

THE REMEMBRANCE PROJECT ORIGINS ★★☆☆

IN COMMEMORATION OF THE 101ST AIRBORNE "THE GAME THAT NEVER HAPPENED"

Believing that a WWII victory was imminent, American forces and their French allies organized and held tryouts for an American style football game. They named it the "Champagne Bowl" and set it to be played on Christmas Day, 1944.

Events took place that cancelled the game, as the 101st Airborne was called to the Ardennes to help in what would become known as the Battle of the Bulge. The Champagne Bowl was forgotten, it was the "The Game That Never Happened."

In 2017 Helen Patton, General Patton's granddaughter, became aware of the history of the Champagne Bowl of 1944. She began communicating with the 101st Airborne to plan this game at the 2018 D-Day Commemorations in France.

The effort was realized, the flag football game was played at the D-Day Commemorations in 2018 to remember the Champagne Bowl and to honor General Patton and the men that fought alongside him. What is now called the Remembrance Bowl returns to the D-Day Commemorations each year.

"Who knows how many of those guys made it home, let alone by Christmas, and as you know what that Christmas was like. So, I thought it would be a good idea to play The Game That Never Happened at an event where people come from all over the world to honor and remember. It's a new way to commemorate. It's a way to turn the page of history. We can do this in their stead."

~Helen Ayer Patton
