MIDWAY

Community Development Corporation

Midway CDC is a non-profit community development organization that works with partners (like Greater Greenmount Community Association) for community change. Our strategic focus is on transformational community building and economic development projects in East Baltimore. We empower residents and restore neighborhoods through cleaning, greening, and building as we strive to create a community where all lives are valued, respected, and uplifted.

Our Initiatives

Blueprint for Community Transformation

North & 20th LOT TRANS FORMA TION

Current conditions of the site located between the 1100 block of E. North Ave & E 20th St. / 1900 block of Kennedy & Aisquith.

Concept design to envision development potential for the site. Created by Ren Southard, Baltimore City Department of Planning.

Dear Neighbors,

Whether you have just moved here or have lived in this community for decades, East Baltimore Midway is home; and your home matters. Good people and tranquil surroundings can make an ordinary place feel like a wonderful and welcoming oasis. Well, I'm sure many will agree that we could use a little help improving the look and the feel of our current surroundings - and Midway CDC is on a mission to help do that.

Together, we can turn unmaintained blighted lots into assets any neighborhood would be proud of. As part of the Blueprint for Community Transformation, Midway CDC is reclaiming and transforming vacant and abandoned land into beautiful community spaces (see images above).

We need you! Scan the QR code to sign up for updates and alerts for volunteer days, input and feedback sessions, design input surveys, and general community news. Let's revitalize East Baltimore Midway and build a thriving and prosperous community together!
