BARBARA KOHL-SPIRO

Barbara Kohl-Spiro has spent her career exalting the handmade, domesticated details of traditional women's work. Through her paintings, she celebrates the domestic while also elevating traditionally female, oftentimes anonymous and, therefore, marginalized, expressions to the level of fine art. Through her exploration of pattern, she sees her work as reflecting the natural world while also spanning generations. "Women in all cultures express themselves through pattern and textile and I feel the importance of joining my voice to the universal language spoken by all women in all cultures."

Barbara Kohl-Spiro has exhibited internationally, including at the Hudson River Museum in Yonkers, NY, the Kohler Art Museum in Sheboygan, WI, and the Israel Museum in Jerusalem. Her work has been displayed in the U.S. Embassy in Prague and is in the collections of the Albright Knox Museum in Buffalo, the Milwaukee Art Museum, and in private collections around the world.
