

What It Means

Follow the rhythm on the wave of a memory sit back and think about the difference between want and need I've been alive for some time and they still don't agree for it gets lost in the cost of the currency it's up and then it comes down it's reality

I don't know what it mean, don't know what it means I don't know what it means, don't know what it means

Son of a man that came from nothing but family sit back and think about the lifestyle handed to me I've been alive for some time and I still can't believe it flip off the television angry at what I see there's people shooting through satellites aiming at me

I don't know what the means, don't know what it means
I don't know what the means, don't know what it means
I don't know what it means, anything at all at all....at all....at all

When nothing settles down, wait for now, wait for now, wait for now

Shake up and separate the madness and harmonize I'd like to step into my shoes with a new pair of eyes I've been alive for sometime and I still can't decide said what'd you bring and what'd you gamble what'd you leave lift up your sleeve lift up your sleeve and let your heart beat

I don't know what the means, don't know what it means
I don't know what the means, don't know what it means
I don't know what it means, anything at all

It's Better Now

Like a ship on the ocean, like a bird in the breeze I was born from emotion and it's all over me yes it's all good and it's better now and it's all good and it's better now see trouble cuts like a diamond worry burns like a coal both hit like a heavyweight fist, a right hook to your nose

And it's all good, and it's better now
and it's all good, keep it steady now

And when the man come taking you down shaking you down no don't you let him
and when the man come taking you down shaking you down
no don't you let him
and when the man come taking you down shaking you down don't you let him around

I knock the moss off the backwood bricks and light a blaze with the backyard sticks i'm in love with a woman like this, in love with a woman like this

and it's all good, keep it steady now

no don't you let him
and when the man come taking you down shaking you down
no don't you let him
and when the man come taking you down shaking you down

Can't Catches Up
You talk so tough when you make it up yea use the stuff use your guts all tuned up got your teeth all brushed remove the crust remove the dust from porcelain oh i'm wearing thin lead me in and read it again, and again, and again

I can't catches up...

So check this out it's a sea of doubt it's a burnt out lung it's a bite mark on the tongue it's a quit before you've begun and it's a drag when it should be fun it's a drag when it should be fun

So from the top this ain't no hip hop this ain't no disco this ain't no subpop i'm waking up to fill my cup but darlin I can't catches up

I can't catches up...

But you never should run if you can't walk never should scream if you can't talk never should bite what you can't chew never should hate what you can't do

I can't catches up...

Most Of Us

These four walls they wrap around me close like garments music hold me up like a harness above treacherous roads X's and O's i'm addicted to the soul it's a hard rock to roll dollars vs senses the latter's always losing and the former's always spent I'm in the middle on the fence, staring at a ghost howling in mics I'm shooting shit with the folk and

Most of us we rush til dust we plow the field, we must we must push on share a little light and get gone
share a little light and get gone

Sit alone and contemplate hours on the road staring through lines and as we roll over mountains and plains past generations and previous names the profit's insane for the media mainframe hardwires your brain with a negative strain ain't it a shame, ain't it a joke a life spent lying for the popular vote and

Most of us we rush til dust
share a little light and get gone

And by the way I heard you say you hate the way we act today so come on
share a little light and get gone
share a little light and get gone

In the broken arms of the modern age In the burnin thoughts on a scattered page login and see the brand new rage and get a view from a brand new cage but it's all the same it's still a cage

So while the rain falls on the roof I been drinking the elixir of a hundred proof I've been circling the problems how to solve them how to skip around all the cynical political ambiguous and dismal the highly divisible, an ocean of bad ideas so unoriginal it's pitiful the tragedies are visceral everything's fear based everyone's fearful

Most of us we rush til dust
share a little light and get gone

share a little love and get gone
share a little light and get gone get gone...

What's Around You
In these trying times with your life out on the line are you shuffling for the exits or clogging up the aisles are you bound to this, are you caught up in a myth are you struggling to surrender the things you should resist is it out of line, is the clock you wear on time is it spinning in uncertainty or turned by the divine

It is time to notice what's around you

Engines turn with the fuel we buy to burn with the currency that separates, alienates, and delegates-man bound to this do we speed or do we shift do we hitch a ride on planes that glide and disappear dismissed my senses feel that the urgency is real that the ghost of our future selves scratching at our heels

Well i almost had enough now almost had enough now
almost had enough now
almost had enough now
almost had enough now
almost had enough now
almost had enough now
almost had enough now

In these trying time with your life out on the line are you shuffling for the exits of clogging up the aisles?
