

Happy is the man whose hand lies on
The wheels of power
Happier still the man whose power
Cannot be turned Happiest of all the man on whom
Power has no grip
The first man cries "I make the way of the world!"
The second cries "The world makes way for me!"
The third says little as he and the world make their way through one another.