Introduction to the readings

Isaiah teaches all those who live in darkness, distress, and the shadow of death that there's hope: a light will dawn to bring joy.

The Psalmist points to the Lord as our light and salvation. Those who trust in him don't need to be afraid as God himself will be our shelter and stronghold in times of danger.

At first glance Paul's letter to the Corinthians doesn't talk about the Lord as our light, yet he points clearly to Jesus Christ who isn't divided. Despite the divisions in the congregation, Paul's compelled to preach the gospel of the cross of Christ which is the power of God for those being saved.

In the gospel reading we hear Jesus, who is the light of God, calling people to repent because the kingdom of heaven was near. He also calls his first disciples: Peter, Andrew, James, and John.
