SOKOL MEMORIAL DAY OCTOBER 8

Sokol Memorial Day honors the memory of more than 1,500 members of the nation's oldest athletics association, who were arrested by the Gestapo on Oct. 8, 1941 by the order of Reich protector Reinhard Heydrich. The arrested members of Sokol were tortured and sent to Nazi concentration camps, with only few of them surviving the war. During the following years of World War II, thousands more Sokol members died. Despite the danger they faced, many of them participated in Heydrich's assassination.
