Our privacy statement relates to the details we ask for when you join Kingsway Power or attend trials

Kingsway Power is subject to the requirements set out in the General Data Protection Regulation ('GDPR') and the Data Protection Act 2018. We take our responsibility to look after personal data very seriously.

Our privacy statement explains how we collect, use and look after personal data.

Personal data is any information relating to an identified or identifiable living person.

THE DATA PROTECTION PRINCIPLES

The GDPR includes six principles that organisations must apply when they collect and use personal data. These principles are:

1. Personal data must be processed in a manner which is lawful, fair and transparent. This means that when we collect and use personal information we must have a lawful basis for doing so, we must consider the rights and interests of the person the data is about, and provide clear information about our use of the data.
2. Personal data must be collected for specified, explicit and legitimate purposes and not used in any ways which are incompatible with those purposes. When we collect personal data we must be very clear about why we need it and what we will do with it. If we collect personal data for one purpose may not use it for an unconnected purpose.
3. Personal data we collect must be adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary for the purposes for which it is used. This means must make sure that we only collect and use personal data that is strictly necessary for our stated purpose or purposes.
4. Personal data must be accurate, and where necessary, kept up to date. We are required to take all reasonable steps to ensure that the personal data held is correct and kept up to date. This means that from time to time, we will review the personal data we hold and we may contact you to make sure the personal data we have about you is current and does not contain any errors.
5. Personal data must be kept in a format which allows identification for no longer than is necessary for the purposes for which it is used. In some cases, it may only necessary for us to be able to directly identify an individual for a short period of time. When we no longer need to be able to identify an individual we will anonymise the personal data. Where personal data is anonymised and the data subject in no longer identifiable that data will cease to be personal data.
6. Personal data must be used in a manner that ensures appropriate security of the data.

This means that our policies, procedures, systems and working practices must ensure that personal data is protected from unlawful access and is kept secure at all times.
