RODS & HARDWARE

When choosing rods for draperies, there are several options to consider, each offering a different aesthetic and functional appeal.

Curtain Rods- the most common choice, available in a variety of materials such as wood, metal, or plastic.

Traverse Rods- designed for pleated curtains, allow for easy opening and closing, either manually or with a cord mechanism.

Tension rods- a great option for lightweight drapes or for spaces where drilling is not an option, such as in rented apartments.

Decorative finials can be added to the ends of rods to give a personalized and stylish touch. Each option allows for a range of design choices to match the style and functionality needed for your space.

Rings are used in conjunction with curtain rods to help the curtains slide smoothly. Often made of metal, wood, or plastic, they are attached to the top of the curtains and then slide along the rod.

Tiebacks are decorative pieces, typically made of fabric, rope, or metal, that hold the curtains open when you want to let in more light or create a structured look. They come in various designs, from simple loops to intricate, ornate styles, and can add a finishing touch to the drapery.

LINING OPTIONS

Choosing the right lining for your draperies adds both style and functionality. From blackout lining for maximum privacy and light control to lighter options for a softer look, we'll help you select the perfect lining to enhance both the beauty and practicality of your space.

TRIM

Adding trim to draperies enhances both their style and sophistication. Trim adds a decorative touch, allowing you to personalize your drapes with color, texture, and pattern that complement your décor. It can also elevate the overall look by creating a finished, polished appearance. Whether it's a simple fringe, a bold contrast border, or a subtle detail, trim brings depth and visual interest, making your window treatments truly stand out.

CONTROLS

The right control for your draperies combines style and convenience, letting you easily adjust light, privacy, and airflow. Whether corded, cordless, or motorized, it ensures smooth operation and enhances your space's design. Let us help you find the perfect solution for both function and beauty!

Hand-drawn Wand Pull Ripplefold Traversing Corded Traversing Motorized

CORDED TRAVERSE

The cord system lets you open and close the drapes effortlessly, while the hidden mechanism provides a clean, streamlined appearance. Perfect for both functionality and style.

WAND PULL

A wand pull offers a simple, sleek way to open and close draperies. It provides smooth, effortless operation, especially for larger or heavy drapes, while maintaining a clean, modern look without visible cords.

MOTORIZED

The cord system lets you open and close the drapes effortlessly, while the hidden mechanism provides a clean, streamlined appearance. Perfect for both functionality and style.

RIPPLEFOLD

Ripplefold drapes offer smooth, easy operation with uniform pleats, providing a clean, tailored look.

ROMAN SHADES

Flat Fold

- Shade is flat when completely lowered
- Requires the least amount of stacking space for soft shades
- Most popular shade style as it showcases any fabric (patterned or solid) perfectly

Relaxed

- Soft folds at bottom hem will remain in any shade position
- Suggested for outside mount only

Hobbled

- Folds remain when shade is completely lowered
- May require dressing as shade is raised and lowered to keep folds looking voluminous
- Pattern disruption may occur as folds overlap one another

Knife Pleat

- Stiffener dowels sewn into pockets on the back of shade
- Creates crisp folds with little need of dressing when raise and lowered
- Pattern disruption may occur as pockets are sewn from face of shade to back, tucking pattern into folds

Ribbed Pleat

- Stiffener dowels sewn into pockets on the face of shade
- Creates crisp folds with little need of dressing when raise and lowered
- Has dimension on face of shade when completely lowered
