

STAR GATE CATTLE

WELCOME

Welcome to the 7th annual Star Gate Cattle Bull Sale. It has been a great time to be in the cattle business, and I'm not convinced that some of our best days in this market aren't still out ahead of us. We appreciate our customers both old and new who have weathered the storm with us from 2019 till 2026. Talk about a change for the better.

This bull offering reflects our program goals. Essentially your registered Angus bulls that will be sold here today are geared towards making females with added fleshing ability, longevity, and fertility. As you'll notice there's not a lot of new cutting-edge sires we use; simply because they're unproven and we're not willing to gamble with our program or yours. The SimAngus bulls will be more of a dual purpose with added performance and growth. As always there will be some outliers in both sets that can lean to either end of the spectrum. We also have a large selection of bulls that will work on those heifers you're keeping back. Look for our supplement sheet online or printed sale day that will have the latest, genomically enhanced EPDs for the registered angus bulls and those individuals that I would personally recommend for heifers.

We also want our development strategy to match our breeding philosophy. This is a primary driver to our 2-year-old only philosophy. We want to watch these bulls grow up and see what's working. Every year there's an additional 10% or so of the mob that we cut or cull from yearling to the 2-year-old mark. I think that's a big part of why we can warranty these bulls for four years and not have much of any trouble. During that development these cattle will primarily graze or eat long hay. In times of feeding these cattle will not see any rations that exceed a 44 mega cal and zero grain. This would be like what you would feed a stocker calf preparing to go to grass. In the end that's what we're preparing them to do, go to work and go to grass.

With a new time, new sale format, new place, hopefully some new faces and all the old ones too; we did have to sell the heifers that we have historically sold in this sale due to the date change. We apologize for that if we had somebody who was banking on us. Also new for this year you'll notice that every bull to sell here today will have a PAP score. We were able to send these bulls to loa Utah at 7,000 feet in the spring for 60+ days. We kept the development pretty well the same and were able to get a PAP test before the ride back home to Dietrich. We want to thank every one of you for making the drive or being on the internet with us for today. Means a lot and we hope that any business you do with us is of benefit to both parties.

STAR GATE CATTLE'S 4-YEAR BULL GUARANTEE

As part of our aim to provide bulls that will withstand the roughest conditions and be profitable to ranchers, we offer the following warranty: All 2-year-old bulls sold by Star Gate Cattle will be guaranteed against injury that renders them incapable of breeding or to be a potential breeder, except those circumstances listed below.

This guarantee only applies to the original purchaser. This guarantee also only applies to bulls that have been maintained, at all times, by the original purchase for standard beef breeding practices and under normal breeding conditions. Bulls must also have been maintained in accordance with good animal husbandry methods and management.

All claims shall be resolved in the following manner:

The guaranteed credit shall equal the original purchase price of the bull multiplied by the appropriate percentage (based on when the injury occurred), less an agreed upon salvage value. This amount shall be credited to the owner for the purchase of one bull from either the present inventory of Star Gate Cattle or at the first proceeding Star Gate Cattle bull sale. If the credit is not used at either of those times, then it will become void.

The amount credited is as follows:

- 100% from the time of purchase until bull is turned out to cows (no later than July 1st)
- 80% from 1st turn-out through October 1st of the same year.
- 60% throughout 2nd year
- 40% throughout 3rd year
- 20% throughout 4th year ending with the 4th anniversary of original purchase

To make a claim, the original owner must contact Star Gate Cattle within 4 days of the discovery of the injury. They must also possess a document of the injury, signed by a licensed veterinarian. Star Gate Cattle reserves the right to have an agent of their own choice verify the injury and documentation of such. If any claims are denied by Star Gate Cattle, the original owner must then respond with a written legal explanation of why the guarantee should apply or forfeit all rights to any guarantee on the bull in question.

Exceptions not covered by this warranty include, but are not limited to:

Injuries or loss caused by motor vehicles, equipment, or trains. Injuries or loss from drowning, predation, or caused by acts of Nature/God (lightning, tornados, blizzard, bitter cold, fires). Injuries or loss from disease, feed intake, or poisoning. Injuries or loss from man-made causes. These include acts of war, acts of terrorism, radiation/nuclear, confiscation, quarantine, theft, malicious or willful injury to animals, carelessness, or neglect.

In the event of sudden death an autopsy must be performed within 24 hours by a licensed veterinarian to determine cause. Without a written report and indentified cause we cannot offer any compensation.

REGISTRATIONS:

All Angus bulls will have verified DNA on file with the AAA and will be eligible for registration unless otherwise noted. Buyers wishing to have registrations finalized and transferred into their name will need to leave their AAA member number with the sale clerk. All SimAngus bulls will not be registered but can be with arrangements made prior to sale day. Please call Gray @208-481-2857 for that.

EPDS:

EPDS will be published on the sale supplement sheet for the registered Angus bulls. Doing so allows us to get the latest update and provide the most accurate numbers to our customers on sale day. SimAngus bulls will not have any EPDs. EPDs are a limited and finite tool to begin with, and when you add crossbreeding, we don't believe they add any selection value for our customers.

We'll just jump right out with what I feel is the best bull in the offering. We still have some Charlo straws and we use it sparingly. If I could go back and stash more straws in a tank I would. He's masculine, he's long, he's stout, he's bold in his shape without becoming coarse. His combination of fleshing ability and real growth are hard to find in a single package. Out of a 9 year-old cow to boot. Before you put a cap on your bid, remember he looks like this without being fed anything more than a grass stocker ration.

Talk about turning the clocks back. By a sire that collected into his late teens and out of a 12-year-old cow. If you're looking here, you're looking to do more than just cover cows. Here's a true breeding piece to make daughters that will get the ranch note paid.

LD Capitalist 316

LD Capitalist 316

Worldwide demand has made 316 one of the heaviest used Angus Sires in recent years. With over 12,000 calves reporting birth weight, few bulls ever reach the status that LD Capitalist 316 has earned! Admired by all who see him for his shape and stunning good looks - it is the remarkable way he stamps his progeny with quality, style, performance and impeccable structure that truly sets him apart. The "Sire of Sires" - his sons command attention. And, his Maternal Legacy is realized through his daughters - high quality, perfect uddered, and productive...the kind that will be sought for generations!

The Capitalist 316 calves all have one look and it's a good one. They're just about the perfect fork in the road between calving ease, growth, and functionality. Capitalist 316 would be 13-years-old this year. I'm not sure that his best days aren't out in front of him yet. Take your pick of 11 sons. Lot 3 will sell as grade.

BREEDING SOUNDNESS OF CATTLE

– Brooks Warner, OSU Extension Agriculture & Natural Resources Extension Educator, Scioto County
(originally published in Ohio Farmer on-line)

Breeding season for most beef herds is upon us or rapidly approaching here in the Midwest, and whether you plan to use your old bull or purchase a new one, it is important to know that the bull you have is fertile. The best way to know if your bull is fertile is by sending him through a Breeding Soundness Exam (BSE).

It is important to understand what a fertile and productive bull looks like before you open your billfold to purchase a bull. Aside from the initial cost of purchasing a sub-fertile bull, the economic loss due to sub-fertile bulls is far greater in the long run. For every 21-day period of the breeding season that a cow remains open, there is a loss of ~55lbs of weaning weight the following year for the calf she finally conceives.

Not only does a bull need to fit the physical criteria and the inherent drive to breed cows, but he needs to be of the right age. Most bulls are sold as yearlings, because breeders want to capture the genetics of a new yearling in the first year. About 2/3 of bulls reach maturity (fertile) at 14 months, but oftentimes we can see reproductive failure due to bull immaturity. Only about 35%, 60%, and 95% of 12-, 14-, and 16-month-old bulls, produce good quality semen (Barth, 2000). Even if young bulls have high quality semen and have all the attributes of a productive and fertile herd sire, lack of experience could be another determining factor in how many or how few females he is able to breed.

Mature bulls should be able to service cows at a ratio of 1:25-1:30 easily if he fits all the criteria in a BSE. Smaller pastures during breeding season may help the bull get every female bred more easily. Be prepared for your bull to lose a considerable amount of condition during breeding season, the off season is the time to be reconditioning your bull to prepare him for next season.

Colorado State University shows that bulls aged 2 years had 120 mounts while bulls aged 3+ had 85.8 mounts, the 2-year-old bulls were responsible for a 41.5% pregnancy rate while the 3+ year old bulls had a 49.9% pregnancy rate. Yearling bulls had an even larger number of mounts at 207 and the lowest overall pregnancy rate of 30.9%. This shows that with age, bulls will achieve more pregnant females with reduced effort compared to younger and more inexperienced bulls.

	Yearling	2-Year-Old	3+ Year-Old
Number of Mounts	207	120	85.8
Number of Services	54.5	37.6	40.5
Estrus females serviced, %	69.4	73.8	85.8
Pregnancy rates of serviced females, %	39.6	59.4	72.0
Overall pregnancy rate, %	30.9	41.5	49.9

A BSE can determine a bull's ability to be a productive member of your herd through passing on his genetics in the next calf crop. His productivity is directly connected with his physiology as well as a built-in desire to breed females, we call this libido. A breeding soundness exam does not cover a bull's libido, but this can be observed on your own through watching the bull's behavior around cattle that are in standing heat.

The cardinal principles of breeding soundness are:

- Physical Soundness
- Reproductive soundness
- Good semen quality
- Normal serving capacity

The Western College of Veterinary Medicine in Saskatchewan saw that in 2,110 bulls tested, 22.1% of bulls had at least one physical abnormality that could negatively impact reproduction. WCVL looked at scrotal shape and circumference, assessed hooves for abscess, Interdigital fibromas (corns), corkscrew of the hoof claw, and other conformation issues in the legs and range of motion. Body Condition Score is taken, and sheath and eyes are inspected.

Semen can be collected by a veterinarian and looked at under a microscope to look at concentration of sperm cells, and mobility of the sperm cells. Morphology of the sperm cells and overall volume is also considered in determining if a bull can provide high quality semen.

Mature bulls that have a scrotal circumference less than 34cm are considered sub-fertile but breed specific averages should be considered as some breeds may average below 34cm. The scrotum will also be palpated to check for any masses in the spermatic cords, testes, and scrotal skin. It is important that the testes are similar in size and can move freely within the scrotum.

Bulls that have no physical abnormalities are classified as "satisfactory potential breeders" if they meet the minimum requirements for Scrotal circumference, sperm motility and sperm morphology. Bull's that do not meet the minimum requirements will be classified as "unsatisfactory potential breeders."

Getting a BSE done on your herd bull is the best way to ensure you have a fertile and sound bull that will add to your program for years to come. When we consider the economic loss from having a sub-fertile bull on the farm, it makes sense to make the initial investment on a good bull that fits the criteria we need and who also passes the BSE and is identified as a satisfactory potential breeder.

Replacement Heifers Wanted!

Any more, we get plenty of calls looking for good, bred heifers. Bred heifers are easy to find... but good ones are tough to come by. It's time we start making a few more.

What we're looking for:

- Producers with clean, uniform, high quality herds. (not necessarily breed or color specific)
- Producers who have the ability to get their cows bred by their own bulls in a 60 +- day window.
- Producers who are willing to use hand-picked, registered Angus bulls with maternal genetics from our line up.
- Producers who are looking for a better market outlet for their heifers, and would be interested in partnering on them through the second year.

If this sounds like something you'd be interested in, let's talk.
