

THE ROAD REPORT

DEPARTURE HAS ARRIVED!

Hi Friends! Well, the time has arrived! It is officially departure week. We pull out of the driveway in exactly 3 days! We've poured a lot of work and energy into booking speaking engagements, interviews with farmers, and other events, and can hardly believe that the departure has finally arrived! The car is dressed up and ready to go. We weren't lucky enough to land a vehicle sponsor, but we're nonetheless excited to show our beautiful blue berry Hyundai the beautiful American countryside.

Over the next few days we'll be stuffing the blueberry (our car) with essentials for the road. Here's a taste of what we're packing!

- Tent
- Sleeping bags
- Book, books, and more books!
- Jumper cables
- Sunscreen
- Vitamins (gotta stay healthy!)
- Hammock
- Drone (for aerial video)
- Parachute Art & Banner
- Hiking boots

ORGANIC FARMS

On our climate tour, we're making it a point to connect with people from all walks of life. To this end, we've reached out to farmers along Highway 90, up near South Dakota. This area is known as the "organic farm belt." We've already spoken with farmers in the area, who are excited to show us around and share their stories with us. Thus far, we've confirmed visits to a farm in South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, and Wisconsin! We're looking forward to learning first-hand how climate change is affecting farmers in the area. Click here to check back with our blog page for video interviews!

Shown above is the certificate that confirms our voyage to be carbon neutral. How exciting! This is thanks to the generous sponsorship by a carbon offset company called paleBLUEDot. We're so grateful!

Shahir just spoke (see above) at the International Indoor Air Pollution conference in Philadelphia this past week. It went great!
