SOKOL MEMORIAL DAY OCTOBER 8

Sokol Memorial Day honors the memory of more than 1,500 members of the nation's oldest athletics association, who were arrested by the Gestapo on Oct. 8, 1941 by the order of Reich protector Reinhard Heydrich. The arrested members of Sokol were tortured and sent to Nazi concentration camps, with only few of them surviving the war. During the following years of World War II, thousands more Sokol members died. Despite the danger they faced, many of them participated in Heydrich's assassination.

Building Renovation

Great news! We have finished our first phase of our improvements project. All 8 restrooms have had a total makeover. The front glass doors have been replaced with energy efficient glass. As you can see in the photos we have taken the tile away and have gone back to basics to the concrete. With these and future improvements we are wanting to have a fresh look but also be low maintenance upkeep.

We are working on future renovations and will keep the membership updated.

Thank you to all who keep supporting us to be able to do these renovations. We will continue to have fundraisers toward these projects. Be sure to follow us on Facebook, Instagram, X (Twitter) as well on our website www.sokolennis.com for future events.

October Is Czech Heritage Month in Texas

In 2019, over 2 million people in the United States reported being of Czech or Slovak heritage, according to the U.S. Census Bureau. Many of these individuals are descendants of Czech immigrants that settled in more rural parts of the country and, as a result, have developed their own unique culture that blends their Czech heritage with American traditions.

While there were several waves of immigration from the Czech Republic and the Slovak Republic, the first began in the latter portion of the nineteenth century and into the twentieth century. In the Midwest, one of the places these immigrants settled was in eastern Nebraska, and, according to the Czech Heritage Project, a large amount of the population there today still identifies with this heritage. Depending on the county, the number of people with Czech ancestry ranges from 15% up to 44%.

The Wilber Czech Festival, or Czech Days, is an area's heritage with an abundance of live music, used not only as an opportunity to gather but culture.

Even beyond these few days, the impacts of the typical to hear over radio stations, and stores and kolaches are popular throughout historically. The Czech Heritage Project reports a decreasing number of Czech fluently or know more than a few phrases, the culture's influence in the area remains visible. The rural nature of these communities preserved aspects of their heritage, which their descendants now celebrate.

festival held in Nebraska that celebrates the a parade, and a talent show. The festival is also to promote and perpetuate Czech

Czech community are still felt. Polka music is that sell specialized items such as sausages Czech communities. Although the Czech people in younger generations can speak

A similar trend can be observed in the South. The Texas State Historical Association states that thousands of immigrants from mostly Moravia traveled through Galveston and settled into about 250 different communities throughout Texas. The language tradition continues today, which the Texas Almanac contributes to the fact that it is formally taught in several schools. However, the Czech spoken in this area is different from the Czech spoken overseas. Because many of these individuals were from the Moravian region, the Statesmen reports that the Texan Czech dialect is closer to "old Moravian" and absorbed German terms as it evolved.

Several Czech festivals occur in Texas, such as Westfest, where the community celebrates its heritage over several days. However, the unique blend of Czech and Texan traditions is a little more prominent. Besides the dialect spoken there, some aspects of the festival might be unfamiliar to someone who grew up in the Czech Republic. Polka music is heard playing by those riding attractions at the fair, another very American tradition. Additionally, although beauty pageants occur in other parts of the world, pageants in the United States are very popular and widespread. Westfest holds its own contest each year, crowning a "Miss Westfest" clad in a kroj.

The influence of Czech culture in Texas also remains apparent beyond this celebration. Cities with names like Praha, after the capital of the Czech Republic, and Moravia can be found between San Antonio and Houston. Several radio stations continue to play polka music, and the kolache is prevalent throughout the state, although the food known by Texans is different from the Czech variety. Like in the Midwest, the isolated nature of these towns allowed these communities to retain aspects of their heritage.

While some festivals in the Czech Republic center around celebrating folk traditions, such as the Ride of the Kings that features traditional dress and dancing, the celebrations in America are unique. In both the Midwest and the South, descendants of Czech immigrants continue to celebrate their heritage through these events.

American Sokol cordially invites our Sokol members & friends to attend the XXV Sokol Slet June 25-29, 2025 near Chicago!

Dear American Sokol Units,

The American Sokol is thrilled to announce the return of our traditional gathering of gymnasts, members, families, and partner organizations in the Chicago area during the summer of 2025. This 5-day event is a celebration of sport, recreation, culture and fitness and we are extending the invitation now to garner your support and we hope you will join us for a memorable week.

American Sokol competitive events will include artistic gymnastics, volleyball, fitness challenge, pickleball and golf. We'll also have fun social events for our participants including a fun run/walk, a celebratory banquet, social events at our local Sokol halls, a visit to our Sokol museum, a victory dance for our competitors, and a demonstration of mass calisthenics at our official Slet performance. There will be youth, family, and adult events to choose from.

We would be honored to have you and your organization to attend as participants or spectators. A tentative schedule of events is included and more information will be available during the virtual American Sokol Town Hall meeting on September 30, 2024. You can also visit our website, <https://americansokol.org/>, to view updated information and registration for the events in October 2024.

Please extend an invitation to all your staff and friends and extend a hearty Sokol greeting from all of us at American Sokol. This event promises to be a dynamic international gathering where bonds of friendship will be strengthened or forged anew.

We look forward to having you in Chicago in June 2025. If you have any questions or would like to discuss the specifics, please email slet@americansokol.org.

Nazdar!
