffner lies beside that of her husband Alex Halter. Wendel Sauer is believed to be interred with his wife Rosina Hauser, whose grave is well marked.

So, too, are buried here the Schmuck family pioneers Bernard Schmuck and his wife Marie Anne Messmer. Although not known exactly, the time of their arrival in this area coincided closely with that of Drechsler. Bernard and Marie Anne were accompanied by her father Vincent Messmer. These newcomers were also natives of Soufflenheim, but had tarried several years in New York before finding their home here. The graves of all these are well marked.

The young families flourished in this area. Although time has spread descendants over the entire continent, the many living here today connect all the others to their roots.

With this plaque, we hereby honor our pioneer ancestors and give thanks for the families they began.

Erected in July of 2007 by the Drexler,

Sauer, Schmuck, and Messmer descendants.<sup>10</sup>

GENERAL INFORMATION

Township boundaries have changed over the years. St. Boniface Parish covers parts of Guelph and Pilkington Townships in Wellington County and presently part of Woolwich Township in Waterloo Region. Prior to Regional Government in 1972 Maryhill was in Waterloo Township. This Township no longer exists.

St. Boniface Cemetery is the second oldest cemetery in Waterloo County. The first cemetery to serve the parish was located directly across the road from the walled cemetery. There are no visible remains of the oldest cemetery. The old walled cemetery is the second cemetery to be used by the parish. The stone fence around the cemetery was built in 1862 and the main iron rod gates were made by J. D. Mueller, blacksmith, of Bridgeport.

The first burial in this cemetery, according to Church records, was John Gehl on November 30, 1851. There are earlier stones however, as the oldest death recorded on a tombstone is Margaretha (Hauck) Weiler who died on the 21st of December, 1843.

There are a total of 693 tombstones, 119 of these are in German script, and 90 are crosses. In addition, there are 74 unmarked Graves.

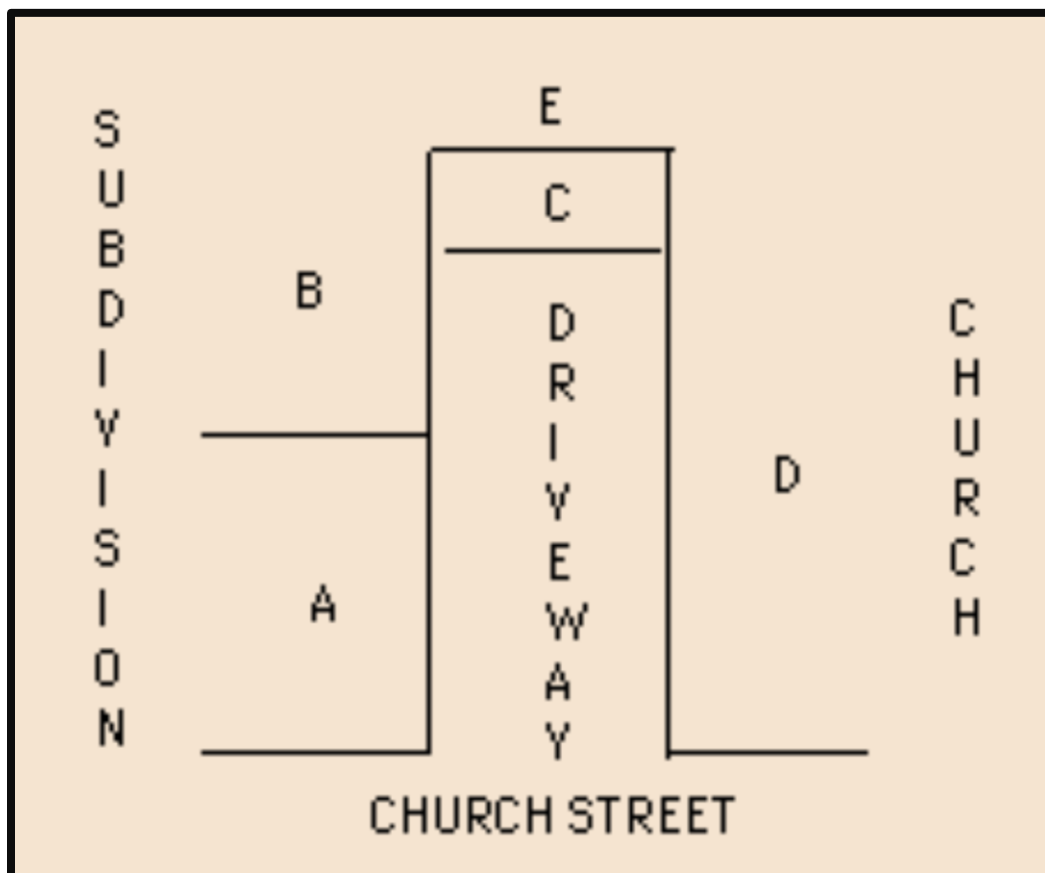

Three generations of the Zettel family have taken care of the burials between the years 1899-1990: Frank, William, and Gerald.

The cemetery is divided into 5 sections: "A" and "B" sections are on the right hand side of the driveway.

- "A" is the oldest section with many of the remains and stones being brought from the original cemetery across the road.
- "C" is in the centre of the cemetery, behind the crucifixion monument and the row directly behind it.
- "D" section is on the right hand side towards the church running the whole length.
- "E" is the children's section and is directly back of "C" section but at the bottom of the cemetery, running from left to right.

NOTE: There was a stone building on the south-east corner of the cemetery, which was built to store the bodies of the deceased in winter time. Whether it was ever used very much for that purpose is questionable. In later years it was used for storing equipment.

EPITAPHS

1. The tint of health has left her cheek,
And cold is her fair brow,
Her eyes are closed, her pulse is still,
She is an angel now.
2. Thy Virtue and thy worth,
Shall fond remembrance cheer,
And ease the aching heart,
That drops the falling tear.
3. We have loved him in life,
Let us not forget him in death.
4. Sound is the sleep our Father takes,
Till in Christ Jesus he awakes,
Then will his happy soul rejoice,
To hear his blessed Saviour's voice.
5. Dearest brother thou has left us,
Here thy loss we deeply feel,
But it is God that has bereft us,
He can all our souls heal.
6. Rest dear Douglas, here under the sod,
Rest dear son, at peace with God.
7. A loving daughter, a sister dear,
A faithful friend when she was here,
She lived in hope, she died in peace,
We trust her joys will never cease.
8. A faithful friend, a husband dear,
A kind companion lieth here,
Great is the loss that we sustain,
But hope in heaven to meet again.
9. A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,

A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled,
God in his wisdom has recalled,
The boon his love has given,
And though the body slumbers here,
The soul is sure in heaven

10. We loved him living,
We love him still,
And remember him in prayer.
11. A faithful friend, a husband dear,
A tender parent lieth here,
Great is the loss we here sustain,
But hope in heaven to meet again
12. Hark! Angels whisper me away,
My partner dear, adieu,
In the sweet realms of endless day,
Our love we will renew.
13. Kind friends beware as you pass by.
So you are now, so once was I,
As I am now so you must be,
Prepare, therefore to follow me.
14. The sorrowing husband and loving children
Beg prayer for the repose
Of her soul
May she rest in peace
15. A loving friend, a husband dear,
A tender parent lieth here,
Great is the loss we here sustain,
But hope in heaven to meet again.
16. A husband dear from us is gone,
A parent we loved so well,
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
17. She's gone to worlds Above,
Where saints and angels meet,
To receive the Saviour's love,
And worship at his feet.
18. As a wife, devoted:
As a mother, affectional:
As a friend, ever kind and true.
19. Think of me as you pass by,
What you are now, so once was I,
What I am now so you shall be,
Prepare for God and follow me.
20. A loving wife, a mother dear,

A tender parent lieth here,
Great is the loss we here sustain,
But hope in heaven to meet again.

21. Behold the pilgrim as he lies,
With glory in his view,
To heaven he lifts his longing eyes,
And bids the world adieu.
22. A Mother's hope, a Father's joy,
Death's hand hath here laid low,
God gave and took our darling boy,
To his glory and we bow.
23. One precious to our hearts has gone,
The voice we loved is stilled,
The place made vacant in our home,
Can never more be filled,
Our Father in his wisdom called,
Thy boon his love has given,
And though on earth the body lies,
The soul is safe in heaven.
24. God's finger touched her and she slept.
25. Sweet Carrie unto earth,
A little while was given,
She plumed her wings for flight
And soared away to heaven.
26. Too good for the earth,
God called her home.
27. Oh! How blest are you,
Whose life is ended,
Who through death,
Have unto God ascended,
You have arisen,
From the cares which,
Keep us still in prison.
28. Dry up your tears and weep no more,
I am not dead, but gone before,
Remember me and bear in mind,
You have not long to stay behind.
29. We miss thee from our home, dear;
We miss thee from thy place,
A shadow over our life is cast,
We miss thy kind and willing hand,
Thy fond and earnest care,
Our home is dark without thee,
We miss thee everywhere
30. Our Father in his wisdom called,
Thy boon his love had given,

And though on earth the body lies,
The soul is safe in heaven.

31. Jesus has called the Mother home,
Her flesh lies mouldering in the tomb
God grant her offspring may be blest,
And meet her in eternal rest.
32. Sound is the sleep our Father takes,
Till in Christ Jesus he awakes,
Then will his happy soul rejoice,
To hear his blessed Saviour's voice.
33. Life's labor done as sinks the day
Light now its load, the spirit flies,
While heaven and earth combine together,
Now blest the righteous when they die.
34. Let us pray for him That God will grant him
Eternal rest and let perpetual light shine on him.
35. Father into thy hands
I commend my spirit
36. May the souls of the departed through
The mercy of God, rest in peace.
37. A faithful friend, a husband dear
A tender parent lieth here;
Great is the loss we here sustain,
But hope in heaven to meet again.
38. Yes she died, much too early
Too early, for the family
39. In thee; Oh Lord!
Have I put my trust.
40. Blessed are the pure in heart
For they shall see God.
41. Life's labor done, as sinks the day,
Light now its load, the spirit flies,
While heaven and earth combine together,
Now blest the righteous when they die.
42. Too good for the earth,
God called her home.
43. Dearest Son Thou hast left us,
And Thy loss we deeply felt.
Tis the Lord that bereft us
Of the one we love so well.

OLD WALLED CEMETERY HEADSTONE TRANSCRIPTIONS

The Maryhill Historical Society has the most complete headstone information for burials at St. Boniface (Old Walled Cemetery). Transcriptions by the CanadaGenWeb's Cemetery Project leave out much of the information on the markers. The Maryhill Historical Society's book includes all of the words and numbers that are visible. Their publication, available from the Society, includes headstone inscriptions giving death dates and often ages, birth dates, origins, parents, and spouses.

CanadaGenWeb's Cemetery Project - St. Boniface/Old Walled Cemetery

Transcriptions, indexed by Doug Smith in 2014, of all visible headstones still in existence at the Old Walled Cemetery. Found at CanadaGenWeb's Cemetery Project, St. Boniface/Old Walled Cemetery, Waterloo County, Ontario: <http://geneofun.on.ca/cems/ON/ONWAT14257?page=2>

THE INDEX

“Some persons named in this index may not be interred in this cemetery. They are designated as spouse or parent on appropriate stones, and may not have their own birth and death recorded here. Women, if maiden names are known, will appear under both their maiden and married names.

If the name of a relative appears on an older stone, that name will be included in the index along with a relationship identifier (e.g. spouse, parent, sibling, etc.).

Some headstones provide family relationships and this information can link previously unknown relations. For example, a headstone may state "Sarah Russell daughter of John Russell". If there were no other record of Sarah, her headstone would be the only one to link her as a daughter of John. By indexing John and linking him to this headstone, it lets those seeking him also find Sarah.

This type of indexing may sometimes mean one person will end up in our index multiple times. That's okay as long as each time they are in the index they are linked to a different headstone. One photo may show their headstone, one may show them as a spouse, five may show them as a parent. But they all help researchers find every stone a particular person is named on.

Some ages and birth years are estimates based on the information provided on the stone. For example, a stone may have only a date of death and age at death. A birth year would be estimated by subtracting the age from the year of death.

Our indexes are meant to lead you to every photo/transcript where a person is named. If a person is in an index more than once, it means the person is either named on more than one headstone or there is more than one photograph available. Women are also indexed under both their married and maiden names if both are known to us.

- Not all burials have headstones, if a stone isn't available it may not be included in the index.
- If the cemetery was visited in winter or if the cemetery is in a flood zone it's possible the stone wasn't visible at the time of the visit. The same goes for foliage and bushes - many times grass, bushes & trees grow around a stone obscuring it from view.
- Most cemeteries are not laid out in easy to follow rows and it's quite easy to get turned around and miss a stone or two.”
