Our Mission

Heartstrings and Angel Wings is a non-profit charity organization which provides clothing and other handmade items for babies in Neonatal Intensive Care Units. The items we provide aid in comforting the babies and uplift the spirits of the baby's family members. Heartstrings and Angel Wings is recognized as tax-exempt under Internal Revenue Code section 501(c)(3).

Why support Heartstrings & Angel Wings?

Babies that are born prematurely face weeks to months in Neonatal Intensive Care. Families of premature babies face longer hospital stays and greater medical expenses for the mother and baby. The birth of a baby born prematurely is often out of emergency and unexpected—there is no time to prepare, there is often no explanation, and the experience is traumatic. After the NICU, some babies face lifelong illnesses or disabilities.

Heartstrings & Angel Wings steps in after the baby's birth to help the family and clothe their small miracle. We also provide bereavement gowns to those families facing a loss of their baby. We are a locally based (Breaux Bridge), non-profit organization started by the Patin family after their own experiences of the need for micro preemie clothing. Our clothing is lovingly handmade out of cute material suitable for a baby. Clothing is donated either directly to the family of a premature infant, or given to hospital representatives to distribute directly to their patients.

Heartstrings' goal is to make a family's time in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit a little easier—providing clothing to fit their 1-5 pound baby is a comfort that cannot be bought in the store. We also provide clothing for bereaved babies and other comfort items for the NICU.
