Keith's Thoughts

I understand that the Recycling tour was interesting and educational. Unfortunately, between the time I organized the tour and it happening my wife scheduled shoulder surgery two days before the tour. That appeared to be manageable until I strained my back helping her out of her chair after surgery. So, I missed the event but Kirk Anderson provided a write up and Rick Carter took the pictures. Three weeks later I am pleased to say that Jan is healing well.

Last year the Garrett Retirees Club folded after several decades of service. The club was exclusively for ex Garrett and Air Research employees. As both Garrett and Air Research were divisions of Honeywell, our club has extended an invitation to their members to join our club and several have joined already. The Board and I would like to extend a welcome to our latest members and look forward to seeing them at our events.

Over the years members move and change phone numbers etc. so our Membership Manager Barbara Brockett has an article in this newsletter reminding members to update their information if circumstances change.

Plans are taking shape for our annual Spring Picnic. Last year we were celebrating the combining of the HRSC and AAC clubs and had about 135 attendees setting a new record. I am hoping that we can maintain or exceed that level of interest this year. We have looked for other venues to hold the event in a more central location for our members and also because Peoria has increased the Ramada fees by 160%. However, we have yet to find a suitable alternative so this year will be in the same location.

The Caribbean Cruise is coming up in March. I do not know the deadline to sign up but suggest that you move quickly if you still want to go.

The Southwest Tour in March will be our 8th visit. Some members have gone more than once as each tour has been different and interesting. Last time we went they were just bringing their new hanger inline and fitting out the Garrett APU service room. Normally we are given free run to explore an aircraft both inside and out. Where else can you sit in the pilots' seat of a B737?

Want an idea of a place to take your grandchildren? Check out the Museum of Illusions Exhibit on Saturday April 12th. There are illusions there that would captivate and amuse young children and teenagers alike as well as us old folks.

We have not received any articles or stories from Honeywell divisions other than Aerospace. I am sure that someone must have an interesting story or project that they worked on that is worth telling us about. Send suggestions to hrac.navigators@gmail.com.

Keith Hughes.

A Note from the HRAC Membership Manager

Part of the HRAC mission is to provide social activities, fellowship, communication and information for the enjoyment and welfare of our members. An up-to-date membership roster is critical to this mission. Some members relocate to join retirement communities or to be closer family. Some cancel their landline or add cellular phones. Others change their e-mail address or opt out of electronic communications. With these dynamics, we are sometimes left with no way to contact some members.

To keep our members connected and up to date on news and events, I need your help.

1. Please submit any updates to your address, phone number(s) or email by:
 - Completing and mailing the attached membership form OR
 - Submitting changes on-line: Manage Your Membership \(hracaz.org\)
2. Please consider adding your spouse or partner's email address as a back-up contact. We will also send them the monthly newsletter if that option is selected.

In the spirit of member fellowship, this newsletter includes the annual publication of member's email addresses. For privacy purposes, only the addresses of those who provided approval are included. We hope this list helps you connect with friends and colleagues. We take your data privacy seriously, so this information is only delivered in the print and email newsletter; it will NOT be posted on the website.

If you have any questions about your newsletter delivery, membership data or dues, feel free to contact me. Thank you for your help and membership!

Recycling Tour Report

Unfortunately, I was unable to attend this event but Kirk Anderson has provided a brief report and Rick Carter took the pictures. Thank you. Keith.

The recycling tour was very interesting and everyone was very engaged. We learned that there are two parts to the Transfer center: one is the recycling half and the other is normal landfill stuff and nothing stays at the Transfer station hence the name

We also learned the following

- All plastic bottles can be recycled and are sent to Mexico to return as a new bottle in the states
- If you are recycling glass, take off any lid and send it with the glass botch, otherwise, the glass might break
- if you are recycling aluminum, crunch it up into a baseball size ball, to give it more weight so it will be sent to the correct place
- do not put any recyclable into a plastic bag

Honeywell's Sky Harbor Flight Test Operations Tour

Thirty attendees toured Honeywell's Sky Harbor flight test operations in January. Honeywell's test pilots and engineers explained the aircraft test platforms and technology under development. We spent time on-board the fascinating Boeing 757-200 test aircraft and got a close-up view of their Embraer E170, Dassault Falcon 900EX and Agusta AW-139 helicopter. A few members even got some time in the cockpit. Despite delays with security processing, the group was gracious and patient and enjoyed the tour and catching up with friends.

Southwest Airlines - March 13th

It is the 8th time to tour the popular SW Airlines Maintenance Facility again. Last time we had a very interesting presentation on the origins of SW and toured the new hanger still under construction. The only 2 aircraft available to view were on the apron and closed up but our host pushed some steps up to one and opened the door for us. After that we are on our own so several of us sat in the cockpit, tried out the seats in the cabin and marveled at the small galley and toilets. Every tour is different. Once we sat in a brand-new aircraft with 5 flight hours and had not entered service.

This free tour is planned for Thursday March 13th at 10 am, but names of all attendees are required in advance for security purposes. This will be our 8th tour and spaces fill quickly. I have to limit the group to 40 for practical reasons.

To register sent the full names of all in your party to Keith Hughes at keith8411@cox.net or go to events for the Southwest Airlines tour to signup

"Yeston and Arthur Kopit's Phantom" is a musical adaptation of Gaston Leroux's famous novel "The Phantom of the Opera." The musical follows the plot written by Leroux and provides a deeper insight into every character, their motivations, and their back stories. We begin by meeting Eric – disfigured from birth yet as beautiful on the inside as he is misshapen on the outside. He was hidden beneath the famous Paris Opera House to live out his years. When an untalented egomaniacal Diva takes over the Opera House, the musical environment so dear to his life, and on which he subsists, he is shattered. When seeking a voice and a singer to restore the beauty, he finds himself falling in love with Christine Daae. This beloved story version of "Phantom" features a score that blends elements of classical and contemporary musical theatre styles while providing a fresh take on one of literature's most iconic characters.

DETAILS: Lunch service starts at noon; the show begins at 2 p.m.

Sperry Flight Systems, Phoenix, Arizona

January 1978

SPERRY'S ON BOARD — The Avionics Division will supply standard IFR equipment for the new Bell 222, scheduled for production delivery beginning in 1979.

Bell makes Sperry standard on 222

A long-term production contract for single pilot IFR automatic flight control systems in the new Bell 222 helicopter has further solidified Sperry's dominance in the rotary wing avionics systems market.

The contract from Bell Helicopter Textron to the Avionics Division of Sperry Flight Systems makes Sperry IFR equipment standard on the 222. John Dietrich, Avionics Division marketing manager for OEM helicopter product sales, said that achieving a standard position on the 222 gives Sperry a base from which to develop and introduce ever more advanced and cost effective avionics systems for the full range of the helicopter market.

"The significance of this award goes far beyond the size of the contract itself," Dietrich said. "This is the first significant contract from a helicopter airframe manufacturer to an avionics supplier with a production quantity commitment for integrated automatic flight control and avionics systems over an extended period of years."

Dietrich said the Bell-Sperry contract extends into the 1980s and specifies that every 222 built with single pilot IFR capability will be Sperry equipped. He added that the 222 will be the first new helicopter to enter the corporate market designed with single pilot capability.

Bell plans to obtain FAA certification for the 222 this year and deliver the first production machine in early 1979. Bell has prospective buyers for more than 100 of its 222s in the business and commercial market. The 222 is also a competitor for the U.S. Coast Guard Short Range Recovery (SRR) helicopter program.

BO-105, 109A win single pilot STCs

At the end of 1977, Sperry doubled the number of helicopters certified for single pilot IFR operations with its HelCIS/Helipilot systems as the MBB Boeing Vertol BO-105 and the Agusta 109A received FAA approval for virtually unlimited all-weather operations.

On Nov. 28, STC SH2679SW issued to Associated Air Center, Dallas, cleared the BO-105 for full single pilot IFR, followed less than a month later by the award of STC SH2699SW to Atlantic Aviation for the 109A.

Thus, the BO-105 and 109A joined the Aerospatiale Gazelle and the Bell 212 in the stable of single pilot IFR helicopters. Both the BO-105 and 109A were certified for IFR operations with basic stability and attitude retention
