"The Rule of Metal Guarantees Wealth"

Gold and Silver have always maintained global value - a supranational currency. Through the past, present, and certain future, these commodities have been the standard to diversify portfolios, hedge against inflation, and protect wealth. Rensa Street Capital is founded on these principles.

Confidence in Precious Metals

Gold, Silver, and Platinum are considered Precious Metals because of the rarity and expensive challenges to mine these elements. Historically, Gold and Silver were minted and used as legal tender. Today, these metals are still minted and used as currency, however their usage is far more diversified as a store of wealth, hedge against inflation, and protection from financial turmoil.
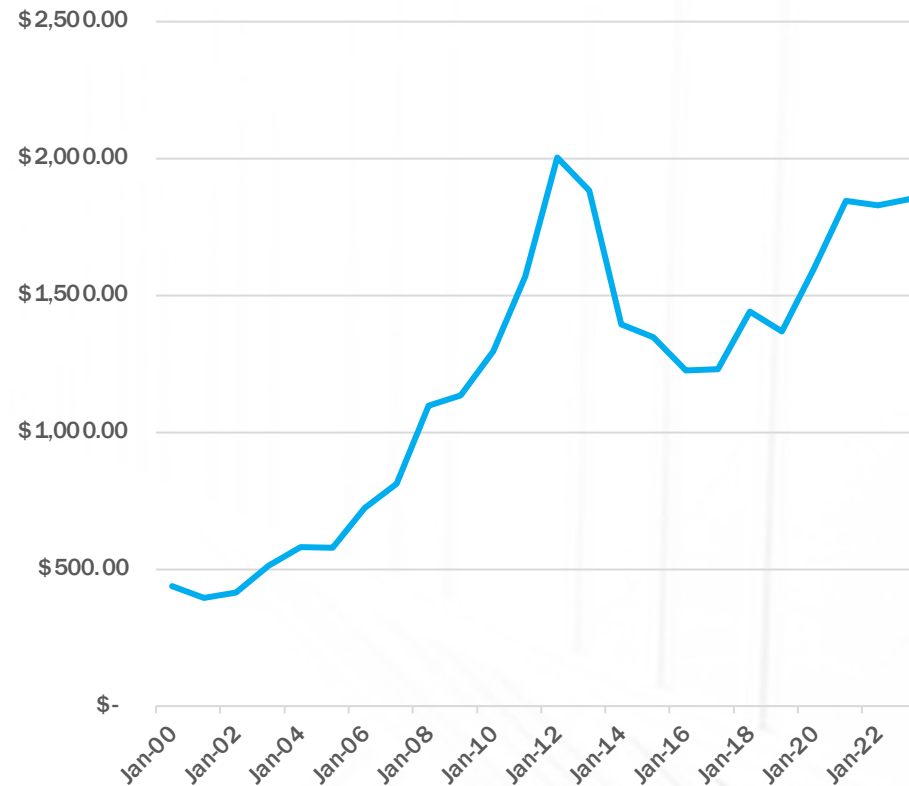

GOLD

Gold is one of the oldest forms of currency and its value is recognized around the globe.

Acquiring Gold provides wealth, diversity, and a tangible "safe haven" asset to protect against uncertainty

Analysts believe that gold prices may reach new highs throughout the next decade. Among the factors that may affect Gold prices:

- Inflation
- Currency Devaluation
- Growing Demand from Growing Economies (China, India, etc.)
- Industrial Usage of Gold
- Increased Demand from Central Banks

SILVER

Silver is one of the most popular Precious Metals mined for its industrial properties:

- Strength

- Malleability

- Electrical & Thermal Conductivity

- Natural Antibacterial Properties

- Ability to endure extreme temperature ranges

Nearly 75% of world Silver supply is used for industrial manufacturing in chemical reagents, medicine, medical instruments, solar panels, and televisions

On a Per-Ounce basis, Silver is the most affordable Precious Metal

In contract to other metals, it is difficult mining Silver because two-thirds of silver produced by mines is a by-product of other metals

Strong Industrial, Jewelry, and Investor demand set against a limited amount of annual production

Silver Prices (2000-2023)

PLATINUM

30 times rarer than Gold and more difficult to extract

Precious and Industrial Demand

- Auto Demand as a key component in catalytic converters which reduce emissions

- Turbine Engines

- Medical Devices

- Computers

- Petroleum Industry

Currency Movement - $USD rate against South African Rand and Russian Ruble (75% of world's platinum comes from these two nations, and purchased with US Dollars)

Crucial role in Hydrogen future - used in fuel cells and to produce green hydrogen through electrolysis of water using renewable energy
