

Welcome to Against the Grain cafe and bakery, home of the largest gluten-free menu in the nation. Our goal is to bring you affordable and delicious food that your friends and family can all thoroughly enjoy, whether they are gluten free or not.

We personally hand-make all of our doughs and batters from scratch using our own specially crafted recipes. It is usually more delicious than the “normal” wheat-based versions. Why? Well, to put it plainly, other restaurants don’t use wheat because it is the most delicious, they use it because it is the cheapest. When we replace the wheat, you get better-tasting food.

You might notice that our menu is wide-ranging and rather eclectic. ATG owners, Amanda and Justin, are celiac sufferers who had given up on being able to dine out safely. They began dreaming of a place where the gluten-free community could safely enjoy something they’re not used to having - choices. The menu is full of items that you cannot find anywhere else and probably haven’t been able to enjoy for years. We hope that you return again and again to enjoy our extensive offerings.

You also might notice that our menu prices are very reasonable compared to the typical gluten-free restaurant options. We find it problematic that other companies use our medical condition as an excuse to increase their profits. Our goal is to disrupt these exploitative practices by providing you with an affordable dining experience that your whole family can enjoy.

We offer breakfast, lunch, and dinner all day long. Many of our dishes can be prepared dairy-free, please look for our dairy-free symbol on the menu: ⚡. Vegan menu options can be found with the following symbol: ☑.
