President's Message

Condolences to the Sacharov's on the loss of their daughter Caryn.

We wish a speedy recovery to Martha Friedman, Danit Finklestein, Norman Ferstenberg and Morton Cohen.

With this Sunday and Monday being Shavous and Monday is Yizkor. As s part of Yizkor, we pledge charity in memory of our departed family members. As this is the last Yizkor of the Hebrew year, I ask everyone to consider increasing their pledge, so that we can end the year on a positive note.

If anyone has some interesting plans for the summer and would like to write an article for the bulletin, please let Lynda Sacharov know. LSach@msn.com.

We have started to have some kiddushes, when there is a sponsor. If you would like to sponsor a kiddush, please let the Rebbetzin know so you can reserve a date.

VIEW FROM THE BIMAH

BH

When we received the Torah, 3,334 years ago, the Chumash describes our encampment with the words “vayichan sham Yisrael neged hahar” – “And he (Israel) camped there, opposite the mountain.” The commentators on the Chumash ask the obvious question: Rather than using the singular tense wouldn’t it make more grammatical sense were the verse to read vayachanu “And they camped...”?

Rashi explains that the word Vayichan is intentional. For when the Hebrews reached the other encampments they quarreled, but when they arrived at Sinai they were as “one man with one heart.” This signifies that unity was a prerequisite to receiving the Torah.

Each year, as we prepare to receive the Torah anew on Shavuot, we are reminded of this story to underscore the importance of reaching a state of harmony with ourselves and others. This is especially relevant as Shavuot comes on the heels of the period of the counting of the Omer, where minor mourning observances are practiced because of the plague that decimated the majority of the 24,000 students of Rabbi Akiva, close to 2,000 years ago. The Talmud tells of the spiritual cause of this plague – the students were not respectful to one another.

So how does one accomplish this? How do we rise above the pettiness that can sometimes drive us apart?

When our ancestors left Egyptian bondage they suddenly became aware of something they had been deprived of; their soul consciousness. Experiencing their sublime spiritual core, they were sensitized to the Divine reality that animates us all, a life-force emanating from the Oneness of G-d.

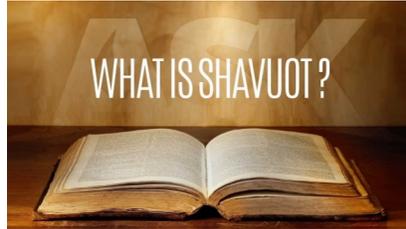

We too can achieve this by prioritizing soul over matter. When tuned in to the oneness of creation, the divisiveness of individualized fragmented living fades away. This is precisely what’s needed in order to present ourselves before Hashem on Shavuot to receive the Torah.

Wishing you a joyful reception of the Torah, deeply internalized.

Good Shabbos and good Yomtov!

RABBI Y. GOLDENBERG

Shavuot—or the Feast of Weeks—is a Jewish holiday, celebrated between June 4–6 on the Gregorian calendar. The holiday has both an agricultural and biblical significance. Agriculturally, it marks the wheat harvest in Israel. Biblically, it commemorates the day God gave the nation of Israel the Torah on Mount Sinai.

The holiday also book-ends the Counting of the Omer, a ritualized counting of each of the 49 days between Passover and Shavuot. The tradition represents the anticipation around God’s gift of the Torah.

It is celebrated by lighting candles, staying up all night to learn Torah, hearing the reading of the Ten Commandments in synagogue and feasting on dairy foods.

Young Israel Renovation Update

SISTERS IN THE HOOD

What do you say to someone whose child has died? The whole community sends condolences to Lynda and Aaron. Caryn had many challenges in life, but she worked with them. Lynda told me that Caryn was taking driving lessons on a modified car, one with hand controls. Lynda was very nervous, but Caryn wanted to do it.

Please remember that Young Israel and Chabad of Lawrenceville is here for you and the rest of the family. May you and the rest of your family and all mourners be comforted in Zion.

I would like to welcome home our members who were recently in the hospital and/or in rehab. As Dorothy said "there's no place like home"

Am I the only one who cannot find everything that was put away for Passover? I think that I put things away 4 years ago and have not found them yet. Here we are at Shavuot, 50 days after Passover and my kitchen is not what it should be. Maybe I have too much stuff. This year I did not even open all my crates of Passover things. If I did not use it, I most likely did not need it so it went in the trash.

Mazel Tov to Olga and Natan on the very recent marriage of their granddaughter Sarah. To continue with glad tidings; Happy anniversary to Nechama Dina and the Rabbi, I think it is 22 years. Happy birthday to Nechama Dina, Rivka (who will be 21, drinking age), Rochella (who is in her last year of High School and will be 18, voting age). Birthday wishes to Chatzkel, Bebe Brown and Lee Miller. Bill Aronoff and Lydia Bitcover will also celebrate summer birthdays. If you want your special occasion mentioned in this space, please get me the information.

I decided not to make cheesecake this year, but I will be making quiche. Bill bought 2 cheesecakes, as I had it on 2 shopping lists. He bought a sampler, 12 slices 2 of 6 flavors, and a lemon swirl, which is delish. We started early even changing dinner plans from meat to dairy.

We have no summer plans, but if you do, enjoy and be safe and careful whatever you do and where ever you go.

Carol for Sisterhood

A tribute to Caryn

For almost 11 years, Caryn's health had been relatively good... with the help of her great doctors. Aaron & I owe them our love and gratitude.

Her loss of independence bothered Caryn greatly. All she wanted was to get her driver's license. She took some lessons, and with her wonderful instructor, once again Caryn's determination paid off and I don't think I have ever seen a bigger smile on her face, than on that day, except maybe when Gunner came to live with her.

And then there are the Yankees... Caryn & I would watch "Wheel of Fortune" together, but it was the Yankees she shared with her father & sister. Last season we were fortunate to have gotten tickets. The tickets were in the wheelchair section behind home plate. It was our first time at the new stadium, and although it cost $45 to park, it was a wonderful day... except for the part when Aaron made an illegal u-turn... no problem though... understanding cop, and we easily made it to the game. Caryn wore her Yankee cap sideways on her head, looking so darn cute. Dayna stood and sang just about every song that was played. I don't remember if the Yankees won that day, but for the Sacharov's, it was a home run.

Here's the funny thing about watching a game at home... Aaron is in the den... Caryn is in her room. For some reason her TV signal is a few seconds faster than the one in the den, so if something good happened, Caryn would yell, yay!!! Or, "they stink", if something bad happened. So, Aaron would hear what happened before he saw it! It made for many laughs.

On February 25th Gunner died. It was a peaceful death and we were all with him. Who would have thought that just a couple of months later, we would lose our daughter?

Someone had once given me a story about the "rainbow bridge"... when a beloved pet dies, they cross over the "rainbow bridge" and there they meet new friends, and they all play together in the grassy meadows. But then... one day... a dog will stop and turn around and see their "human".

I find peace in picturing my sweet daughter, Caryn, spotting Gunner, as the two of them go running towards each other.

Until we are together again Caryn....143

Our sincere thank you...

To all those who came to offer comfort and help us make a minyan every night.
To all those who sent cards, flowers, made donations, the Sisterhood of YIOL and others who sent food...

You all helped make an unbearable time a bit more bearable. You distracted us so darkness wouldn't envelop us and helped us see the rainbow.

For all that, we will not only carry Caryn's memory with us, but also your kindness, sympathy and compassion.

Thank you dear congregants of YIOL.

Lynda, Aaron & Dayna Sacharov

A neighbor took a picture of this rainbow, on the first day of Shiva...

Ask The Rabbi....

Q: After the 7 day shiva period, why do we wait 30 additional days to "ease back into regular life"?

For clarification, the 30 days are part of the 7. The reason for the gradual lessening of mourning practices is that the intensity of mourning dissipates with time. Less strict rules about mourning reflects this reality. Ultimately, these customs and guidelines help us achieve a balance between the experience of intense grief we feel when losing a loved one, and the necessity to function for the benefit of ourselves, our family and society. But remember that all this is temporary. Soon Moshiach will come and grief will be a thing of the past.
