[Note: An introduction in Latin to a baptism register in series 3E472/2, image 120, has a statement from vicar Ignatius Hopp named Lemfried similar to those in the burial register:

In year of Grace thousand seven hundred ninety two, on the 13 of September, by a decree of the French National Convention Ignatius Hopp named Lempfriedt, has been separated from his community and ejected from his parish and sent to exile, because of his constant faithfulness to God, the Catholic Religion, and the King, rejecting the impious oath that was called to the Civic oath, preferring to suffer a life of evils than obey to the scandalous and atheist Regicide decrees, and stayed so in situation of the Church for one year, month and fifteen days, until the Austrians were victorious over the French Regicides called Patriots, on the 18th of October of the following year he could come back to his parish with the exhortation of the people in reconciliation with the Church, celebrated an extraordinary Mass of Sacrifice and came back to his pastoral charge with the honours, and wrote down the events in this register the best he could, so that his successors will never forget.

Signed ; Ign. Hopp named Lempfridt, vicar.

Nota bene (margin) : In this book several entries were ill positioned and detected as not on normal date and the right parents have neglected ; but the information is considered as true.]

Notes:

Partial Record, Heinrich Jaeck and Magdalena Schwartz Marriage, circa February-April 1790, Source Mark Drexler

Partial record (signatures present) -- series 4, image 20 (original register page 4); fits in sequence between records of 15 February 1790 and 20 April 1790:

This almost certainly represents the marriage of Heinrich Jaeck and Magdalena Schwartz. Heinrich Jaeck's signature here matches -- albeit imperfectly -- that on the baptism/birth records of the two known children of that couple. Ignatius Jaeck signed the partial marriage record, and was described as the groom's brother. Heinrich and Ignatius were known sons of Ignatz Jaeck and Gertrud Meyer. The signature of Ignatius Jaeck here matches that on Ignatius Jaeck's marriage record of 4 February 1788 (4/4).

None of the signatories (other than the groom) is obviously related to the bride.

The date range of the partial record is very close to the dates of 24 and 26 January 1790 reported for the marriage contract of Heinrich Jaeck and Magdalena Schwartz (unfortunately, the marriage contract indicates that the marriage had already taken place -- though not explicitly in church).

Magdalena Schwartz was, at the time, the widow of Joseph Endres (and daughter of Heinrich Schwartz and Barbe Schmuck).

*Catharina Strom Origin, 09 February 1789, Marriage Record, Source Mark Drexler

Catharina Strom's village of origin is Kempten. The name appears again, more clearly, in Catharina's death record. The best choice for which Kempten -- one that accounts for all of the place names mentioned in the marriage record -- is in the Rhineland-Palatinate region.

The key word in the marriage record is "Moguntini" This is one of several similar Latin spellings for the city of Mainz (on the Rhine, perhaps 80 miles north of Soufflenheim). The following word in the record is "Bingensi", which can be readily interpreted as 'Bingen' -- a village about 10 miles west of Mainz. Those two places lie on a short stretch of the Rhine running east-west, and appear to 'bookend' an area known today as 'Mainz-Bingen'. This named area comprises a near-continuum of villages and hamlets; and it seems likely that in 1789 it was likewise a named area and was called "Moguntini Bingensi" in the record.

Immediately east of Bingen is the village of Kempten am Rhein (probably known as simply 'Kempten' in 1789).

The marriage record referred to Kempten as being in an Archbishopric, which fits the known history of the Mainz diocese.

Concurring evidence for Catherine Strom's birthplace is found in her civil death record of 10 March 1824. Her husband reported that she had been born in Kempten, jurisdiction of Mayence. 'Mayence' is the French spelling for Mainz.

There is another place of importance mentioned in the marriage record. The marriage banns had been posted at "Cathedrali Spirae", which is a fairly clear reference to the cathedral at Speyer (about 40 miles south of Mainz and in a different diocese). Since it was customary to post banns in the home parish(es) of the bride and the groom, this indicates that Catharina was a member of the cathedral parish, i.e., she was living in Speyer. Unfortunately, the parish name in the marriage record is not clear to me. The priest's name is Frederici Josephi Schwartz, pastor of St ____, and he appears to be serving with special license as Most Reverend Ordinary.
