

Freelance Sales & Marketing Associate (Part-time)

THE LONDON BOOK EDITORS

The London Book Editors is a team of book editors from major publishing companies (big five) and prestigious independent publishers who worked on bestselling titles. We offer professional and upmarket editing services to independent authors and publishing houses across Europe and North America.

POSITION

We are looking for a motivated Freelance Sales & Marketing Associate with prior experience in the publishing industry (ideally as an editor or marketing professional at a major publishing house) and a minimum of two years professional experience.

The candidate will be responsible for sourcing new customers in the European and North American markets.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- independently identifying and pursuing new business opportunities (independent authors and publishing houses)
- Build relationships with potential clients and developing new business

REQUIREMENTS

- Keen interest in books and the publishing industry
- Prior experience in the publishing industry or a related field advantageous (ideally as an editor or marketing professional at a major publishing house)
- Self-motivated and highly goal-oriented
- Strong attention to detail and good follow-through
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills
- Native English speaker or bilingual proficiency
- Able to work independently in a home office

COMMITMENT AND REMUNERATION

- Given the entrepreneurial nature of the position, we do not require candidates to work specific or minimum hours, thus allowing them to either gradually transition into this position or to pursue this career in addition to their current work.
- This is a commission only position. The commission plan is very generous and has an opportunity for bonuses.

APPLICATION

- Please send your CV, cover letter, university diploma (incl. grades) and references to info@thelondonbookeditors.com