Introducing Ramon Fagundo Blacksmithing Instructor at the Tonopah Historic Mining Park

We are extremely excited to welcome Ramon Fagundo to the Tonopah Historic Mining Park Blacksmithing Program. Ramon is an extremely talented individual who brings a unique style, approach, and enthusiasm to the blacksmithing program.

Born & raised in West Virginia, Ramon relocated to Nevada over 10 years ago. Ramon became interested in Blacksmithing from a historical and cultural perspective in his early teens. As a birthday gift in 2004, he attended the Appalachian Blacksmith Association's Fall Conference/Hammer-in. Returning with an anvil, leg vise and a handful of tools, Ramon started learning from books, internet and the school of hard knocks.

After fourteen years of hobby status blacksmithing, pursuing other crafts & trades, In 2018, Ramon met a life-long Farrier name LeRoy "Doc" Dains. LeRoy became Ramon's metal moving mentor and dear friend, pushing Ramon's skills to a new level and giving him the confidence to show and promote his craft.

Ramon made the move to full-time blacksmith, craftsman, artist in 2023 after finishing his education being the lead welder/fabricator at a large scale production art company. He now teaches blacksmithing classes and demonstrates at several historic parks, such as the Old Mormon Fort State Park in Las Vegas, Nevada where he is the Lead-Instructor.

Working from his home shoppe, Ramon produces small to medium size home goods, decor and outdoor art. His collaborative architectural blacksmithing work can be found throughout the Las Vegas area. Most notably, the entrance gate to Absinthe the Musical at Caesars Hotel and Casino.
