

ECA 24 Sunderland – Post-Conference Report

ECA Fund Recipient: Christopher Callaghan

The 2024 Early Career Anatomists Conference in Sunderland was an amazing experience. There were so many interesting presentations, including the use of AI in anatomy teaching and the use of VR in radiology teaching to name a few. I was also very grateful for the opportunity to present my insights into pursuing clinical medicine after my anatomy training, to ensure other junior anatomists were aware of these opportunities and the applicable skills that would allow them to thrive in that environment. It was also great to see old friends who have gone on to teach anatomy to the next generation of anatomists and doctors! This opportunity would not have been possible without the Early Career Anatomists bursary and so I am very grateful to the conference team and their many sponsors for providing this experience.
