

Verizon vs. Boost Mobile 12-Month Phone Plan Recommendation Report

Introduction:

There is currently an overwhelming number of phone plans for consumers to choose from when they purchase a mobile phone. In this report, I will compare two of the best unlimited plans available to everyday consumers: The Boost Mobile Unlimited Annual Plan and the Verizon Visible Base Annual Phone Plan.

Comparisons

Cost

- Boost Mobile is $25 per month for 1 line.
- Verizon is $22.92 per month for 1 line.

Hotspot Data

- Boost Mobile offers 5Mbps of hotspot data.
- Verizon offers 12GB of hotspot data.

Video Content Streaming

- Boost Mobile provides video content streaming at 1.5Mbps.
- Verizon provides video content streaming at 2Mbps.

Additional Devices

- Boost Mobile does not allow customers to add additional devices.
- Verizon allows customers to add a smartwatch to their plan for an additional $10 per month.

Conclusion

Verizon's Visible Baser Annual Plan is a better buy for consumers hoping to get the best value out of their phone plan. For a lower price than Booster, they receive more features and benefits.

Both plans feature unlimited text and calling. They are also both renewed on a yearly basis. However, the additional features not provided by Booster make the Verizon plan the better buy.

<https://airtable.com/appQ7TstG5Wn17FjY/shrraH105YVJQF2Yr/tblE1phJr6l27XBGE/viwJO8hODbaFjcMZ>

<https://www.bestphoneplans.net/plans/visible-base-annual>

<https://www.bestphoneplans.net/plans/boost-mobile-unlimited-annual>