

I'm not robot

Continue

Corporate sustainability at a crossroads pdf

Share this email New from McKinsey & Company A closer look at valuation Not all industries have performed equally since the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic. Take, for instance, the diverging fortunes of the commercial-aerospace and high-tech sectors. Gain perspective on shifts in the past year and get smart on all things valuation, including: A continually updated interactive on industry valuation since the pandemic began Understanding valuation and the stock market How to measure and manage company value Warren Buffett: An appreciation As Warren Buffett turns 90, the story of one of America's most influential and wealthy business leaders is a study in the logic and discipline of understanding future value. Look closer The great acceleration The COVID-19 crisis has intensified existing trends, widening the gap between those at the top and bottom of the power curve of economic profit. Will your strategy keep you ahead of the accelerated pace of change? Unlock big moves Follow our thinking McKinsey Insights - Get our latest thinking on your iPhone, iPad, or Android Copyright © 2021 | McKinsey & Company, 3 World Trade Center, 175 Greenwich Street, New York, NY 10007 It appears you don't have support to open PDFs in this web browser. To view this file, Open with your PDF reader David Kiron is the executive editor of MIT Sloan Management Review. He can be contacted at dkiron@mit.edu. Gregory Unruh is the Arison Professor of Values Leadership at George Mason University and guest editor for MIT SMR's Big Idea sustainability initiative. He can be contacted at gregoryunruh@gmail.com. Nina Kruschwitz is the former senior project manager of MIT Sloan Management Review. Martin Reeves is a senior partner and managing director in The Boston Consulting Group's New York office and head of BCG's Henderson Institute. He can be contacted at reeves.martin@bcg.com. Holger Rubel is a senior partner and managing director and global sustainability lead in The Boston Consulting Group's Frankfurt office. He can be contacted at rubel.holger@bcg.com. Alexander Meyer Zum Felde is an expert principal for sustainability in The Boston Consulting Group's Hamburg office. He can be contacted at meyerzumfelde.alexander@bcg.com. Contributors MIT Sloan Management Review Cheryl Asselin, managing editor Carolyn Ann Geason, designer Elizabeth Hamblin, web production editor Max Harless, graphics Janet Parkinson, copy editor Lauren Rosano, associate director, digital media The Boston Consulting Group Hanna Asmussen, associate Matthew Clark, global marketing director - strategy Elena Corrales, lead knowledge analyst Hans-Georg Höllerer, associate Sophie Zielcke, consultant A special thank you to Knut Haanaes, who left BCG in 2016 to become a professor of strategy and international management at IMD in Lausanne, Switzerland. Knut played a key role in setting up the partnership between MIT SMR and BCG in 2008, when he was a senior partner and managing director for BCG. Knut made countless contributions to our research during the past eight years, even after he became the leader of BCG's Global Strategy Practice. Acknowledgments* *Titles and affiliations listed were current at time of interview. Shai Agassi, founder and CEO, Better Place Francois Ajenstat, director of environmental sustainability, Microsoft Corp. Tom Albanese, CEO, Rio Tinto Ray Anderson, founder and chairman, Interface Daniel Aronson, founder, Valutus Brian Bacon, chairman, Oxford Leadership Academy Christine Bader, author, The Evolution of a Corporate Idealist: When Girl Meets Oil Balu Balagopal, senior partner and managing director, The Boston Consulting Group Antoni Ballabriga, global head of responsible business, BBVA Tima Bansal, director, Network for Business Sustainability Naty Barak, chief sustainability officer, Netafim Dan Bena, senior director of sustainable development, PepsiCo Inc. Carl E. Binning, vice president health, environment, safety and community, BHP Billiton Betsy Blaisdell, senior manager of environmental stewardship, The Timberland Company Edgar Blanco, research director, MIT Center for Transportation & Logistics, MIT David Blood, senior partner, Generation Investment Management Andreas Bluethner, director of food fortification & partnerships, BASF Roberto Bocca, director, emerging consumer markets, BP Alternative Energy Roberta Bowman, senior vice president and chief sustainability officer, Duke Energy Sheila Bowman, senior manager of outreach and education, Seafood Watch Michael Bremans, chairman, Ecover Belgium NV David Bresch, head of sustainability and political risk management, Swiss Re Peter Bryant, partner, Clareo Partners; senior fellow, Kellogg Innovation Network, Kellogg School of Management Bastian Buck, director reporting standard, Global Reporting Initiative John Buckley, global head, corporate social responsibility, BNY Mellon Robin Chase, cofounder and former CEO, Zipcar; founder, Buzzcar Matthew Clark, marketing director strategy, The Boston Consulting Group Jason Clay, senior vice president, market transformation, WWF John Compton, CEO, PepsiCo America Foods Douglas Conant, former CEO, Campbell Soup Company; founder, ConantLeadership Ken Cottrill, writer, MIT Center for Transportation & Logistics, MIT Jérôme Courcier, CSR officer, Sustainable Development Division, Crédit Agricole S.A. Vivienne Cox, executive vice president, BP Robert Eccles, professor of management, Harvard Business School; chairman, Arabesque Partners John Ehrenfeld, executive director, International Society for Industrial Ecology John Elkington, founder, SustainAbility Steve Eppinger, professor of management science and innovation, MIT Sloan School of Management Shelly Esque, vice president of legal and corporate affairs, Intel and chair of the board of the Intel Foundation Dan Esty, professor of environmental law and policy, Yale University Thomas J. Falk, CEO, Kimberly-Clark Suzanne Fallender, director of CSR strategy & communications, Intel Corporation Alyssa Farrell, marketing manager for sustainability solutions, SAS Lewis Fix, vice president of brand management and sustainable product development, Dornier Steve Fludder, vice president, Ecoimagination, GE Nick Folland, group corporate affairs, Kingfisher Jay Forrester, Gormeshausen Professor Emeritus of Management, MIT Sloan School of Management Kathy Gerwig, vice president of employee safety, health and wellness and environmental stewardship, Kaiser Permanente Brian Gonzalez, director of global education sales, Intel Santiago Gowland, vice president of brand & global corporate responsibility, Unilever Peter Graf, chief sustainability officer, SAP AG Aida Greenbury, managing director of sustainability & stakeholder engagement, Asia Pulp & Paper Scott Griffin, CEO, Greif Corporation Brad Haebler, vice president of marketing, Siemens Hal Hamilton, codirector, Sustainable Food Laboratory Amy Hargroves, director of corporate responsibility, Sprint Katie Harper, manager, sustainable supply chains, Sears Canada Stuart Hart, S.C. Johnson Chair in Sustainable Global Enterprise, Samuel Curtis Johnson Graduate School of Management, Cornell University Jørgen Ole Haslestad, president and CEO, Yara Paul Hawken, author, environmentalist and CEO, Biomimicry Ventures Group Rebecca Henderson, Senator John Heinz Professor of Environmental Management, Harvard Business School Howard Herzog, principal research engineer, MIT Laboratory for Energy and the Environment Dan Hesse, CEO, Sprint Nextel Corporation Andrew Hewitt, founder, Gamechangers 500 John Hofmeister, founder and CEO, Citizens for Affordable Energy Jeff Hollender, chief inspired protagonist and cofounder, Seventh Generation Patrick Hynes, deputy director of member relations, Clinton Global Initiative Al Iannuzzi, senior director of worldwide health and safety, Johnson & Johnson Ioannis Ioannou, associate professor of strategy and entrepreneurship, London Business School Mitch Jackson, director of environmental affairs and sustainability, FedEx Olivier Jaeggi, founder and managing partner, ECOFACT Jason Jay, director, MIT Sloan Initiative for Sustainable Business and Society, MIT Sloan School of Management Hans Jöhr, corporate head of agriculture, Nestlé SA Nathan Jones, vice president for government and institutional sales, HTI, Eastman Chemical Kim Jordan, founder, New Belgium Brewing Patricia Jurawicz, director, Responsible Sourcing Network Charles Kane, president & chief operating officer, One Laptop Per Child Georges Kern, CEO, IWC William Kornegay, senior vice president, Hilton Worldwide Cary Krosinsky, adjunct lecturer, Brown University Bob Langert, vice president of corporate social responsibility, McDonald's Corp. Judith Layzer, associate professor of environmental policy, MIT Chris Librie, director, environmental initiatives, HP Bernard Lietzer, author and academic chairman, ACCESS Foundation Richard Liroff, executive director, Investor Environmental Health Network Richard Locke, deputy dean and professor of entrepreneurship, MIT Sloan School of Management Amory Lovins, cofounder, chairman, and chief scientist, Rocky Mountain Institute L. Hunter Lovins, president and founder, Natural Capital Solutions Mindy Lubber, president, CERES Christoph Luenenburger, leader of sustainability practice, Egon Zehnder Thomas Malone, professor of management, MIT Sloan School of Management David Mann, chief of staff, Khosla Ventures David Marks, Goulder Professor of Civil and Environmental Engineering and Engineering Systems, MIT Lord Robert May, professor, Oxford University and Imperial College, London William McDonough, founding partner, William McDonough and Partners Chris McGrath, vice president of external affairs, Kraft Foods Group Inc. Michael Meehan, CEO, Global Reporting Initiative Ronald J. Meissen, senior director of sustainability, Baxter Healthcare Corporation Tim Mohin, former director of sustainable development, Intel Ernie Moniz, director, MIT Energy Initiative Paul Murphy, CEO, Valid Nutrition Adil Najam, professor, Boston University Jacqueline Novogratz, founder and CEO, Acumen Fund Frank O'Brien-Bernini, chief sustainability officer, Owens Corning William O'Rourke, vice president, sustainability and environment, health, and safety, Alcoa Eric Olson, senior vice president, BSR Chris Page, director of climate and energy strategy, Yahoo! Kyung-Ah Park, managing director and head of environmental markets group, Goldman Sachs Rod Pearse, CEO and managing director, Boral Limited Claus Stig Pedersen, head of corporate sustainability affairs, Novozymes Mike Pedersen, group head, wealth management, TD Bank Andrew Pelletier, vice president of corporate affairs and sustainability, Walmart Canada Dierk Peters, director, WWF Sustainable Seafood Initiative John Pflueger, principal environmental strategist, Dell Inc. Chris Pinney, president, High Meadows Institute Paul Polman, CEO, Unilever Lawrence Pratt, senior lecturer, INCAE Business School Jorgen Randers, professor of climate strategy, Norwegian Business School Andreas Regnell, head of strategy and environment, Vattenfall John Reilly, senior lecturer, MIT Agneta Rising, vice president and head of environment, Vattenfall Dawn Rittenhouse, director of sustainable development, DuPont Harriet Ritvo, professor, MIT Walter Robb, co-president and CEO, Whole Foods Market Nick Robins, head, Climate Change Centre of Excellence, HSBC Catherine Roche, managing director, BCG Dusseldorf Jim Rogers, president and CEO, Duke Energy Cathy Ross, senior program officer, Latin America program, Open Society Foundations George Roth, principal research associate, MIT Sloan School of Management John Ruggie, Berthold Beitz Professor in Human Rights and International Affairs, Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University Gwen Ruta, vice president of corporate partnerships, Environmental Defense Fund Christian Rynning-Tønnesen, president and CEO, Statkraft John Sall, cofounder and executive vice president, SAS Gisela Sanchez Maroto, director of corporate relations, Florida Ice & Farm Co. Len Sauers, vice president of global sustainability, P&G William A. Sawyer, vice president and general manager, Intel Corp. Auden Schendler, vice president of sustainability, Aspen Sking Company Ryan Schuchard, associate director, climate change, Business for Social Responsibility John Schulz, director of sustainability operations, AT&T Inc. Peter Schwartz, co-founder and chairman, Global Business Network Jeff Seabright, vice president, environment and water resources, The Coca-Cola Company Omar Selim, CEO, Arabesque Peter Senge, senior lecturer, MIT Sloan School of Management Jeff Senne, corporate responsibility operations leaders, PwC Yossi Sheffi, professor, MIT; director, MIT Center for Transportation and Logistics Cameron Sinclair, executive director and co-founder, Architecture for Humanity Sarah Slaughter, senior lecturer, MIT Sloan School of Management Beth Springer, executive vice president of international and personal care, Clorox Dave Stangis, vice president of public affairs and corporate responsibility, Campbell Soup Company Hannah Clark Steiman, writer, Metamorphos/Us John Sterman, professor of management, MIT Sloan School of Management Mark Stoler, director, environmental, health and safety operations, General Electric Co. David Struhs, vice president of sustainability, Dornier Pamela Styles, principal, Next Level Investor Relations Joseph Sussman, JR East Professor of Civil and Environmental Engineering, MIT Graeme Sweeney, executive vice president of CO2, Royal Dutch Shell William A. Swope, vice president & general manager, corporate sustainability group, Intel Corp. Prasanna Tambe, professor, NYU Leonard Stern School of Business Zaid Tassabehji, director, utilities and asset management, Masdar Sarah Teslik, senior vice president, communications, public affairs and governance, Apache Corp. (ISF) Wood Turner, former vice president of sustainability innovation, Stonyfield Farm Mark Vachon, vice president, GE ecomagination, GE Susan Voigt, vice president, environment, health, safety and sustainability, Bristol-Myers Squibb Company Stefan Waechter, knowledge analyst, The Boston Consulting Group Inc. Vijay Waitheeswaran, correspondent, The Economist Andy Wales, vice president of sustainable development, SABMiller Brian Walker, CEO, Herman Miller Peggy Ward, director, enterprise sustainability strategy team, Kimberly-Clark Corporation Ulrich Wassmer, professor of strategy, EMLYON Business School Allen White, senior fellow and vice president, Tellus Institute Gaylon White, director of design programs, Eastman Chemical Peter White, director for global sustainability, Procter & Gamble Scott Wickers, chief sustainability officer, United Parcel Service Inc. Kathrin Winkler, chief sustainability officer, EMC Darcy Winslow, former general manager, sustainable business opportunities, Nike Don Young, senior vice president of corporate sustainability, Smith & Nephew